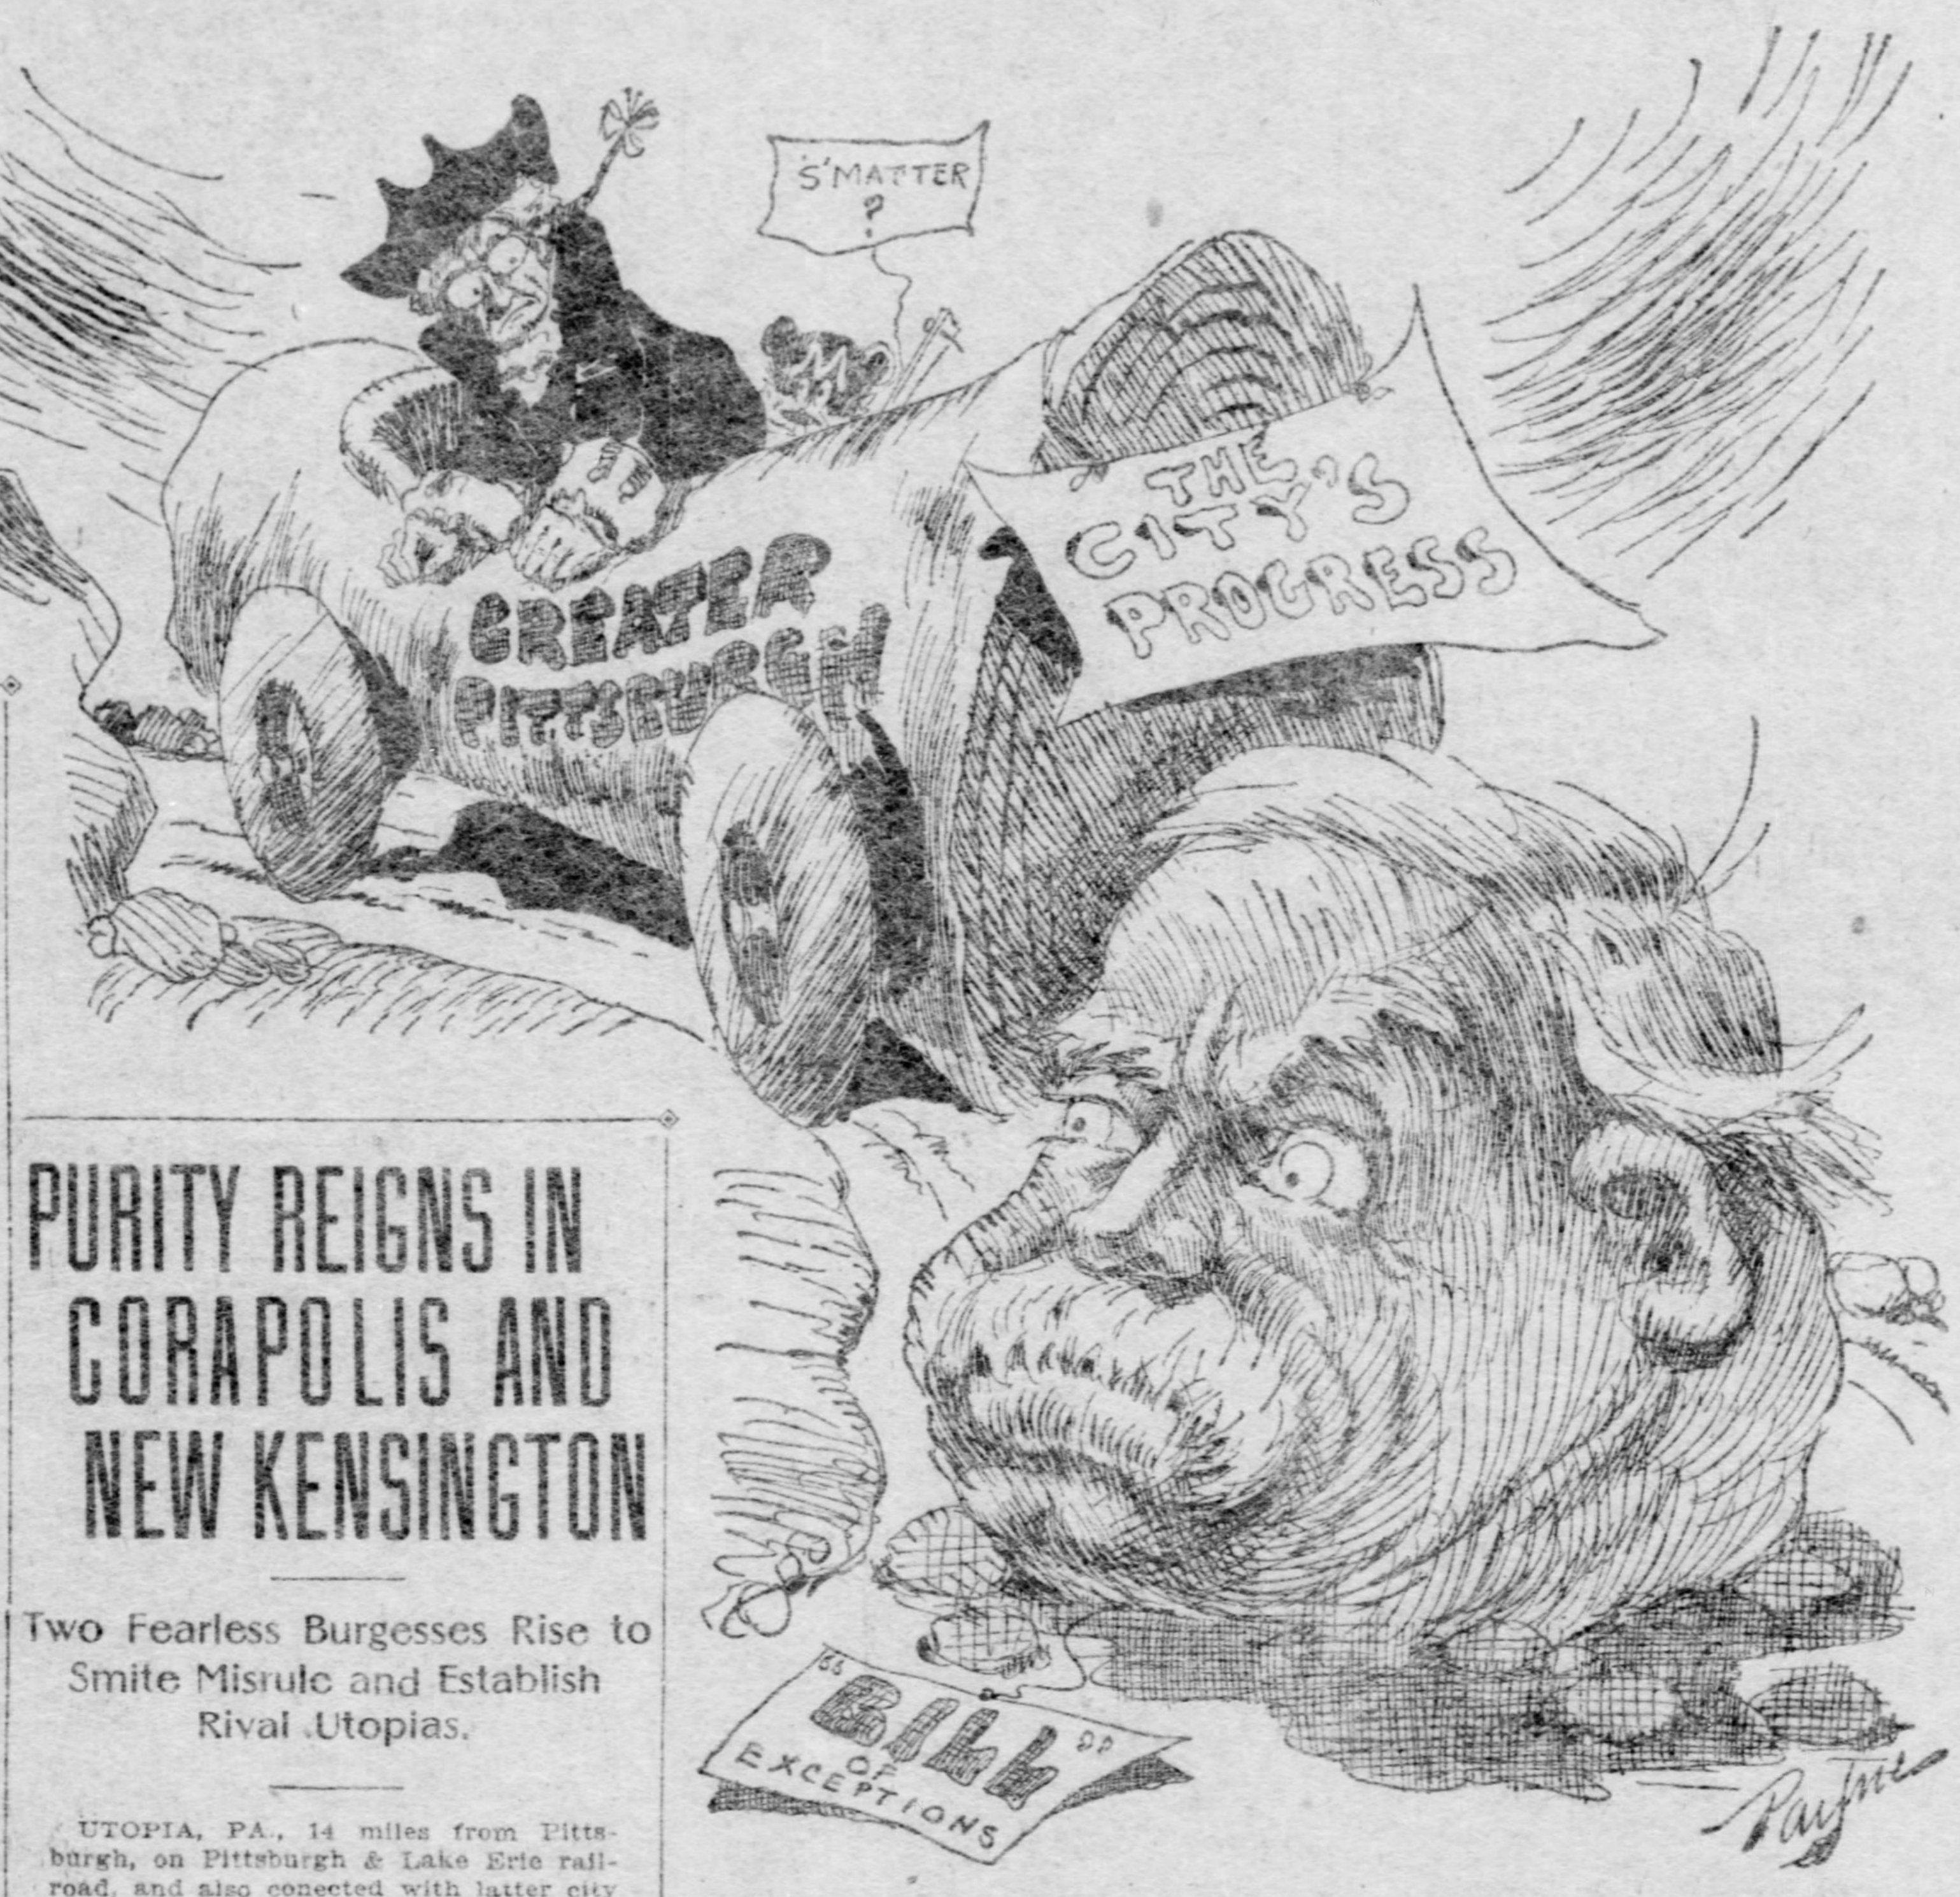
Always in the Way



PURITY REIGNS IN CORAPOLIS AND NEW KENSINGTON

Two Fearless Burgesses Rise to Smite Misrule and Establish Rival Utopias.

UTOPIA, PA., 14 miles from Pittsburgh, on Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, and also conected with latter city by trolley. (Formerly known as Coraopolis.)

This definition should find place in all well-regulated books of reference of future issue—for Coraopolis is being sterilized, and the lid has been welded down. But hush—the good news has only been half told.

New Kensington has also become so thoroughly reformed that her own friends don't recognize her. This borough has begun a startling reform movement by ordering the front door of the municipal building cleaned, and no one knows where the movement will stop.

Dr. E. M. Iland, the newly-elected burgess of Corapolis, has taken his municipal seat, and the seat is on the lid. After going through the preliminary of discharging the chief of police, the burgess issued an official edit ordering all grocery stores and butcher shops to remain closed on Sunday.

"Nothing can be sold on Sunday," announced the mayor, "and what is more, the streets will have to be kept clean! If the street commissioners don't tend to this they will not draw any salary."

Dr. Iland is assistant professor of medicine at the Western University of Pennsylvania and surgeon of the Eighteenth regiment. He receives no salary as burgess and proposes to reform the borough for the love of the thing.

Daniel Burns, the new burgess of New Kensington is no physician, but he is prescribing the same tonic for his borough. He has declared the lid must go on everything in town. All stores must close on Sunday and the delivery of ice, milk, and groceries must cease at 9:30 o'clock on the Sabbath day. He has officially declared that the borough is squandering money on the police force, which should be reduced to one man. The borough secretary and street commissioners get too much salary, he says, and declares that during his administration corporations can only secure franchises by cash payment to the borough and a liberal yearly tax. Gambling, disorderly houses, speakeasies and slot machines are on the black-list.

STUDIES ART OF SUICIDE.

Butcher Who Lost Fortune in Speculation Notifies Coroner and Then Opens Artery.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—On receipt of a letter informing him the writer intended to commit suicide, Coroner Acritelli this afternoon saved the life of Matthias Greif, an aged man, who made a fortune as a butcher and lost it in speculation. On the top floor in a squalid room a detective found Grief unconscious on his bed, with his right leg, of which one of the principal arteries had been severed, in a pail of water.

Grief said if millionaires could afford to commit suicide he could do the same. On the bed were hundreds of newspaper clippings, each relating to a case of suicide. Greif had also written a note to his wife, with whom he had not lived for several years, telling her to take his $365 insurance and buy a piano with it.

TO BUILD GREAT ORGAN.

Cathedral of St. John the Divine to Have Instrument Superior to Any in Country.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—The great cathedral of St. John the Divine is to have an organ that will cost $50,000. There is only one other in the world as powerful, and that is in Worcester cathedral, England. The man who built that organ, Robert Hope-Jones, and Ernest M. Skinner, builder of the splendid organs in Grace church, Manhattan, and Plymouth church, Brooklyn, will combine to construct the organ.

In building the organ Hope-Jones will use the method employed in the Worcester cathedral and discard Reed pipes. He uses springs, valves and cylinders and operates the organ by electricity.

POLICEMAN'S WIDOW DIED WITH BROKEN HEART

YORK, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—Mrs. Mary Ida Arndt, widow of Walter J. Arndt, a former sergeant of police, died at her home here today. Her death was caused by grief over the demise of her husband who died two weeks ago at exactly the same hour. Since then Mrs. Arndt had been grief-stricken, and her condition gradually grew worse until death ensued.

DON'T SHY IF YOU MEET A FARMER IN PINK ON THE PIKE

Tillers of Soil Will Be Guests Today of the Harkaway Hunt at McDonald.

If you meet a farmer coming down the McDonald pike today in a pink shirtwaist and wearing a dainty pair of riding boots, don't shy. If you see several of them, don't swear off. It will merely be a social duty that brings the man with the hoe out on parade—for they are guests of the Harkaway hunt.

The Harkaway Hunt of McDonald will break a rule today and the neighboring farmers will break into society. Heretofore hunt breakfasts and dinners have been very exclusive—for members only, and in dress that has been confined to pink, riding breeches and riding habits. Following the precedent of the ultra-English hunts, the farmers over whose lands the drag hunts and fox chases have been held are the invited guests, and 35 of the land workers are invited to dinner at the Harkaway Hunt today, and an equal number will be dined tomorrow.

Frank M. Lowry, M. F. H., extended the invitations and members of the club will all be present to shake a hearty welcome with the hands that till the soil. It isn't the first time members of the Harkaway Hunt and the farmers have met on common ground. Often has one engaged in animated conversation with the other after a pack of hounds had been driven through a young cornfield. But today they will break bread together and sign a truce of peace, and henceforth, when the Harkaway's dash through a field of wheat, the only dogs that will be used will be those of the huntsmen. Don't shy at the farmer in pink!

RUIN TODD'S HAT.

Youngsters Rendezvous at Lincoln Avenue Bridge and New "Skypiece" Makes Fine Target.

The hat was new and only a short time before had cost its owner, A. Todd of 804 Lincoln avenue, $5, in a leading East End haberdashery. He got off a Lincoln avenue car near his home last night and started to cross the foot bridge that is taking the place of the larger bridge in Lincoln avenue while repairs are being made on it. As he entered the bridge, cries of "Shoot the hat" awakened the night echoes, followed by a volley of snowballs and stones.

The fusillade caught Todd's new hat and the crown was cut from it. Todd went to No. 6 station house and Officers James Noon and George O'Neil were detailed on the case. Two young boys, Thomas Rainey of 6826 Elysian street, and Ed Burke of 201 Spencer street, were arrested.

Judge Imposes Maximum Penalty Because Prisoner Had Not Told the Truth.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—William O'Brien, a truck driver, convicted on a charge of highway robbery, was today sentenced to serve 10 years in Sing Sing at hard labor by Judge Foster, in the court of general sessions. "Because you lied to me I shall impose the maximum penalty for the offense for which you were tried and convicted. I shall do the same thing with anybody who attempts to lie or deceive the courts."

"Gee, I wish I'd pleaded guilty," said O'Brien, following his sentence.

The President offered to appoint Senator P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania to the vacancy, but he declined.

SCHWAB BETTER AND NO DANGER OF DEATH FEARED

Dr. W. R. Ward Telegraphs That Illness Was Slight and the Patient Is Much Better.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—Charles M. Schwab's illness has not been so serious as generally reported, according to the telegrams received here tonight. The following message, dated at Tucumcari, N. M., this evening from Dr. M. R. Ward, who is the attending physician, and brother-in-law of Mr. Schwab:

"Mr. Schwab somewhat indisposed in Los Angeles, but illness of slight significance. En route today feeling much better."

Mrs. Schwab this morning received a telegram from her husband, dated El Paso, in which he said that he had been ill, but was better.

At the offices of Mr. Schwab in this city, Mr. Schwab's secretary said a telegram received from Mr. Schwab yesterday made no mention of his illness.

EL PASO, TEX., March 7.—The correspondent of the El Paso Herald wires from Torrence, N. M., this afternoon at 2 o'clock that Charles M. Schwab was sitting up when the train passed there, and declares that he was "feeling fine." The railroad officials at the general offices here also report that there is no apparent alarm on the train as to Mr. Schwab's health.

TOPEKA, KAS., March 7.—The latest advice received at the office of the chief dispatcher of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad from Rock Island train No. 30, to which Charles M. Schwab's car is attached, is that at 7:15 o'clock tonight there was no change in Schwab's condition. The train was then on a stretch where stations are far apart.

HER LOVE TURNS TO HATE.

Aged Mother Who Supported Brutal Son Carried Into Court to Testify Against Him.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—"I don't want to die before I had prosecuted my son." These were the words of Mrs. Jane Thorburn, aged 82, when she was carried into Harlem police court today on a stretcher, attended by a doctor and nurse, to accuse her son, David, aged 42, of assault. Her face and body is bruised and her shoulder dislocated. Her condition is serious. On February 24 he knocked her down and beat and kicked her, she said, because she would not give him money.

Mrs. Thorburn for 15 years has supported her son, who would do no work, and lived on what he could secure, by threats or cajoleries, from his mother. Magistrate Wahle then held Thorburn in $1,000 bail for trial on the charge of assault. She said her love for him had turned to such hate that she risked her life to appear against him.

FIND MUMMIFIED INFANTS.

Workmen Renovating Old Building Discover Chests Containing Remains of Three Children.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—Mummified remains of three infants, a skull and many bones were discovered this afternoon by workmen renovating an old building formerly used as a distillery at 122 Lafayette street.

While tearing down an arched brick shelf on the top floor of the building, they uncovered three oaken chests. One of these chests contained the infant bodies, while the other two were filled with bones. The house was occupied two generations ago by a distiller named Ethan Howe.

Miss Anthony Improving.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 7.—Miss Anthony's condition continues to improve. Late tonight it was announced that she was slightly better than she had been during the day.

TO MEET COST BY NEW ISSUE OF ITS BONDS

Steel Corporation Plans Conservative Course in Erection of Plant.

E. H. GARY EXPLAINS

EARNINGS WILL PAY PART

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, March 7.

E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, in an interview today with The Gazette correspondent, gave interesting information in connection with the proposed construction of the immense steel plant in Indiana, on the south shore of Lake Michigan. Judge Gary stated, among other things, that the Steel Corporation will either issue its own bonds to the extent of $25,000,000 to $35,000,000, or guarantee the interest on a bond issue to that amount.

"It has not been definitely decided as to the means of financing the Indiana plant," said Judge Gary, but in a general way the finance committee has considered the most equitable manner to pay for the new construction. In many corporations the plan of issuing bonds direct against the property to pay the entire cost would be adopted, but the Steel Corporation has decided to adopt a more conservative course. As our statements have shown, there has been set aside already $10,000,000 for the construction of this plant. As the work progresses more funds will be required, and it is the concensus of opinion that it would not be to the best interests of all concerned to pay for the entire cost of the new plant out of earnings.

To Be Most Modern in World.

"In the next five years we expect that there will be $75,000,000 spent on the new plant, which will be the most modern in the world. Our estimates are that the total annual output will be 1,750,000 tons of finished steel. At present the total output of the Steel Corporation of finished steel amounts to about 8,000,000. It will be seen, therefore, the additional tonnage will add greatly to the total output of the Corporation.

"The management is looking to the future, and to take care of the great and enlarging markets of the west the construction of this plant was determined upon. There is little doubt but that the

EMBEZZLEMENT OF $20,000 CHARGED AGAINST HUGHES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WHEELING, W. Va., March 8.—Elwood Hughes, a pay-roll clerk in the employ of the Fairmont Coal Company, was arrested as he was about to board the 12:25 o'clock train for Fairmont, on a warrant charging him with the embezzlement of $20,000. It is alleged that his method was to manipulate the pay-roll, as he handled no money directly.

The peculations are said to cover a period of about 30 months, two years of which was spent at the Gypsy mine of the company. After his recent removal from Gypsy to a mine near Fairmont, the company made a systematic investigation.

Hughes is in jail and he will be taken to Fairmont in the morning.

WANTS MAN AND PIANO.

Bride in Mock Marriage Threatens to Sue to Get Groom for Husband.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 7.—(Special.)—Entered into in apparent jest, a mock mairrage, which was made one of the features of a social gathering here January 27, promises to become a source of trouble to at least one of the principals. Rebecca Shimiler, aged 50, who posed as the bride, demands that the obligation be carried out. Robert Currens, an iron worker, aged 29, who was the mock bridegroom, is not inclined to accept the ceremony as legal.

The man who simulated a clergyman made out a certificate in regular form and signed it the "Rev. B. G. D. Moore." It appears that besides being promised a husband if she went through the ceremony as a joke, the bride was promised a piano. She threatens to sue to enforce the carrying out of both compacts.

RICHMOND, VA., March 7.—(Special.)—Relatives of Mrs. Nettie Anne Lee discovered after her death today a fortune hidden between the mattresses and bedclothes and in her trunk. MORGAN BLAMED BECAUSE CHINA HATES YANKEES

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—J. Pierpont Morgan is the original cause of the Chinese boycott against American goods and citizens, according to the statement of Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Smith of China, a conspicuous figure in the missionary conference of the Congregational church in this city today. It was the sale of the Hang Kow railroad by Morgan and his associates to the Belgians, Dr. Smith says, that first roused a special animosity against the Americans which has been fostered and nourished by designing men, until the Americans are the most heartily disliked of all foreigners.

The Rev. Dr. Smith is considered an authority on all things relating to the Chinese. He has lived in that country for many years. The feeling in China against foreigners is widespread. The present manifestation of the feeling he attributed to the success of Japan in the war with Russia.

It was the victory of Japan which aroused the Chinese to a sense of their own power and gave them the thought that they too could successfully resist. If a small nation like Japan can defeat a great western power like Russia, what is to prevent us with our millions of men and our great resources from doing likewise, they say.

BOY MAD FOR SMOKE AND STEALS CIGARETS

Twelve-Year-Old George Sibert Goes to Jail Without Getting Even a Puff.

"I was mad for a smoke and that's the reason I stole those cigarets."

This was the statement of George Sibert, aged 12, when committed to jail last night by Alderman William Lang on a charge of stealing 20 packages of cigarets, made by Henry J. Gross. It is alleged the boy rushed into the store, snatched a box of cigarets and fled.

When told at the jail he could not use cigarets George cried. He was committed for juvenile court.

MAY LET ROCKEFELLER GO.

Attorney General Hadley Proposes to Get Three Other Witnesses Instead of John D.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—Search for John D. Rockefeller may be abandoned by the Missouri authorities, and wherever he is he may be relieved of the fear that every stranger may be a process server. Such a proposal has been made by Attorney General Hadley, but only on condition that three witnesses of importance to Missouri's case against the Standard Oil Company are produced.

H. M. Tilford, W. H. Tilford and W. M. Van Beuren are the men whose testimony Mr. Hadley demands as the price of abandoning the search for Mr. Rockefeller. The former two are supposed to be the men to whom dividends of the Standard's holdings in Waters-Pierce Oil Company stock are paid, and the last is believed to be the Standard's agent in connection with the Republic Oil Company.

WILL HONOR THE GRAVE OF LIBERTY BELL RINGER

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(Special.)—The Daughters of the American Revolution have decided that the grave of the man who rang the Liberty bell, when it announced to the world the signing of the Declaration of Independence, shall no longer remain without a fitting monument. MINISTERS OF FRANCE QUICKLY QUIT

ROUVIER DEFEATED

FALLIERIES MUST NOW ACT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, March 7.—Like a bolt from a clear sky the Rouvier ministry was defeated in the chamber of deputies tonight and immediately resigned.

The cabinet crisis comes at a most dramatic moment, when the Franco-German contest has reached a decisive stage, and may exert an important adverse influence on the Algeciras conference and on European affairs.

The defeat of the government was on a comparatively minor debate over the church disorders. The government succeeded in holding only 234 votes, while the various elements in opposition—clericals, socialists and nationalists—united and polled 267 votes, thus placing the ministry in a minority of 33.

Premier Rouvier, with all of his colleagues, immediately proceeded to the foreign office, where a joint letter of resignation was prepared. Later M. Rouvier presented this letter to President Fallieres, who accepted the resignations. The president announced his intention of consulting the presidents of the senate and chamber of deputies tomorrow relative to the formation of a new cabinet.

Debate Was on Bloody Riot.

The debate in the chamber of deputies was upon the bloody riot yesterday during the taking of an inventory of a church in the village of Boeschepe, resulting in the death of a manifestant.

Various orators severely criticized the government's course, asserting that it threatened to precipitate a religious warfare.

Premier Rouvier responded: "The government has the duty to apply the law. It will apply it without weakness, but also with the prudence, tact and wisdom consistent with public tranquility. I ask the adoption of a resolution approving these declarations of the government."

The resolution was thereupon put to a vote and defeated. The result was due to a combination of opposition influences. The vote was more expressive of personal

ALLEGHENY MAIDEN DOES NOT WANT TO BE KISSED

So She Screams and Policeman Kerr Arrests Her Ardent Wooer After Hard Chase.

The screams of a maiden in distress, and two women witnessing her predicament, attracted Policeman John Kerr last evening to the vicinity of the High school in Sherman avenue, Allegheny. A man had the girl pinioned against a tree box and was trying to kiss her, while the maid in a shrill voice gave expression to her disapproval. The two women standing close by joined in the vocal chorus, crying, "Police." Kerr was in Montgomery avenue and came around the corner under 10 seconds, expecting to arrive in time to prevent a terrible murder.

A sight of the buttons and blue uniform cooled the ardor of the man with the loving disposition, and he took to his heels across West park. Then Officer Kerr displayed his fleetness, and after 100 yards of fast going threw the fugitive in the grass.

In the meantime the frightened girl and the sympathetic women disappeared and the police have no idea who they were. At Central station the man said he was M. C. Schaffer, a machinist of Ward street, Allegheny. He pleaded drunkenness in extenuation of his amatory propensities.

THROW DICE FOR GIRL.

Rivals for Pretty Stenographer's Affection's Employ Unique Method to Settle Matter.

OMAHA, NEB., March 7.—(Special.)—A game of dice last night settled a rivalry of long standing for the heart and affections of Miss Lulu Baker, a stenographer. The gamesters were Jules Althaus of Omaha and Jack Mitchell of Council Bluffs, both well-known young business men. Miss Baker stood by and encouraged them.

For several years the two men have been rivals. Yesterday they decided to shoot dice, the loser to drop out of the race. After each had won a game Mitchell threw four sixes. Althaus threw a nondescript hand. He shook hands with Mitchell and the girl, and walked away, saying he would never call on her again.

Shoots Man He Hated for Eight Years.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 7.—(Special.)—Nursing revenge for eight long years against Lewis Sicelian, who, he claims, introduced him to a woman who blighted his life, Levi Allera, of 833 Christian street, laid in wait today and sent three bullets tearing through Sicelain's body.

To Build Church to Cost $1,000,000.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—Not less than $1,000,000 and perhaps much more than that sum is to be the cost of the new St. Thomas church, which is to erected on the site of the one destroyed by fire last June, according to the Rev. Dr. E. M. Stires in a recent statement to his congregation.

GREATER PITTSBURGH LAW IS ASSAILED IN COURT

ATTACK IS MADE ON GREATER CITY

STONE FILES EXCEPTIONS

The Allegheny opponents of Greater Pittsburgh have seized upon the McKeesport amendment as the principal point of attack on the constitutionality of the Watson-Guthrie law. This was disclosed yesterday when former Gov. Stone, acting for the Allegheny opposition, appeared in the court and presented a bill of exceptions to the petition filed by the city of Pittsburgh.

Judge McClung gave notice he would fix a time this morning for arguments to be heard. The bill of exceptions is signed by Herman W. Hechelman, physician; Robert K. Cochrane, contractor; Christ N. Kaur, coal dealer; David Hunter, business man, and John A. Sauer, plumber.

The supreme court of the state in declaring the Cook Greater Pittsburgh bill unconstitutional, based its decision on the fact that it was local or special legislation. The bills filed yesterday by the anti-annexationists makes the same claim on somewhat different grounds. The Allegheny objectors saw the Watson-Guthrie bill was rendered unconstitutional and made special or local legislation by inserting the McKeesport amendment, which provides for the consolidation of contiguous cities with any intervening land, "other than boroughs."

Does Not Apply to McKeesport.

They contend the amendment excludes Pittsburgh and McKeesport from consolidating and makes Pittsburgh and Allegheny the only two cities in the state contiguous or in close proximity to each other. In the bill of exceptions it states that the nearest distance in a direct line separating any other two cities in the state is the five miles separating Pittsburgh and McKeesport, between which there are several boroughs, so that there could be no annexation of Pittsburgh and McKeesport without including boroughs, unless by an abnormal shoestring consolidation not contemplated by the act of assembly under which the petition was filed.

The Greater Pittsburgh bill is also attacked on the grounds that it did not comply with the proclamation of the governor in calling the special session of the legislature. The first call by the governor directed the legislature to enact a law for the consolidation of cities "in the same county." The wording of that call, under the supreme court's decision on the Cook bill, was plainly unconstitutional and the governor issued a supplemental call. The supplemental call did not provide for the exclusion of intervening boroughs in consolidating cities.

Benefits Received by Alleghenians.

It is claimed Pittsburgh is largely in debt and is contemplating great expenditures of money in cutting down the Fifth avenue "hump," the construction of a great filtration system, for the purchase of the Monongahela Water Company's plant, the construction of an electric light plant, and further expenditures are contemplated to acquire property and advantages which the citizens of Allegheny now enjoy, but which the citizens of Pittsburgh do not.

Annexation is objected to for the reason that the petition includes the boroughs of Elliott and Espien, and Sterrett township, which have been declared to be part of Pittsburgh under the provisions of the Goehring law of 1903, which it is alleged, was done in violation of the state constitution.

It is asserted that the Watson-Guthrie law conflicts with the Constitution of the United States in that it impairs the obligations of the contract between the city of Allegheny and its citizens.

P. R. R.'S PLANS FOR BONDS.

Future Issue to Provide for Adequate Water Supply on the Main Line.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—It was admitted today by Pennsylvania railroad interests that the company is about to issue $10,000,000 in car trusts, contracts having been let covering the addition of 20,000 cars to the freight equipment of the system, under the usual car trust arrangements.

The company has also made plans to sell at some future date $15,000,000 in serial bonds to finance the construction of an adequate water supply on a portion of the main line. These bonds will not be issued for the present, owing to the dullness in the bond market.

CHAUFFEUR'S MIND IS UNBALANCED BY OVERWORK

E. L. Thomas, the chauffeur who became demented yesterday in East End, was removed to Marshalsea. Thomas is 29 years old and lived with his wife at 1234 Lancaster avenue. He has been working on some inventions for automobile appliances and it is said his trouble was caused by overwork. Yesterday morning Thomas' wife went to the Frankstown avenue station and asked that her husband be placed in custody, as he was out of his mind. Special Officers Corbett and Wessell took him to the station house. Later he was examined by city physicians and pronounced insane.

PRINCESS ENA HAPPY IN CATHOLIC CHURCH

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1906, by New York Herald Co.)

SAN SEBASTIAN, SPAIN, March 7.—Princess Ena of Battenburg was received into the Catholic church in the royal palace of Miramar today in the presence of Princess Henry of Battenburg, mother of Princess Ena; Queen Maria Christina, King Alfonso, the Infantas Teresa and Isabella, the Infante Fernando, the ladies of the court and the civil and military household of the king.

The Rt. Rev. Robert Brindle, bishop of Nottingham, England, officiated at her baptism, assisted by the bishops of Sion and Vitoria. Senor Moret, premier of Spain, and the duke of Alba were witnesses for the princess. Immediately after the baptism Princess Ena received the sacrament of confirmation, during which a te deum was sung. Princess Ena will make her first communion tomorrow.

After the ceremony Bishop Brindle gave to King Alfonso an autograph letter from the pope, and the king, the queen mother and Princess Ena sent dispatches to the holy father thanking him for his letter and his efforts in their behalf. Princess Ena expressed herself as very happy at her conversion, declaring that she experienced veritable faith and submission to Catholic doctrines.

Beautiful gifts were then presented to the princess. King Alfonso gave her a gold bracelet with a large sapphire, and an enameled medallion; Queen Christina, a prayer book, ornamented with precious stones, and the Infanta Isabella, an artistic religious medal.

MORE MONEY REMITTED FOR BEREAVED MRS. HAZA

M. G. Russell of Connellsville Sends $5 to Woman Who Lost Her Husband—Affairs Not Settled.

Although no appeal for help was made for Mrs. Mary Haza, whose husband was killed at Bear Run, on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, at about the same time that his wife got a letter from him saying he had found work, some benevolent persons have sent her money. The Gazette handed to Mrs. Haza the other day $5 which was sent by Mrs. W. A. Stone of Hopwood. Yesterday The Gazette received $5 from M. G. Russell of Connellsville. Mr. Russell writes that he has read of Mrs. Haza's misfortunes and thinks her story is pitiful and that she is deserving of help.

Mrs. Haza was deeply grateful when Mr. Russell's $5 was handed to her. She is living with the Petrowski family at 1111 Frederick street, South Side, and cannot secure employment until provision has been made for taking care of her children.

MYSTERY, PERHAPS MURDER.

Ethel A. Brown's Corpse Found in Paris Leads to Inquiry in America for Her Family.

PARIS, March 7.—The prefecture of police has requested the American authorities to assist in unravelling the mysterious death of Ethel A. Brown, believed to be an American, whose body was found recently in the river Seine. It appeared to be that of a woman of means, elegantly dressed. The underclothes were embroidered with the name "Ethel A Brown." No money and no papers were found on the body and there was a deep wound five inches long across the scalp.

The first clue to the identity of the woman was the following entry made in 1903 on the police records of foreigners visiting Paris:

"Ettie Brown, American, born at Fayetteville, November 21, 1872; father, John; mother, Sally Geachy."

Inquiries by the Associated Press at the Fayetteville in the various states of the union failed to give any trace of a person named Ethel A. Brown who might have been in France at this time.

DISCUSS ELECTION LAWS.

Ballot Reform Conference Refers Primary System to Civic Federation and Adjourns.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The national conference for the reform of the primary and election laws, held here under the auspices of the national civic federation, concluded its sessions today and tonight the delegates were entertained at dinner at the City club.

The conference today discussed the election laws of many states. The resolution creating a permanent department of the national civic federation, to take jurisdiction of the subject which the conference was called to consider, was introduced by Josiah Quincy of Boston. All the members of the conference are to become members of the new department. The conference declined to adopt a resolution declaring for direct nominations through the primary system, referring the mater by a vote of 16 to 11 to the department of the civic federation.

REFERENDUM RESOLUTION.

Ohio Senator Adopts Resolution Providing for Constitutional Amendment.

COLUMBUS, O., March 7.—The senate this afternoon by a vote of 23 to 13, adopted a resolution by Senator Howe of Cleveland providing for the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment permitting the people to initiate and to vote by referendum on legislation. To initiate a law, petitions for the same must be signed by at least 5 per cent of the voters of the state.

No law enacted by the general assembly, except emergency measures, shall become effective under the proposed amendment until 60 days after its passage, during which period the same may be submitted to a vote of the people, and an adverse majority shall act as a veto. The resolution goes to the house.

ECHO OF SPRINGFIELD RIOTS.

City Officials Suspended for Taking and Giving Bonds in Violation of Orders.

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 7.—The suspension tonight of Michael M. Duffy, superintendent of the city's fire alarm system, and of Police Sergeant Joseph Creager, is one of the sequels of the recent riots. Friday, when the Palmer house bar was raided Duffy was caught at the bar, but was allowed by the policeman to go after Sergt. Creager had accepted $50 cash bail from him in violation of the order of Police Chief O'Brien, requiring the giving of bond.

Charles Snyder, who was caught in the raid, filed the charges because the police would not take cash bail from him.

Sweet Odors Worry Students.

Appetizing odors, which permeate the Fifth avenue High school, caused the students to allow their minds to wander away from their studies to such an extent that an order has been issued that all windows be closed during school sessions. The odors come from a six-story bakery recently erected in the rear of the school.

HUNTS THE DEVIL; SHOOTS AT WOMEN

HE FEARS UNSEEN FOE

"I wasn't shooting at any person," said Frank Fisher in plaintive, broken German last night, while in the custody of the county detectives, after terrorizing the little mining hamlet of Rodi, five miles back of Wilkinsburg. "I wans't trying to his any one; I was just trying to kill the devil, who has been after me for the last two weeks," and he smiled in a rather awkwardly at his questioners. "I only shot at the devil and pointed my revolver at the ground, for although I couldn't see him, I felt his presence. I didn't shoot at the woman who came into my yard for water."

Fisher seemed to be quiet and rather self-possessed after his battle with his unseen foe. According to County Detectives George B. Murren and John W. Reed, Fisher broke loose about 5:30 o'clock in the evening, appearing suddenly in the yard surrounding his home and shooting wildly. Two Italian women living nearby were in the yard, having gone to his well for a pail of water, and they were frightened nearly to death at the shooting and the man's wild actions.

Rodi is only a handful of houses, a little farming settlement near the mines of the Pittsburgh Gas and Coal Company, and the shooting scared the inhabitants so badly that when the county detectives arrived there about 9 o'clock last night, they found everything dark. Knocks at the doors of the houses brought no response at first, and they had trouble in finding some one to direct them to Fisher's home. They finally found it, however. When they arrived, the house was dark and the front door locked. They could hear some one singing within, and in response to the knock Fisher asked them what they wanted. They said they were lost, but still he refused to let them in. Then they said their rig was broken, and asked for a piece of rope to fix it. Fisher opened the door at this, and as he did so, the detectives "rushed" him and slipped the handcuffs over his wrists. When searched a 32-caliber revolver, loaded and ready for action, was found in his possession, but he made no further resistance. He accompanied them quietly on the trip to the county jail. An information for felonious shooting will be lodged against him today and he will be given a hearing before Alderman Toole, probably tomorrow.

Fisher is about 43 and is evidently deranged. Three years ago his wife left him, he says, taking with her his four children, the eldest of whom is about 12. It is thought that worry over this is the cause of his mental troubles, as he gave no evidence of being a drinking man. He was released from the county jail last Thursday after serving a 10-day sentence, his arrest having taken place at Homewood on election day. Fisher says the charge against him was intoxication, but he had not been drinking. He is a former resident of Wilkinsburg, having had a small truck farm near that place.

FORMER PITTSBURGHER NOW CHIEF CARMELITE

Father Pius Mayer, for Years Prior at Holy Trinity Church, Will Arrive in New York Today.

Father Pius Mayer, formerly prior of the Carmelite convent and pastor of the Holy Trinity church at Fulton street and Center avenue and for two years superior-general of the Carmelite Fathers, will arrive in New York today on the steamship Sicilian from Naples.

Father Ambrose Bruder, provincial of the order in the United States, who is stationed at the Holy Trinity house of the order, is in New York to meet Father Mayer. Father Ambrose had expected the steamer would arrive yesterday. Among other prominent Carmelite dignitaries who will greet Father Mayer is Father Best, prior of the Carmelite hospice at Niagara Falls, Ont.

Father Mayer was prior of the Carmelite house attached to Holy Trinity church from 1883 to the early 90s. He was born in Germany, but is an American citizen, the first citizen of this country to be made head of one of the famous orders.

FREIGHT RATES LOWER.

Propositions for Reductions Meet With Favor from Western Railroads.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Western railroads, the Record-Herald tomorrow will say, have decided to make voluntary reductions in transportation charges amounting in the aggregate to many million dollars annually. The proposed reductions are to be made in all the rates of the six classes into which freight is divided and will be effective in the entire territory between the Atlantic seaboard and the Missouri river. In general, the reductions will amount to approximately 15 per cent.

The first step was taken in the movement today at a meeting of the traffic executive officers of all western railroads. The representative of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road presented the proposal, which was favored by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad.

Another conference has been called for next Tuesday, at which will be present all of the important jobbers in the Missouri river territory.

CATCH "BLINKEY" ROBINSON.

Man Wanted for Highway Robbery Returns to the City.

Special Policemen Freeborn and Beebe last night arrested William McClintock, alias "Blinkey" Robinson, at South Thirty-fourth and Carson streets, as a suspicious person. It is believed he is one of the men who held up and robbed John Kline of Munhall, near Hays station, in July, 1904. Kline was robbed of $175 and a gold watch. David Hopkins, one of the men implicated, was arrested and served six months.

McClintock returned to Pittsburgh only a few days ago. A true bill was found against him by the grand jury on a charge of high-way robbery. He will be taken before Justice Giles of Homestead this morning.

POLICE ARREST A YOUTH FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERY

William Fitzpatrick, aged 17, was arrested in Diamond street last night and locked in Central station as a suspicious person. He will be turned over to the Allegheny police today. He is wanted in connection with the robbery of $500 from Martin Haney, an aged man who carries baskets in the North Side market house. On the night of February 18 Haney was set upon by three youths who took the money from the lining of his clothes. The fathers of two of the boys made up the amount stolen, and returned it to Haney. Fitzpatrick, it is alleged, was one of the trio and kept all the money but $75, which he gave to his companions. When arrested last night he was penniless.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY SPEED REMOVED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, March 7.—President Roosevelt today removed from office Horace Speed, United States district attorney for Oklahoma, as a result of charges preferred against him that he had entered into a contract with a county commissioner to render legal service and paid improperly to that commissioner certain sums of money in connection with that employment. The charges were investigated by the department of justice and the President's action follows the report on that investigation.

MINISTERS OF FRANCE QUICKLY ACT

antagonism to the ministry than of opposition to church inventories.

Having returned from presenting to President Fallieres the resignation of the ministry, M. Rouvier was surrounded in the lobbies of the chamber of deputies by groups of members who expressed their regret at his abandonment of office. M. Rouvier displayed not the slightest emotion. Replying to one of his followers he remarked:

"I regarded it as a point of honor to fulfill the task I had undertaken. The chamber's vote has relieved me of a burden the weight of which had began to make itself felt. I do not regret it."

Quick Finish Preferred.

Responding to the declaration of another deputy that he might have carried opinion with him, M. Rouvier said:

"I should have received 350 votes had I declared for more vigorous action, but the sentiment of the chamber was against the cabinet remaining in office until the election, and the struggle would have begun again tomorrow. It was better to finish immediately."

The meeting of the members of the cabinet at the foreign office lasted half an hour. After exchanging views with reference to church inventories it was decided to suspend operations in that regard until a new cabinet has been appointed. The decision resulted from a disparity of the opinions expressed in the chamber of deputies relative to the methods of carrying out the law providing for the separation of church and state.

Had the chamber voted a motion of confidence in the government, the cabinet would have been compelled to continue to apply the law, but the downfall of the ministry having clearly occurred through disapproval of the methods, hitherto adopted, which, on the one side were considered as too violent and on the other side as too indulgent, M. Rouvier and his colleaugues thought it better to discontinue the enforcement of the law. The promulgation of regulations, however, will occur in the ordinary course, as specific dates therefor are laid down in the bill.

Ministers Who Resigned.

The cabinet of M. Rouvier was formed November 12, 1905, when M. Loubet was president of the republic. When M. Fallieres was inaugurated last month the cabinet formally tendered its resignation, but at the request of the new president it remained in office. It is constituted as follows: Premier and foreign minister, M. Rouvier; minister of the interior, M. Dubief; minister of war, M. Etienne; minister of marine, M. Thomson; minister of commerce, M. Trouillot; minister of finance, M. Nerlou; minister of justice, M. Chaumie; minister of the colonies, M. Clementai; minister of public works, Armant Gauthier; minister of public instruction, Bievenue Martin; minister of agriculture, M. Raurau.

EFFECT ON ALGECIRAS REMAINS PROBLEMATICAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, March 7.—Prior to the cabinet crisis the Franco-German controversy over Moroccan control seemed to be in the balance with the inclination strongly toward an agreement. All depended upon Berlin's last word. If this was a frank concession of a Franco-Spanish police without impossible conditions, then agreement was assured; but if the concession involved further conditions France, whose pride was already much aroused, was prepared to reject it. The foreign office today stated the situation as follows:

"The reported German concession has not been communicated to us and we are therefore unable definitely to state what action may be taken thereon. One thing, however, can be stated with absolute positiveness, namely: If the German concession on the police question is conditioned upon international supervision, it will not be accepted."

This statement preceded the cabinet crisis. After that event no one was able to indicate the course of the government.

In the lobbies of the chamber of deputies the question became the subject of lively discussion. Much curiosity was expressed concerning the effect M. Rouvier's retirement will produce. Before M. Rouvier had made known his intentions of resigning, however, he remarked to one of his parliamentary supporters:

"Regarding Algerciras, I hope to leave my successor a better situation than that which I found."

It is generally believed that M. Rouvier, until his successor is appointed, will continue to carry on the same policy he has hitherto adopted, which has received the approval of the chamber of deputies on several occasions. The instructions already given to M. Revoil remain valid, as it is thought internal politics should not be permitted to interfere with France's foreign policy, and M. Rouvier desires to leave the future foreign minister entire liberty of action should complications arise at Algeciras.

GERMANS FEAR RETURN OF DELCASSE AS PREMIER

Believed in Berlin That This Would Interfere With Harmonious Outcome of Moroccan Conference.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, March 7.—The fall of M. Rouvier, the French premier, awakens certain misgivings here lest it should lead to a resumption of the foreign policy of M. Delcasse. It is pointed out that the majority against M. Rouvier was composed chiefly of Nationalists who denounced as treasonable the attitude of the element whose apposition to M. Delcasse led to his resignation. Much curosity and some anxiety is indulged in respecting the effect of a change in the government on the Algeciras conference, and it is feared that fresh complications will follow or that at least there will be a period of uncertainty and delay in the proceedings.

Foreign Minister Delcasse resigned June 7 last. In submitting his resignation he said that he recognized that difference of view had arisen between himself and colleagues relatives to the execution of the foreign policy of France, particularly concerning the direction of the negotiations with Morocco. Therefore, he believed it to be desirable in the interest of the ministry and the country to place his resignation in the hands of the president.

HARMONY AT ALGECIRAS.

Agreement Regarding Plans for Morocco Seems Probable and Conciliation Is in the Air.

ALGECIRAS, SPAIN, March 7.—The French police project was distributed late this evening among the delegates to the conference on Moroccan reform. The proposition, which will be presented to the conference tomorrow, consists of five paragraphs. The substance of these is as follows: The Moroccan police to be constituted for three years, composed of Moorish Mussulmans, commanded by 16 French and Spanish officers and 32 noncommissioned officers, the force to consist of 2,000 men distributed among the eight ports in bodies of from 200 to 500, the state bank to advance funds for the administration and payment of the force.

No mention is made of international supervision. Reports relative to the probability of an agreement are circulated on all sides. Conciliation seemingly is in the air. Should the conference proceed to a vote on the rival schemes, it is understood the American delegates will abstain from voting and not even offer an opinion.

Servian Cabinet Resigns.

BELGRADE, SERVIA, March 7.—The Stojanovich cabinet has tendered its resignation to the king, giving as the reason for so doing, that the ministers cannot accept Austria's proposals for the conclusion of a politico-commercial agreement with Servia.

ILLINOIS OPERATORS TO FIGHT THE MINERS

Decide to Make No Concessions and Declare They Are Willing to Face Strike.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, March 7.—No concessions will be made by the Illinois Coal Operators' association to the United Mine Workers of America. This was decided on today at an executive meeting of the operators, who adopted resolutions declaring their willingness to face the threatened strike April 1, rather than grant the demands of the miners. The meeting was called to consider a call for a joint meeting of operators and miners at Indianapolis, March 15, to make a second attempt to formulate a new scale of wages and conditions of labor.

ALTOONA, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—The Central Pennsylvania bituminous district operators, will demand a reduction in wages at the conference to be held with the miners at Clearfield, March 20, according to a statement made by a prominent operator who has extensive interests in the district. Prolonged negotiations were conducted before an agreement was effected at the conference last March. The operators insisted on the concession on the ground that they could not compete with the operators of western Maryland and West Virginia, where non-union men are employed.

SHAMOKIN, PA., March 7.—Officers of the United Mine Workers' local branches in the Ninth district were advised in secret session here this evening by special representatives from New York of negotiations to date between the coal companies and the miners' special committee. The officers were instructed to inform the rank and file of the situation and instruct delegates to the Indianapolis convention to learn the sentiment of all the miners they could before leaving for the convention.

Movement for New Party.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(Special.)—Wharton Barker has started a movement to organize a new party in this state which shall be known as the "Commonwealth." He declares that it is obvious that the recent elections opened a new era in national politics, especially in this state. He is of the opinion that the fact that 330,000 voters cast aside their allegiance to the Republican party last November proves that the people are ripe for a change.

FACES DEATH IN MINE, IS KILLED BY STONE

Tragedy at East Pittsburgh Recalls Awful Experiences of Two Men in Shaft.

The unknown Hungarian, killed on the Pennsylvania railroad at East Pittsburgh yesterday by a stone falling on him, is supposed to be Wasil Leszik, who was once entombed in the Jeanesville mine, near Hazelton, for 21 days without food or drink. An effort will be made today to positively establish his identity.

About 15 years ago there was an accident in the Jeanesville mine, caused by water from an old working rushing into the mine where the men were working. Nineteen miners perished. Leszik and Joseph Matuskiwiz were working in another chamber, the air in which prevented the water from reaching them. The water rose 50 feet on each side of them, but did not get into the chamber in which they were entombed. When rescued both men were raving mad from thirst and hunger. Leszik was a physical wreck for a year after the accident. He is said to have come here to see his son.

Patrick Kerney, a brakeman of the Union railroad, was crushed between two cars and instantly killed yesterday evening. Kerney was coupling two strings of cars when they were struck by a shifter, catching him between the two sections. He was born in England and had lived here for 26 years, residing at 229 Braddock avenue, Rankin. He was a member of the St. Brenden Roman Catholic church.

William Captain, a negro, died suddenly at 7 o'clock last evening at his home, 155 Fulton street, presumably from heart disease. He was a cook, aged 63.

TO MEET COST WITH BONDS

entire coast, which, it is estimated, will be about $75,000,000, could be defrayed out of earnings, as the expenses will be divided over a period of five years.

"I think, however, I am expressing the concensus of opinion of the board when I say that a bond issue will be determined upon and that the proceeds of the bonds will go in part to pay for the new plant."

Judge Gary said, among other things, that the output of the Steel Corporation of unfinished material annually now amounted to 13,000,000 tons. The Corporation also produces annually 10,500,000 tons of pig iron.

Will Sell $35,000,000 Bonds.

Reports were current today that the United States Steel Corporation proposes to issue immediately $30,000,000 of bonds. From Judge Gary's explanation it appears that no issue will be brought out immediately, but that in order to assist in paying for the new work bonds not exceeding $35,000,000 will be sold.

In this connection, when Judge Gary's attention was called to the belief that the sinking fund 5 per cent bonds in the treasury of the company, amounting to $30,000,000, could not be sold for less than par, he replied that such a statement was erroneous.

"We can sell the 5 per cent bonds held in the treasury at whatever price the company deems satisfactory," was his statement.

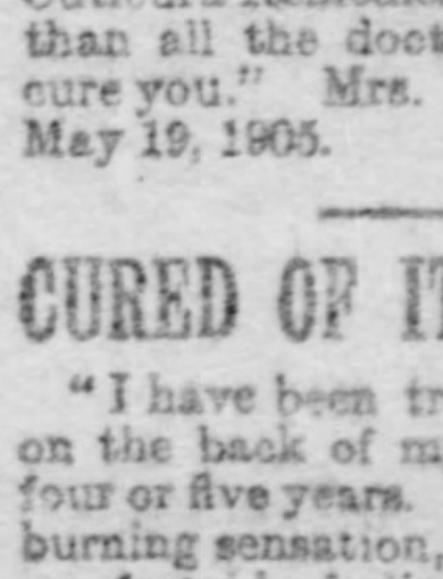
HANDS RAW WITH TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered for Ten Years—Spreading to Body and Limbs Despite Efforts of Three Doctors—Another Remarkable and Speedy

CURE BY THE CUTICURA REMEDIES



"I had eczema on my hands for ten years. At first it would break out only in winter. Then it finally came to stay. I had three good doctors to do all they could, but none of them did any good. I then used one box of Cuticura Ointment and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent and was completely cured. My hands were raw all over, inside and out, and the eczema was spreading all over my body and limbs. Before I had used one bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, together with the Ointment, my sores were nearly healed over, and by the time I had used the third bottle, I was entirely well. I had a good appetite and was fleshier than I ever was. To any one who has any skin or blood disease I would honestly advise them to get the Cuticura Remedies and get well quicker than all the doctors in the State can cure you." Mrs. M. E. Falin,

CURED OF ITCHING HUMOR

"I have been troubled with a humor on the back of my neck and head for four or five years. It had an itching and burning sensation, and was a very uncomfortable feeling. I have used the Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent Pills three months, and can say I am completely cured." Respectfully,
Mrs. H. D. Ludlam,

MAYOR TALKS OF HIS SUCCESSOR

Thinks Guthrie Has Made No Promises and Republicans Will Control Select.

SAYS BURNS WILL BE BEATEN

"The Republicans and the old administration members will control the organization of the new select council," said Mayor Hays yesterday, in giving his views concerning the new councils and administration.

"Who will be elected president of select council?" the mayor was asked.

"I don't know, but I do know that Dr. Burns will not be elected. He is a crank," was the mayor's reply. "Dr. Walters can beat Dr. Burns, but I do not know what might happen if there should be a third candidate."

The mayor said he was interested in only one candidate for city clerk, and that was John E. Gable. Changing the subject to the Guthrie administration, the mayor said:

"I don't believe any person knows whom Mr. Guthrie will appoint at the head of the departments. Director Clark was at Atlantic City for a week when Mr. Guthrie was there, and I don't believe even he knows whether he will be appointed, but I believe Clark will hold his present job as director of the department of charities."

Dont Like Military Men.

"Do you think Mr. Guthrie will appoint a military man as director of public safety?"

"Military man, h—l!" exclaimed the mayor, with an air of deep disgust. "Outsiders are rank failures in such positions. In both Philadelphia and Chicago outsiders who were appointed directors of the city departments have resigned." By "outsiders" the mayor means men who are not practical politicians.

The mayor said the fees of the delinquent tax office would give the collector a clear profit of $10,000 or $12,000 a year with the fees reduced from 3 to 2 per cent, as provided in an ordinance passed by common council Tuesday night.

"Even with the reduction of the fees, I would rather be delinquent tax collector than mayor of Pittsburgh," he said. "The delinquent tax collector gets as good pay as the mayor, and has little work to do."

"Are you a candidate for the position under Mr. Guthrie?"

"No. I am not a candidate."

Mayor Hays said he believed William J. Brennen, chairman of the Democratic city committee, should be given the privilege of selecting a large number of Mr. Guthrie's appointees. Chairman Brennen has declared that he intends to try to induce Mr. Guthrie to discharge a large number of Republicans appointed under the Hays administration. Mr. Brennen says he will do this to retaliate for the discharge of Democrats in the court house.

Clark and Brennen Conflict.

While the Democratic city chairman is announcing his intention of having Republicans fired by the wholesale, Director James W. Clark, who is trying to organize the new councils with promises of patronage under the new administration, assures Republican councilmen if they will "go along" with him they can get men on the city payroll.

The mayor's statement and the statements of Civic party leaders, show that promises of patronage from Director Clark to members-elect of councils are made without any authority from Mr. Guthrie. In fact, it is claimed by Guthrie men, that Director Clark's game is to organize select council in his own interest. By controlling select council, Clark expects to force his own appointment as director of public safety.

Director Clark's friends say he greatly prefers the directorship of the public safety department to being collector of delinquent taxes, although the latter job is much less irksome and the pay will be more than double the salary of director, even with the fees reduced under the ordinance pending in councils.

A. Leo Weil, one of the attorneys of the Voters' Civic league, is being persistently mentioned as the possible appointee for city solicitor. Mr. Weil was associated with Mr. Guthrie in the Grant boulevard suit.

John J. Burke, brother of Congressman Burke, is said to be a candidate for the Republican caucus nomination for city clerk. He is said to have consulted party leaders, but has not made a canvass among the councilmen.

MAYOR HAYS IS TARDY IN KEEPING A PLEDGE

City Executive Announces He Will Sign Ordinance Reducing Fees of Delinquent Tax Collector.

"If councils want the law I will not veto it," said Mayor Hays yesterday, when asked if he would sign the ordinance reducing the fees of the delinquent tax collector from 3 to 2 per cent.

One of the pledges Mayor Hays gave when a candidate for his present position was that he would reduce the compensation of the delinquent tax office, but the mayor used every effort during his term to frustrate attempts to cut down the fees of Tax Collector Andrew Fulton. Just as he is ready to retire from office, when the delinquent tax office is to be filled by his successor, the mayor announces that he is willing to cut down the fees.

CASTLE'S BEE IS BUZZING.

Wants Prohibitionist Nomination for Governor, Expecting Indorsement of Some Other Parties.

The Prohibitionists are so well satisfied with their recent successful effort to mix oil and water in supporting State Treasurer-elect Berry, the Democratic candidate, that they believe the Democrats will be willing to help elect a Prohibitionist governor. D. K. McCalmont of Franklin, state chairman of the Prohibition party, has been in Pittsburgh conferring with local men in an effort to fructify Homer L. Castle's ambition to be governor of the state.

Mr. Castle thinks he would stand a good chance of election if nominated by his fellow-partisans, the Prohibitionists, Democrats, Lincoln party and the Independents of Philadelphia. To try to forestall ambitious men in those parties the Prohibition state convention will be held on May 10, much earlier than the conventions of the other parties. Mr. Castle is not a betting man, but if he were there are men who are willing to wager that no Prohibitionist stands a chance of getting the Democratic nomination for governor.

OPPOSE VACCINATION.

Local Society Will Seek Repeal of the State Law.

A campaign to have the compulsory vaccination law repealed by the next session of the legislature was begun last night at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Anti-Vaccination society, in the Frick building.

Miss Dora C. Little of Minneapolis addressed the meeting, declared that compulsory vaccination was a blow to American freedom and urged that vaccination be made optional. During the discussion that followed one of the members suggested that preventing vaccination with a bullet should be held justifiable.

SELL MORE ROAD BONDS.

The county commissioners were notified yesterday that N. W. Harris & Co. would take up their option on $750,000 worth of county road bonds. This will make $1,500,000 of road bonds the firm has taken, at a premium of $31,260, the bonds having been sold at $102,084. At the time the bids for bonds were opened N. W. Harris & Co. bid on $750,000 and secured an option on the other $750,000 at the same price. The firm has since decided that it can afford to take up the bonds.

County Commissioners I. K. Campbell and Charles B. Price are pleased with the developments, especially when it is considered, as Mr. Price said, that the security market is filled with good bonds and many municipalities are experiencing difficulty in selling their securities.

TOO LATE?

MAMA! Don't be frightened—but be warned!

Every Mother knows, or should know, that the terrible Mortality among little children is caused by Stomach and Bowel troubles. Colic, Sour Curd, Cholera Infantum, Summer Complaint, Measles, Rashes, Scarlet Fever—even Mumps—have their first cause in constipation.

The Delicate Tissues of a Baby's Bowels will not stand rough treatment. Salts are too violent, and Castor Oil will only grease the passages, but will not make and keep them Clean, Healthy and Strong.

* * *

There is no other medicine as safe for a child as Cascarets, the fragrant little Candy Tablet, that has saved thousands of families from unhappinsss.

The Nursing Mother even in good health should always keep her own Bowels Loose, and her Milk Mildly Purgative by taking a Cascaret at night before going to bed.

No other medicine has this remarkable and valuable quality. Mama takes the Cascaret, Baby gets the Benefit.

Cascarets act like strengthening Exercise on the weak little bowels of the growing babe, and make them better able to get all the Nourishment out of Baby's Natural Food.

Larger children cannot always be watched, and will eat unreasonably. The Ready Remedy should ever be at hand—Cascarets—to take care of the trouble when it comes.

No need to Force or Bribe children to take Cascarets. They are always more than ready to eat the sweet little bit of Candy.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

Women's Spring Suits and Skirts and Wraps.

The new suits, having the Longworth coat, are attracting much attention because of their smart appearance. It is quite enough to say that makers of women's dresses are always on the lookout for something new, and when the young lady to whom, recently, all the nation was looking wore one of these jaunty coat suits, it was only a gracious act to give it the new name that she took upon herself.

The new Longworth coat is a short hip length jacket, made in dozens of different styles to suit different tastes. These suits can be had in plain tailored styles or the prettily trimmed models which are bound to be popular.

These Longworth suits can be had in Broadcloth, in black, blue, green and garnet, from $25.00 up to $45.00.

Or they can be had in Panamas, in black, navy, Alice blue, reseda, green and old rose, $25.00 to $48.00.

Or they can be had in worsteds, in plain shades of gray, numerous plaids and numerous stripes, $25.00 to $60.00.

Evening Wraps of Black Broadcloth—

The new Spring styles in evening wraps, taking black broadcloth as the material, are now ready. They all have, for the most part, touches of braid and silk trimmings, which lend a rich effect to their fine tailoring. This is a very good time and place to mention them, as the week of Grand Opera is drawing near. Such wraps for this occasion will be greatly appreciated.

The prices range from $25.00 up to $75.00. No particular description will be attempted for any of them. But we may call attention to one group in which the wraps are $28.00 each. Each is made of a fine broadcloth, the back half fitting, the front loose; they have no collars but instead have black moire trimmed with silk braid forming a scroll effect which goes around neck. The same trimming is on the deep turnover cuffs. The wraps are full lined with white satin.

New Spring Skirts—

Women will be pleased to know that our variety in skirts is much larger than we are in the habit of carrying. There is a constantly growing demand for variety. The only way in which we can give an idea of our stock is to take, from time to time, two or three styles and tell about them. There are always new skirts coming in almost daily arrivals—and they almost walk out with the same rapidity. Here are some that came in yesterday:

$9.00—new skirts of panama, black and blue, made in a very full two-piece circular style; slotted seam down front; two stitched straps on each side at bottom; deep bias fold around bottom.

$9.00—Skirts of fine hard twisted worsted; medium shade of gray; or have black and blue Panama; 7 gores, full flare panel back and front of eight side pleats; solid stitching to a depth of 15 inches.

$12.00—Skirts of chiffon Panama, black or blue; 9 gores; very full flare, triple box pleat down front and back; deep pointed yoke, bias fold around bottom.

New and Pretty Effects in Spring Embroideries

St. Gall has certainly done herself proud in producing novelly pretty ideas in Matched Sets, Edgings, Insertings, Beadings, Flouncings, Motifs and Skirtings. We have been gathering together embroideries for many years, and we do not recall ever asking women to inspect a more fascinating collection.

To attempt to go into detail would require entirely too much space. We simply call attention to some of the new things and their very broad range of prices.

New effects in Cambric Embroidery, 5c a yard and up to 75c.
New effects in Cambric Inserting, 5c a yard and up to 60c.

Spring in the Millinery Section

One of our newspapers the other day spoke of the robins and the bluebirds as press agents of Spring. To our mind, one of the smartest press agents that Spring has is a bewitchingly designed hat. From now on, each day Spring models in hats will creep out, and it will not be long before the street will be thick with the pretty hats and toques that have been designed for Spring.

We always like to be first—first in variety, first in the worth of the hat offered, first with the lowest prices! Here are some hats and their prices to which we ask attention.

$5.00 and $7.50	Two favorite prices, and for which we purpose giving women something exceedingly pretty in the shape of new Spring hats. Both prices are representative of what are termed popular prices. The hats that we will sell for these prices are handsomely trimmed models for Spring, full of style, and the materials and workmanship are all that could be asked.
Spring Hats $10.00	Tomorrow we purpose holding a special sale of Trimmed Hats for $10.00, and the collection is a special one. Attractive styles for early Spring wear. Dress Hats of black and black and white. New braid Hats in Sailor shapes and in Turban shapes, the popular colors of queen's gray, old rose, navy blue, brown and green. There are over 300 new styles from which to select.
$1.50 to $7.50	In Untrimmed Hats, we note that our lines of pressed blocked Hats are complete, with the most practical styles and shapes for Spring. Included are pressed Neapolitan, horse hair, chip, Milan, Yedda and hemp models. The various sailors, Peter Pans and mushrooms, are shown in new shades of queen's gray, old rose, raspberry, Alice blue, cell, black and white and black.

Indispensable as a style and comfort feature to the modern corset are the attached hose supporters

SO many corsets have inferior webbing and worthless clasps that perhaps you have become distrustful of the so-called Hose Supporter Models.

We are selling Hose Supporter Models that are different. We make a specialty of the models with the "Security" Hose Supporters attached, and the supporters are of the same guaranteed quality as the corsets themselves. There are perfect style and splendid wearing virtue in Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets. Only a superior quality of webbing is used with the famous "Security" Rubber Button. Remember that the supporters are attached at the precise points where they are most effective in aiding the figure to assume the correct poise. There is a wide range of styles.

$1.00 to $2.50 per Pair.

New Sill Lace Curtains

Of course, with the Spring renovation of the house coming round so swiftly, the mind of the person in charge naturally turns toward lace curtains. Just now the most popular curtain for the window is the one in sill length. We have these both in French and Swiss make, as well as quite a few made up in this country. While having as fine a collection of lace curtains as any woman would wish to look through, we devote the space following to a mention of sill curtains only.

Marie Antoinette Sill Curtains—white and Arabian—$2.00, $2.50, $3.75, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00 a pair and up to $11.00.
Renaissance Sill Curtains, $1.25, $1.50, $3.00, $3.75, $4.00, $5.00 and up to $11.00 a pair.
Torchon or Cluny Sill Curtains, $3.00, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00 and up to $8.00 a pair.
Tape Arabian Sill Curtains, $2.00, $11.00, $12.50 and up to $35.00 a pair.
Antique Lace Sill Curtains, some mounted on net, others on scrim, $3.50, $4.75, $5.00 and up to $9.00 a pair.
Irish Point Sill Curtains, $5.00, $5.50, $6.00 and up to $10.00 a pair.

We have an especially good showing of fine embroidered Swiss Curtains, in dotted and novelty effects—40 inches wide, 2½ yards long $3.00, $4.00, $4.50 a pair.

One-Piece Waist Patterns.

Most women, who read our daily news, will recall that last December we had a lady with us demonstrating the utility of one-piece waist patterns.

The simplicity of this pattern, together with its adaptability to every feminine form, was the means of selling, in the few weeks the lady was here, several thousands of the patterns.

The holidays coming on it was necessary to take up every inch of room we could find for holiday goods, and so the demonstration was called off for the time being.

The inventor of this one-piece pattern, Miss Stillman of Washington, D. C., is here again, and is showing the good points of the pattern daily, main aisle, West Store.

This is the only pattern that has a straight front and a straight back, and is all in one piece. Any one who can use a needle and thread can make a waist from this pattern.

Thursday, March 8, 1906.

New burgesses elected last month are approaching their duties with determination to have a better order of things. Some of them will make mistakes in the objects of their ardor, but it is a good sign when they show active interest. Indifference is the worst enemy of good municipal government in borough and city.

Reduction of the fees of the delinquent tax collector, from 3 per cent to 2 per cent, is a step in the right direction. Another step in the same direction would have been vastly better. One per cent is ample remuneration for the not very arduous duties of the collector of delinquent taxes. Payment for political services ought to, and may, be made not at the expense of the public.

Mayor Hays assigns as one reason for his veto of the Brand resolution, it might lead to litigation. Controller Larkin is not so timid about facing the courts. He does not overlook that portion of the act of incorporation conferring the right "to sue and to be sued." Litigation is something to avoid under certain circumstances, but not when resort to it is the only means to secure justice. The controller has the better end of the argument in this instance.

Probably the most encouraging feature of the chamber of commerce election is the large vote polled. That, in itself, indicates a general awakening of interest. For the remainder the new regime will be approved or disapproved on the record it makes. The gentlemen defeated are leaders in Pittsburgh affairs no less than those elected, and when anything good is proposed in the chamber, both elements can be counted on to co-operate in furthering it.

Report that Mayor Guthrie will put military men at the head of two important executive departments has excited much discussion. In truth much more depends on the quality of the men chosen than on the calling in which they have been trained. Military discipline has a distinct value in management of the police and engineering ability has its place in public works. Direction of the departments, however, is a purely executive task, with special knowledge as an incidental advantage.

There is ample justification for the bill introduced yesterday by Representative Allen F. Cooper of Uniontown for creation of the bureau of reclamation of arid lands. This work in the aggregate will exceed that of construction of the Panama canal, and it has been virtually drifting along without adequate supervision. The bureau of reclamation will be self-sustaining and should save more than costs. The bill is in line with President Roosevelt's recommendation in his annual message, and has his approval.

Outrages upon Russian Jews have by no means ceased, as was made clear yesterday by the deputation which called upon Premier Witte and presented a report of their grievances. Not only is the anti-Jewish agitation continuing, but grave threats have been made against the Jews in the provinces if they shall act with the progressive parties in the coming elections. A resumption of the massacres is feared. Premier Witte will bring the matter before the cabinet, but despite the best efforts of the government it is likely a large number of Jews will be deprived of their rights or subjected to violence during the coming critical period.

Fire insurance companies are exchanging congratulations on the comparatively light losses sustained last month, the figures for which were issued yesterday. The total fire damage in the United States and Canada is estimated at $18,249,350, as compared with $25,590,000 in February, 1905, and $90,051,000 in the corresponding month of 1904. The latter figures, however, were swelled by the Baltimore conflagration. While February is regarded as one of the dangerous months, March, as is pointed out, also has a bad name. Carelessness, directly traceable, causes a large proportion of fires. The proverbial winds of March are ever ready to fan sparks into flames.

Greater Pittsburgh.

Exceptions filed to the petition for consolidation of Pittsburgh and Allegheny rest on contention of unconstitutionality of the law. Particular stress is laid on the so-called McKeesport amendment, exempting boroughs from inclusion as a part of possible "intervening land." It is alleged, as of the act of 1905, this is local and special legislation. Reference in the bill to the Constitution of the United States indicates a possible intent to try to carry the case beyond the Pennsylvania courts, though there is no suggestion how this may be done.

It may be the courts will hold the act of 1906 to be unconstitutional, but there is reason to expect a contrary result. If this law be not sustained, attainment of the Greater Pittsburgh will become very difficult until the disadvantage to Allegheny shall create an almost unanimous sentiment on the North Side for annexation. The Gazette hopes no such contingency will arise, for the welfare of the whole community will be greatly promoted by consolidation in the very near future—the sooner the better.

More Power Needed.

President Roosevelt has approved the joint resolution requesting an investigation of the relations between railroads and the coal and oil industries. He confesses to doubts of its effectiveness, and requests additional legislation, conferring power to enforce attendance of witnesses and production of papers. This request should be promptly complied with if the investigation is not to become a screaming farce, on a par with the procedure instigated by Attorney-General Hadley of Missouri.

Enough has been seen of the cases against the packers, on trial in Chicago, to illustrate precisely what the President is asking for. The inquiry is proper. It is essential to determine the truth or falsity of charges that are being constantly reiterated concerning illegitimate relations between great corporations for the suppression of competition and mulcting of the public. If these charges be true the alleged practices should be outlawed and the guilty punished. If not true, then the dissemination of false information calculated to arouse dangerous prejudices should be stopped.

President Roosevelt does not indicate his opinion on the main issue. He is content to await the result of the inquiry. His attitude is just and his request for legislation equally so.

Pittsburgh Orchestra.

Many of our exchanges are printing pessimistic allusions to the Pittsburgh orchestra, the burden being that it is at the vanishing point. Inquiry fails to develop a foundation in fact for these views. Manager Wilson and Director Paur know of no reason for early dissolution—on the contrary, they are planning enthusiastically for next season before this season is ended. They expect the concerts of this week to be better attended than any previously.

It may be true, as some of our contemporaries state, that Pittsburgh is more interested in the production of pig iron than in classical music. In its days of affluence the Iron City is in no danger of forgetting the means by which it has risen. It may be true, as some others have said, that artistic taste is lacking here. At the same time we have seen or heard nothing to confirm the news. Pittsburgh has the orchestra, an organization in the front rank. It has established and sustained it. The fact is creditable to the musical taste of Pittsburgh. Some larger towns are doing no better, and some more boastful towns are not doing as well.

More Monuments to Foster.

Revival of popular interest in the life and works of Stephen C. Foster, not only in this country, but abroad, following the Kentucky movement, now practically completed, to erect a monument to the composer, is gratifying to Pittsburgh. New Yorkers are agitating the project for a fitting monument at the plaza entrance to Central park, since it was in that city he spent his last days. Former Pittsburghers now resident in the metropolis will give assistance to the plan, which has the support also of members of the large singing societies. In the opinion of the New York Herald, "every city in the country should have a statue of this man of melody, this author of the deathless American ballad. Wherever his songs are sung, whether as an encore to an aria, with which Patti so often responded, whether heard in an orchestra or sung at night by passing singers, or far across the seas, there is a delight experienced that always touches the heart."

In the plan of the American colony in London to establish a suitable memorial in the metropolis of the world is a fresh tribute to the influence of Foster upon Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces abroad. "Old Folks at Home" never possesses a more penetrating pathos than when heard far away from one's native land. The proposed monument will take the form of a group expressing the spirit of this song. Foster's compositions are veritable folk songs. His memory is in no danger of fading, but it is pleasant to observe such general recognition of his genius at home and abroad.

Music Made Interesting.

A well-known orchestra conductor declares the average American business man would rather attend a boxing match or wrestling bout than a high-class concert. Probably he is right. If concerts are to attract more men, they must be made interesting. A challenge which appeared in yesterday's New York papers points the way to an innovation which could not fail to be popular. One Nehemiah Brookes of New Brunswick, N. J., writes: "Have you any all-around musicians that are prepared to contest for the all-around musician championship? I shall be glad to meet any persons on the all-around lines." Among the features of the contest are suggested: Performance on the largest number of musical instruments; the transposition of set music in different keys; the part of accompanying singers without notes; improvisation and display of knowledge of harmony.

Every American has some "sporting blood" in his composition. He loves a contest, a matching of skill and strength and nerve. His favorite member of the theater orchestra is the "general utility" man who performs on half a dozen instruments in rapid succession, the man with whom there is always "something doing." There would not be enough seats for everybody at an "all-around musical championship contest" of the United States. Who will be the first catch-as-catch-can middleweight musician to respond to Mr. Brookes' bold challenge? If interest in musical matters cannot be aroused in one way, it can be in another.

An Urgent Question.

Chairman Shonts, before the senate committee, struck one note that rings true. However important it may be to probe canal affairs and to hackle Secretary Cromwell, it is not necessary to delay decision on the type of canal to be built while the gabfest is going on. Until the type of canal is enacted by congress the work will be done at a disadvantage. The investigation under way has no bearing on the type of the canal—lock, or sea-level—and there is no excuse for withholding this important enactment while probing to the bottom of Poultney Bigelow's charges, result of 28 hours' stay on the isthmus.

A majority of members of the canal commission, Secretary Taft and President Roosevelt have recommended a lock canal on grounds of expediency. A majority of the consulting engineers, nearly all foreign, recommend a sea-level canal at the outset. The question is one of expense and of time for completion and congress must decide. Congress alone has authority to appropriate money from the public treasury. It is important that it shall decide at an early date whether it will appropriate $150,000,000 or $250,000,000, so the engineers and excavators on the isthmus can proceed intelligently.

Preliminary work, including sanitation and accommodations for men, is well in hand. It is necessary only to fix the type of the canal to "make the dirt fly." Responsibility for progress, or lack of it, is right up to congress and cannot be evaded. This is more important than asking questions about the Panama resolution.

On the Side of Russell.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

It is amusing to read the critics of Pastor Russell. One, Thomas W. Price, says if there is no hell, why trouble ourselves leading righteous lives. Is it possible that our friend is so corrupt that he could not be good without some one standing over him with a club? Why not be good for the sake of being good? That would be honest. Honesty and goodness are their own reward. One does not have to believe in a hell to be good; you cannot make a man have a clear conscience by trying to scare him into it. Another critic signing himself "Whole Truth," seems to fear that we will lose our souls if we do not believe in an eternal hell. He reminds me of the Scotch woman who after hearing a minister deliver a "no hell" sermon ran out of the church screaming: "What will become of us! What will become of us!" It is a real pleasure to know that there is one pastor in Allegheny who preaches a just God, a God that will not eternally damn his poor creatures, a God who is at least merciful as our own parents.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

I notice by Tuesday's Gazette that Minister J. A. Henderson, before the ministerial meeting of Pittsburgh, denounced Pastor C. T. Russell's utterances in Sunday's sermon on "To Hell and Back." The readers of The Gazette would like to know the minister's reasons for stating that the above discourse is contrary to the interpretation of the Bible.

The German-American alliance is also opposed to education regarding the use of beer, as a regular beverage, that is in any way injurious to the brewers' business. Do you suppose that the Rev. The World's a Stage and We the Players

By Charles M. Bregg.

Again the Indian play.

New York was thrown into quite a flutter last week over the production by W. A. Brady of Donald McLaren's Indian play, "The Redskins." I was not on the ground so am disbarred as a critic, but the incidents attending the first performance, and that have in a measure followed after, make the Indian play again a vital and consuming subject to theatergoers everywhere. This sudden onslaught of the "aboriginal drama," if I may be allowed to call it so, has already been referred to in these stage chats. Without attempting to be chronologically correct the advance of the Indian hosts to the eastern footlights has been about in the following order:

"Strongheart"—The Squaw Man and now "The Redskins." "The Girl of the Golden West," "Mexicana" and "The Missourians," touch the life and habits of the Indians. There are comic opera Indians galore born of the past season, and mean and small, indeed, is the musical comedy, burlesque vaudeville or variety bill that doesn't boost a variation of the painted brave and the "Whoopee" of the distant plans. Even dainty Edna May was caught by an Indian imitation and the noble denizen of the American forest set up his tepee in the drawing room of an English duke.

But the particular sensation that was created by the production of this latest Indian play lies more in what attended it in the way of Indian war blood that it stirred up in the veins of its producer, the indefatigable and buoyant Mr. Brady. On the evening of its initial performance Mr. Brady made a speech in which was a covet threat that if the New York critics didn't be good they would hear from him. With such a challenge ringing in their ears it was perhaps not unnatural that the critics the following morning punched the very life out of Brady's Indians. On Friday evening Mr. Brady made another speech—and such a speech! I am not going to be the defenders of the New York critics. They can possibly take care of themselves, and then, too, I have much sincere sympathy for the much harassed Mr. Brady. Not so much for what the critics did to him as for what he did to himself.

Violent and denunciatory quarrels between newspaper reviewers and stage producers always seemed to me the limit of asinine stupidity. If criticism be inspired by personal prejudice, or is the work of ignorance or malice, it isn't going to hurt. If it be sound, intelligent and gives constructive as well as destructive advice, all the railing in the world isn't going to stop it. The modern critic of books, stocks, officialdom, or of the theater, are the conservators of progress if they be honest, intelligent critics. If they be flippant humorists who write funny or abusive paragraphs to exhibit there own supposed smartness, they are not critics and their fulminations will, in the end, be disregarded.

These occasional tempests in a tea-pot over the New York critics is growing monotonous and silly. If the funny writers for the Gotham sheets, who pose as critics, are to set the standard of newspaper reviewing one can hardly blame the irascible Mr. Brady, but to gnash the teeth and rail at men like John Corbin, Acton Davies, William Winter and the other sound and sensible writers on theatrical topics, is to attempt, blindly and fatuously, to destroy an element of strength and a source of helpfulness to the modern theater. When criticism ceases to be helpful and becomes merely flippant it is quite as bad for the theaters and for the public as when producers cease to be men of moral intelligence and become mere fakirs on the one hand or sharpers on the other. When the two sides fall to hair pulling, the sight is enough to make the angels weep.

To cap the climax of absurdity over the New York Indian pow-wow, a reputable organ of the theaters published in that city uses italics to say that the only remedy for cases like Mr. Brady's is "to keep the critics out of the theaters." There's illumination for you in this 20th century! The great American theatergoing public that respects its sensible representatives is coolly told that the thing to do is to choke off all chance for honest enlightment on a business supported by millions of dollars taken from the public's pockets every year before the goods are shown.

Go to, Mr. Dramatic News!

Speaking of race representation on the stage one feels something of a shock to find William Gillette introducing a genuine, full-blooded "Jap" as a bell boy in a rural hotel in a South Carolina village. Of course, probability is not outraged in this case, and we suppose the real thought is that of a Japanese actor playing the role of a bell boy, without intending that the race of the aforesaid bell boy should be taken into account. But the daring of William Gillette when it comes to staging a play is equalled by but one other American play writing producer, and yet there is hardly any similiarity between the methods of Gillette and Belasco. Gillette has made a great deal out of rather thin material in "Clarice." He tackles the most profound and grewsome problems of the medical laboratory with a technique that is astonishing. The admixture of sentiment and science is accomplished to the singing of birds and the perfumes of an old-fashioned garden.

That ether and atropia form an antidote for aconite-poisoning is a scientific medical axiom that Mr. Gillette works into his climax with the same daring and the same technical accuracy and effectiveness that David Belasco exhibits when he demonstrates to the eye that blood from a bullet wound will find its way through the most obstinate obstructions.

* * *

In order that this chat about Indians, critics, Bradys, aconite poisoning and bullet wounds may not leave a bad taste in the mouth, this bit of description of a burlesque on the Belasco play is added. It is how the Joe Weber people treat "The Girl from the Golden West," under the title "The Squaw Man's Girl." Belasco, as so many Pittsburgh theatergoers remember, sends Blanche Bates to her mountain cabin, where she invites her sudden lover to supper, and he becomes snowbound there, so that they have to spend the night together. Blanche gives up her bed to her guest and blankets herself at the other side of the room on the floor, while the furious storm howls outside, shakes the hut and sifts snow through the cracks.

* * *

Marie Dressler lodges her ardent visitor in the barroom, and above and below the swinging half-doors the snow enters in tremendous quantities. She pulls a sideboard away from the wall and it becomes a bedstead, but a big, square space is left open to the blast, which flings in a bushel of snow on the couch and the man. Thereupon he takes the redhot stove into bed with him and embraces it fondly. As to big Marie, she changes her day gown for a man's night shirt, fastens snowshoes on her feet, and trots shiveringly about on the drifts, setting the room to rights for the night.

Then comes the famous game of chance between the girl and the sheriff for the life or death of the lover. Blanche, you know, won by ringing a cold deck in poker show-downs. But Marie has forbidden cards in her sheebank; so the fateful game is checkers with bits of coal for her men and crackers for the sheriff's, and Marie beats him by eating his men while he isn't looking.

Quiet Observations on Ways of the World

Latest Type of "Consumption" Has Not Been a Success.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Two track-walkers have died during the past winter, and a couple of enterprising doctors made careful studies of their remains. Iron dust was found in the lungs of each, which set space-writers off like so many pin-wheels.

The first impression received from reading their stuff was that fully a pound, or a pound and a half, or two pounds, of raw, rusty, cuttings, like coarse iron filings, had been found in the lungs of each of the deceased.

Of course no one would stop to think that one pair of lungs could not hold such a vast lot of iron, but at the go-off no one thought of anything but of the awful fate of all sub-way travellers.

* * *

It wouldn't have been surprising to a great many if the underground trains had been found running empty after this astounding discovery, but as far as anyone could see, and from a box-office point of view, travel didn't fall off a little bit.

At the present time you rarely see passengers holding hankerchiefs over their faces, or breathing through bits of cotton stuffed in their nostrils.

While the subway consumption scare has about petered out there remains the alarming fact that the tunnel has not been thoroughly cleaned since it was finished. It doesn't look to be dirty, nor is it in any sense filthy, but there is a growing feeling on the part of the millions who patronize it that an occasional renovation would do no harm, and the odor of carbolic acid, or chloride of lime, would be quite reassuring and grateful to many who are a bit nervous.

* * *

There is no denying the fact that a lot of iron is daily reduced to powder in the subway. One authority said more than a ton, but doesn't that seem unreasonable?

And yet when you consider that trains are spinning over this 22 miles of double-track on a 30-mile an hour schedule, swinging around corners, stopping every quarter of a mile, are hardly more than one minute apart, and consist of from five to eight or nine cars, the aggregate wear of rail and wheel amounts to a whole lot.

The greater wearing and grinding is on the contact rail against which the iron shoes connected with the motors, press with considerable force. Some of those who profess to know about such things say that on account of this third, or contract rail being so highly electrified it wears far more rapidly than the other rails.

* * *

It is up to the scientific chaps to determine the extent of the wear and tear, but any one can satisfy himself as to the presence of iron dust in the tube by swiping his finger along a metal post, tile wall, or stair railing. The dust on these will be found to be a metalic paint—oil and iron—that won't come off nearly as easily as Pittsburgh dirt.

Every lady may satisfy her curiosity concerning the iron dust question by shaking her hat over a sheet of white paper after a long ride in the tube. The particles of dust will be plainly visible to the naked eye, and to prove that many, if not most of them are iron, she has only to pass a magnet, or piece of magnetized metal over it when the particles of iron will attach themselves to it.

* * *

These facts should not discourage the introduction of subways in Pittsburgh. With increased ventilation, by means of air shafts, much of the dust will be taken out. Besides the head of the sanitary department is now perfecting a system of cleansing that will be put into operation soon.

This same official has been analyzing subway air and he finds it quite pure and healthful, much more so than might have been expected.

The temperature down in the tube has been quite satisfactory. It was feared that it would be too warm, or else the place would be swept with drafts of cold air.

Instead of this it has been quite regular in spite of the many changes from one extreme to another.

There isn't a remnant of the famous Bishop Potter saloon left. Patrons don't seem to patronize the subway very extensively. Subway people are mostly business people who are going somewhere for something, and are going by the shortest and quickest route.

And then a saloon at a subway station would very much resemble a soda water stand at a country fair, open on all sides, with no place for blinds and screens. Saloons, like mushroon and other fungi, seem to thrive best in rather secluded and more or less damp, dark places, which the sub-station is not.

CASUAL GLIMPSES AROUND THE CITY

Talking Machine's Progress.

"Manufacturers of talking machines have elaborated their programs during the last three months to an extent never dreamed of by the boldest originator," said P. N. Browne, connected with a New York firm, at the Fort Pitt last night. "While innumerable mechanical improvements are being constantly made, it is particularly in the line of new records that the best efforts of the trade are directed.

"Only a short while ago we could only obtain the record of a grand opera diva's voice by paying an enormous price for the one song. Even at that, we could only obtain it by paying Herr Conried the concert price and have him compel the song bird to sing into the machine in place of a concert date.

"Now we have not only many grand opera prima donnas, tenors, bassos, at soloists, but they also figure in duets, trios and quartets. Only those who have been 'up against' the idiosyncrasies of these celebreties can appreciate this triumph of American methods.

"This is made possible by the fact that the song birds are now willing and eager to sing for records so as to collect a small but constant royalty on their voices, that is, they receive a certain per cent of every record sold. As far as penny-in-the-slot talking machines are concerned, Pittsburgh got into the game a little late, but shows a higher average on each machine than any other city of the country except New York, where this craze still rages without abatement."

Development of Soft Coal Properties.

J. T. Noble, a Pittsburgh owner of coal lands in this state and in West Virginia, and who has been associated with J. V. Thompson in many deals, was talking last night in the lobby of the Monongahela house over the prospects for undeveloped coal lands.

"The upward trend of prices for even surface indications in the bituminous coal lands of Washington, and especially Greene county, continues strong. In my opinion, within three years the wastes down there will attain great development. In a short while thereafter, I believe, the fields will be as thickly dotted with coke ovens and the lands, encouraged by the early completion of a railroad down there, will prove equal to that of Fayette county."

Some Palatable Breakfast Food Served Hot

By PETER PRY SHEVLIN.

A New "Creation" Daily.

The chameleon is a cute little lizard,
Who changes his colors with ease;
But women, with aid of a fine fashion wizard
Can get any color they please.
If truth must be told than clay she's more plastic,
With straight fronts and changes of belt;
First she's tall, then she's short in a manner elastic—
The next day athletic or svelte!
And in walk,
And in talk
No obstacles balk.

"What'll it be today, ma'am,
Red or blonde or black;
In dyes we have a way, ma'am,
To suit your hat or sacque!"

And leaving arrayed in her new Titian tresses
Milady now scans fashion sheet,
For the real "swagger" walk that the fashion possesses
And practices it then on the street.
Perhaps that same rib that old Adam gave sleeping,
In the Garden of Eden for Eve,
Was only a "floating rib" now daily keeping
Its habits of change we believe.
Every day
There's a new way
For beauty, they say.

First the kangaroo walk,
Then the golfing strides;
Now the auto's new gawk,
Tomorrow—what betides?

Within and Without.

Eben—Is Jack living within his income?

Flo—Well, he couldn't live without it.

Doing Penance.

Barney—Yis, indade! Mike Hagerty drops in ivry noight an' thries t' play grand op'ry on his ould accordjeen!

Labor Union.

"Marriage on a small salary," snarled the Boorish Bachelor, "generally turns out to be labor union. When the baby starts squawling at night the husband finds out that he's the walking delegate!"

Lent for Forty Days.

By Lent
Is meant
Intent
To vent
Our godly better nature;
To pray, to fast
From sin's repast.
Led virtues out to mature.
Till end
We lend,
Extend Amend;
Then quick become a feaster;
On good deeds Lent
Get ten per cent—
And "blow" all after Easter!

Hustling Honeymoon.

Smudge—I understand that wideawake Pittsburgh couple went to Philadelphia to get married.

Grudge—Yes, and before the sleepy organist had droned through the wedding march, the Pittsburgh couple had spent their honeymoon and were consulting divorce lawyers.

The Prevailing Passion.

"Did you discover anything?" asked a friend he met.

"Naw," growled Caesar, "I've a mind to have the cops pinch the place. The sybil kept muttering 'Beware the Ides of March!' while I wanted her to hand out a 100-to-one shot at the chariot races in the Coliseum!"

Spring Symptons.

Now poets think
Of tendrils and green grasses;
Now kidlets drink
Their sulphur and molasses!

Going to Extremes.

"Funny, isn't it," mused the Poker Philosopher, "but the hot-headed man in a card game is the first to get cold feet!"

Prob Proverb Proved.

Blinker—Death loves a shining mark.

The Real Test.

"Oh, yes, he's a rich and influential citizen, who's always first in line on all public projects. But why do you look so sceptical?"

Crafty.

He smokes the best cigars. Well, well,
'Tis there his virtue ends;
He had to or he'd have to smell
The ones he gives his friends.

Tactless.

Beryl—Yes, I was compelled to cut Mrs. Torque on account of the indiscreet things she says. She has no tact, you know.

The Murderess Died Happy.

Notwithstanding the efforts of humane societies and the natural repugnance of the community to the inflicting the ultimate decree of justice, the woman criminal was to be hanged. Realizing the impossibility of any reprieve, the murderess walked to her fate with calm serenity.

"Have you anything to say before——" The chaplain left the words unsaid.

"Why, yes," said the woman stepping forward and making a little speech.

"Thank goodness," she concluded, "I've had the last word anyway!"

That woman died happy.

Penalty of Riches.

"But," protested the family friend, "with all your money, why are you so anxious to appear poor?"

"See here," said wise old Bullions, "I don't like funerals in the family. If my sons discovered how rich I was they'd start right in breaking speed records in automobiles!"

Another Peril.

Once man only feared in marrying his siren,
Her nails, rolling pin or the flying flat iron;
But now if in marriage a termagant gits you
She may swat you sore with slick jiu-jitsu!

ANOTHER PASTOR.

He Makes Heated Objection to Pastor Russell's Conclusions.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

I feel sure, as you gave so much space to the sermon preached by C. T. Russell on Sunday night last, and published in your issue on Monday, you will not object to print a short letter I want to write on the subject upon which Mr. Russell preached.

It seems to me that Mr. Russell is ignorant of scripture, or wilfully keeping back part of truth, and I fear the latter is the case, and if so, the greater his condemnation. He certainly knows that the words "sheol" and "qeber" do not mean the same, and he surely knows that the latter and not the former should be translated "grave," "tomb." Men "dig," "possess," "put into" "qeber," but not in "sheol," the latter is always in the singular, and never plural. We never read "because there were many sheols," but we do read, "because there were many "qebers." He says "Hell (hades) is not a place of torment at all." Does Russell mean that he knows better than Jesus, and that he will play the part of the rich man in hell who contradicted Abraham? Did not our Lord declare there was a rich man and that that rich man lifted up his eyes and voice and declared he was tormented? Will Mr. Russell seek shelter behind his old assertion, that "that is a parable?" It is not a parable; neither is it called so. Jesus said definitely there was a rich man "tormented" in flame; there was a poor man (Lazarus) "comforted."

One of Mr. Russell's question is: Who are there? And when he seeks to answer it, he says "our topic inquires who are in hell" and then says, "the scriptures answer that all go to hell, the tomb, the death state." Is that so? Does the scripture mean that when it said Stephen lifted up his eyes and voice and said: "I saw heaven (not hell) opened, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God;" and as they were beating out his life with rocks he cried: "Lord Jesus receive my spirit!" Did Jesus receive it? 'Tis true, devout men carried Stephen's body to the burial, but was his spirit in hell, the tomb? Did Paul mean he wanted to go to hades when He said he had a desire to depart and to be with Christ? When he said, "absent from the body, present (or at home) with the Lord," did he mean he would be "present with the Lord" in hades, the tomb? Mr. Russell says, "Jesus was the first of these prisoners to come back from sheol (hades), as the Apostle Peter and the Prophet David have told us he went to hell, to sheol, to hades, and came back." Well, why was not Mr. Russell honest? He quotes Solomon as saying there is no wisdom nor knowledge, nor device in the grave, sheol, then quotes Peter to show that Jesus went to hades and came back; but why did not Mr. Russell inform the audience that Jesus did some preaching while he was there? Peter says he did, and surely that proves there must have been some knowledge in that prison, especially when the scriptures declare he (Jesus) descended into the lower parts of the earth (did that refer to the tomb in the garden?) and led forth a multitude of captives." Where from? Where to?

Now, sir, I will not ask for more space in your paper, except to say those who heard Mr. Russell last Sunday are asked to come and hear the other side next Sunday at the Wylie Avenue Baptist church, corner Conklin street and Wylie avenue, where the pastor, D. Newell, will not only show a large chart on the subject, but the "infidelity" of Mr. Russell's sermon.

(Pastor) D. NEWELL.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 4.

NEW AUTO ROAD IS ESTABLISHED

Senator Miller and Others to Incorporate the Wilkinsburg Boulevard Company.

CONNECTS EAST PITTSBURGH

Senator John S. Weller, representing E. R. Reno, J. F. Kinkade, F. W. Schornagle and others, has applied to the state for a charter incorporating the Wilkinsburg Boulevard Company, which is intended to provide a 4 per cent graded road between Wilkinsburg and Braddock, and eventually to extend to East Pittsburgh. This is the beginning of what promises better automobile roads in Western Pennsylvania, especially at those points where county roads have not been laid out and improved, or where shorter routes are desired between Flinn roads, which have been improved at the county's expense.

Attorney Weller says that it is the purpose of the incorporators to lay out and improve a roadway 50 feet wide through this hilly country and that rights-of-way have been secured through the farm of John S. McKelvey, and they expect to get rights-of-way through to East Pittsburgh without any trouble. If they cannot get them the company has the right of eminent domain under the state laws, and will take the only course open to it. The road will be in the nature of a turnpike and small fees will be charged automobiles and other vehicles, which will give the company fair dividends on the outlay in improving the roads and keeping them in perfect repair.

The new road will commence at or near the intersection of Franklin avenue and Johnston street, in the borough of Wilkinsburgh, and for the present will extend to a point joining with Electric avenue, at or near the dividing line between the borough of North Braddock and Wilkins township. Afterward the road will be further extended to East Pittsburgh, where it will eventually connect with a good county road. The incorporators have given notice that they will make their application on March 28. The idea is a new one in this vicinity, and those back of it are satisfied it will be a paying investment.

The East Pittsburgh Improvement Company has secured much of the land lying along each side of the proposed road and will hold it for investment. The company expects to establish a colony of automobile owners along this new thoroughfare because of the new grade and the easy access of this land to the city.

FRANCHISE BILL FAVORED.

Austrian Measure Up for First Reading. Many Speakers to Engage in Debate.

VIENNA, March 7.—The government's franchise bill, which provides for general, equal and direct suffrage for Austria, and which was introduced on February 23 by Premier Gautch von Frankenthurn, was taken up on first reading in the lower house of parliament today.

This bill is regarded as the most important measure for Austria presented to the house in the past generation. At first it encountered much hostile criticism, but it has now won almost universal support. No fewer than 206 speakers, half of them in favor of the measure and half against it, have announced their intention of engaging in the discussion. It is generally believed that the discussion will end in mutual compromises. The lower house will be dissolved during the summer, and the next house will be elected under the new suffrage law.

MATINEE IS SPOILED.

Samuel Martin Fails to Appear Against Charles Mackey—Show Girls Are Sad.

The failure of Samuel Martin to appear, as billed, at Alderman Anderson's office yesterday morning, spoiled a matinee performance for the members of the Trocadero burlesquers, playing at the Gayety this week. Martin claimed Charles Mackey, a star member of the company, had knocked him down in a quarrel behind the scenes of the theater Tuesday night, and the information for assault and battery followed. The company rounded to support Mackey at the hearing, but when Martin failed to put in an appearance the case was dismissed.

Martin is from New York, and is said to have been so enamoured of one of the young women of the chorus that he followed the company to this city.

EXECUTE HIS ASSAILANTS.

Men Who Tried to Kill President Reyes, Shot on the Spot Where the Attempt Was Made.

BOGOTA, COLOMBIA, March 6.—The three men who on February 10 attempted to assassinate President Reyes, were shot today at the spot where the attack took place.

President Reyes was shot at by three mounted men as he was out driving with his daughter. Eight revolver shots were fired, five of which struck the carriage, but the president and his daughter escaped uninjured.

WASHINGTON NEWS NOTES.

Col. W. S. Cappeller was reappointed postmaster at Mansfield, O.; and J. F. McCaskey was appointed postmaster at New Martinsville, W. Va.

The President appointed the following Pennsylvania postmasters: Edward C. Dithrich, Corapolis, Allegheny county; Isador Sobel, Erie, and Ernest A. Hempstead, Meadville.

With six set speeches and permission to print two others in the Record, without delivery, no two of which were on the same subject, the house closed general debate on the Indian appropriation bill.

The house committee on judiciary today decided to continue hearings on the Dolliver-Hepburn liquor bill on March 16 for five days. Hearings will be confined to members of the house and senate.

The house committee on banking and currency authorized a favorable report on a bill permitting national banks to loan money on farm lands up to one-half their value, excluding improvements.

While Mr. Clayton (Ala.) was securing the passage in the house of a bill providing for a steel and cement dam across the Choctauhatchie river at Newton, Ala., Mr. Sherman (N. Y.) facetiously inquired how the words "steel" and "dam" were spelled in the bill. "It is good, clean steel, with two 'e's' and no 'n' on the dam," retorted Mr. Clayton. The bill was passed.

The Ransdell anti-pass bill was reported in amended form to the entire house committee on judiciary by a sub-committee and was made a special order for Friday morning, when the full committee will consider it. The bill prevents all federal officers from accepting railway or Pullman car passes and also forbids their acceptance of franks from telegraph, telephone or express companies.

Senators Spooner and Bacon agreed on an amendment to the Isle of Pines treaty, which provides that the island shall be as a separate province within the meaning of the Cuban constitution, and have local self-government and a representative in the Cuban congress when the population warrants it. This is supposed to be satisfactory to the Americans, who are in the majority on the island. The amendment will be considered by the senate when it acts on the treaty.

In the presence of the President, members of the cabinet, justices of the supreme court, members of the diplomatic corps, high ranking officers of the army and navy and veterans of the civil war and war with Spain, the funeral services over the body of the late Lieut.-Gen. John M. Schofield, U. S. A., retired, formerly secretary of war, were held at St. John's church. The Rev. Mackay Smith, bishop coadjutor of the diocese of Pennsylvania, officiated. The interment was at Arlington, where military honors were rendered.

Mr. Foraker presented in the senate a report of the committee on foreign relations on the bill authorizing the appointment of a commission to co-operate with a British commission to consider the diminution of the waters of the Niagara river at Niagara Falls, and made an effort to secure immediate consideration. Mr. Weller antagonized this request, expressing the opinion that the duty of caring for the falls belong principally to the state of New York. The bill went to the calendar.

ANDERSON'S ACTIVITY ONE CAUSE OF CHANGE

Influence of Managing Director of Chamber of Commerce Called One-Man Power.

Members of the chamber of commerce would like to know who is to be elected manager next Monday, when the new board of directors takes hold of affairs. It was practically admitted yesterday that one reason for the recent insurrection in the chamber was opposition to George H. Anderson, the managing director. Mr. Anderson's influence is called "one man power," although it is admitted that if it had not been for him and some of his friends some years ago, the chamber of commerce might now be a languishing body.

W. H. Stevenson, who was prominent in organizing the rebellion which resulted in the surprising changes at the election on Monday, said yesterday that he supposed some of the members wanted to inject new blood into the organization and wished to take up questions of local interest.

Although Robert Pitcairn of the Pennsylvania railroad was re-elected a vice president, it is understood that the attitude of the ruling powers of the chamber on railroad matters had aroused dissatisfaction among some members. It is charged that when the committee which "investigated" the Harrisburg wreck brought in its report the chamber was "packed" on that occasion with members who seldom came to meetings, to insure the adoption of the report.

Samuel W. Black, whose resolution criticising the judges of the common pleas courts for the appointments they made to the tax assessment and revision commission was suppressed by the chamber, was also active in organizing the insurrection. Mr. Black said the meetings of the chamber for some time past have lacked interest, so that fewer members attended than were present at the meetings of the directors, and therefore nothing the directors decided to do could be changed.

George H. Anderson declined to say whether or not he would be a candidate for his present place. It is probable that the position of managing director will be abolished, as the members now in power think the manager of the chamber, an employe, should not be a member of the board.

It is practically certain that there will be opposition on Monday to the re-election of Treasurer William M. Kennedy and Mr. Anderson.

NEWS OF STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD

STATE CONSTABULARY TO PROTECT STRIKERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LEBANON, March 7.—Forty-five members of the state constabulary force arrived this evening and will protect 60 imported laborers brought here to operate the Cornwall ore mines.

Despite an attempt to operate the mines today with imported laborers, the workings are still idle and a shut-down menaces the furnace plants at Cornwall, Colebrook and North Lebanon. The 60 laborers sent here by the Pennsylvania Steel Company at Steelton started work, but an hour later on the approach of a large body of strikers, they fled from the place. The strikers made no attack on the men when they found they had quit work.

Sheriff Carpenter mustered together as many of his deputies as were within call and there was no further disorder.

The Italian strikers formed in line and marched through the village headed by some of their number who carried flags made of red handkerchiefs. They cheered lustily and sang as they marched past the company's office.

Hits the Street Car Companies.

KITTANNING, Pa., March 7.—(Special.)—In a charge made to a jury today the court stated that the street car companies cannot charge for freight hauled on their cars. The occasion was the damage suit of Joseph Kellmer of Pittsburgh, who sued for $20,000 damages. Kelmer claimed that after paying his own fare, the conductor of a car on the Kittanning & Ford City Street Railway Company's lines attempted to make him pay for some brooms he was carrying, and upon his refusal, threw him from the car. Kellmer was awarded $100 damages.

Coal Dealers Ask for Settlement.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(Special.)—The retail coal dealers of Philadelphia will petition the operators and coal carrying roads to come to an amicable settlement with the anthracite miners before the expiration of the strike commission award, on April 1. This action was decided upon at a meeting of the Philadelphia coal exchange, and a committee of five appointed for the purpose of preparing resolutions.

Grand Jury Ignores Bill

LEECHBURG, March 7.—(Special.)—The grand jury sitting in Kittanning today ignored the bill against R. E. Butler of this place, who was arrested on December 18 at the instigation of the Pennsylvania railroad on a charge of malicious mischief. The costs were placed on the railroad.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

MANIFOLD COMPANY IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FRANKLIN, PA., March 7.—Judge Criswell today appointed George Maloney, a former assemblyman from Venango county, receiver of the General Manifold Company. He furnished bond in the sum of $50,000, and will assume charge of the plant at once, an injunction having been served on the officers of the concern restraining them from interfering with the property.

The application for a receiver and injunction was made by Gen. Charles Miller on Monday, but Judge Criswell delayed action. Fearing suits by creditors and a consequent suspension, Gen. Miller's attorney rushed into court this afternoon with sworn affidavits setting forth that a shutting down of the plant would be followed by heavy losses. Then Mr. Maloney was appointed.

The decline of the concern is due to the failure of the company to dispose of its patents on manifold papers to European parties. These patents are valued on the books of the company at $4,207,000. It was thought that their sale in European countries would yield large sums of money, but the sales could not be made. The company at the present time is operating at a small profit and is keeping 200 persons in employment, but the profits are not paying the debt. It develops that the company is still doing considerable government work. The postoffice department is not having as much done as it once did, but patronage is received from other departments.

FLORAL EMBLEMS
A. M. MURDOCH,
Court 2222. 250 Fifth Avenue.

There is a manufacturer who is to-day using a list of mediums reaching five million people. He began four years ago with a forty-two-line ad. in THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL. The forty-two-line outline was a tentative one, not made in any sure consciousness that it would be a good investment. Step by step this manufacturer scaled the advertising heights, until now he is greatly disappointed in not being able to buy a back cover of THE LADIES' HOME JOURNAL at five thousand dollars. He is more willing to spend this five thousand dollars as only a part of his appropriation for a month than he was to spend two hundred and fifty-two dollars when it was his entire appropriation for a year.

This shows, first, the strong, increasing consciousness on the part of a good advertiser that an advertising appropriation is a wise investment, and second, that a large expenditure is small when the full value is delivered.

NEW BUREAU WILL CONTROL MILLIONS

Congressman Cooper Introduces Bill to Systematize the Reclamation Service.

HAS PRESIDENT'S APPROVAL

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Representative Allen F. Cooper of Uniontown, Pa., today introduced in the house a bill which, if it becomes a law, will systematize the reclamation service of the government, and place it upon a sound business basis. It provides for the creation of the office of director of the reclamation service and the appointment of the director of the geological survey at the head of it. The salary of the office is to be fixed by the President, and is not to exceed $8,000 a year. He is required to submit an annual report and is to make an estimate annually of the sum of money that is to be expended out of the reclamation fund for the succeeding year for examinations and surveys, for construction, operation and maintenance and for general expenses. Also the director is required to make a report of the number of persons employed in the reclamation service in the city of Washington and elsewhere, and state the salary of each.

President Roosevelt is heartily in favor of Mr. Cooper's bill and has authorized the author of it to use his name in this connection. Speaker Cannon also favors it, as does Mr. Tawney, chairman of the committee on appropriations.

The object of this bill is to correct certain practices in the disbursement of the millions that are spent annually in reclaiming the arid lands of the west. Heretofore this money has been disbursed with the same freedom that has surrounded the expenditures of the Isthmian canal commission. The reclamation service has been ostensibly under the secretary of the interior, but it is directly under the supervision of the director of the geological survey. This bill creates a new bureau of the department of the interior, and makes the director of the geological survey the head of it. Thus he is brought under the authority of the secretary of that department, and he also is compelled to submit to congress his estimates of expenditures as are the heads of other departments.

At present there is in the United States treasury ready for the use of the reclamation service about $30,000,000, and the contracts authorized amount to fully $37,000,000. It is estimated that the total expenditures on this account will amount in the aggregate to about $300,000,000, or nearly as much as will be expended for the Isthmian canal. In disbursing this stupendous sum of money it is Mr. Cooper's idea that congress should be consulted in detail and that the head of one of the executive departments of the government should be in control.

According to the terms of the reclamation act, all of the money derived from the sale and disposal of public lands in Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming, is to be set aside and appropriated as a special fund to be used in the examination and survey for the construction and maintenance of irrigation works for the storage, diversion and development of waters for the reclamation of arid and semi-arid lands in the states and territories. Immense projects are now under way in the west and contracts are being signed each year for extending these works.

BOTH CLAIM THE HONOR.

Homestead Has Two Councilmanic Chairman and Both Are Expected to Name Committees.

Homestead municipal affairs are in a state of chaos, due to the squabble at the reorganization of Homestead councils, two men claiming to have been elected to the presidency of council. John D. Silveus, the Republican nominee, gave a complimentary vote to Frank J. Erbeck, thinking Erbeck was doing the same for him. Erbeck voted for himself and was declared elected.

Silveus secured the privilege of recasting his vote and declared himself elected. Erbeck was forcibly put out of the chair and left the chamber. Erbeck then named his committees. Silveus will follow suit.

USING METERS IN MINES.

Pittsburgh Company Books Many Large Orders—Are for Measuring Air.

The Pittsburgh Meter Company has received orders for unusually large gas meters, to be delivered to some Utah mining companies. These meters are, however, not to be used for the purpose of measuring gas, but air.

In the copper mines the air in the shafts is exceedingly bad, and in order to make it possible for employes to live underground the companies had to resort to artificial methods of bringing fresh air and proper ventilation into the shafts. As a result a number of the mining companies co-operated in the establishment of a compressed air plant. The meters measure the air and the companies will pay for the amount consumed. They are mostly of very large capacity, some of them measuring as high as 50,000 cubic feet of air an hour.

MOODY MOVES ON ELEVATOR TRUST

ACTION UNDER SHERMAN LAW

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, March 7.—On advices that federal suit was filed in San Francisco today against 31 elevator concerns, including the Otis Elevator Company, on the charge of violating the anti-trust law, Attorney General Moody said tonight:

"The United States attorney for the northern district of California has, under instructions from the attorney general, filed this bill of complaint, charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. The defendants comprise the principal elevator companies of the United States, but the operations specifically complained of have been carried on mainly in California and territory west of the Rocky mountains.

"It is charged that these companies make and sell 80 per cent of all of the elevators used in that territory, and have entered into a combination to control and enhance the prices at which elevators are sold, that the Otis Elevator Company has acquired the whole or a majority interest in the businesses of all the other defendants; that when an inquiry is received from a customer by any of the defendants it is referred to the Otis Elevator Company and, if there is no outside competition, that company designates the concern which is to get the business, fixes an excessive and exorbitant price to be charged, and directs the other companies to submit bids, apparently in good faith, but higher than the bid of the company which has been designated to receive the contract; if outside competition does appear, one of these subsidiary companies is directed to take the contract at a loss in order to freeze out the competitors.

"The bill also alleges that there are only three elevator companies not in the combination carrying on business west of the Rocky mountains, and that in order to drive them out of business and secure an absolute monopoly the Otis Elevator Company has to injure them instituted suits against them for the alleged infringement of its patents; and, when one of these independent companies secures a contract, notifies the customer of the suit for infringement, and if the customer allows the independent company to carry out the contract, he (the customer) will thereby become liable for damages for said infringement.

The United States of America is named in the suit as complainant, and the following are named as defendants, all the companies being corporations:

Otis Elevator Company, Electrical Engineering Company, Fraser Electric Elevator Company, Cahill & Hall Elevator Company, A. J. McNicholl Elevator Company, Crane Elevator Company, Standard Elevator and Manufacturing Company, Eaton & Prince Elevator Company, Smith-Hill Elevator Company, Whittier Machine Company, Stokes & Parish Elevator Company, Morse, Williams & Company, McAdams & Cartwright Elevator Company, Graves Elevator Company, Plunger Elevator Company, Sprague Elevator Company, Bloomsburg Elevtor & Machine Company, Sulzer-Vogt Machine Company, Central Iron Works Company, Moon Elevator Company, Warner Elevator Company, M. HAVE LOAD OF SCRAP IRON.

Police Arrest Five Men With 2,000 Pounds of Metal on Wagon.

In the arrest of five men last night who were making away with a wagon containing 2,000 pounds of scrap iron, the police believe they have a gang that has been systematically robbing manufacturing concerns of old metal for some time past.

The men were arrested by Lieut. C. F. Ford and Policemen John Kearns and James Joyce, and were locked up in the Penn avenue police station. They gave their names as John Nixon of 472 Thirty-third street, D. W. Keefer of 4645 Carroll street, B. Katzoff, Sam Katzoff and Jacob Kesler of 3138 Penn avenue.

When the police came upon them at the foot of Twenty-seventh street and the Allegheny Valley railroad, they showed fight, and were arrested only after a struggle. It is alleged that they had obtained the load of iron from the Union Storage Company's plant.

Keefer told the police that they had been hired to help load the wagon by Kesler, who said he had bought it.

BECOMES A MAN, GETS OVATION

"Abie" Klater Gives Away Money and Is Kissed to the Queen's Taste on Birthday.

HANDBILLS ANNOUNCE EVENT

"Twenty-three on the kissing for mine. I wonder Hobson did not take to the tall grass long before he did."

So said Abie Klater last night, after he had been literally "kissed to pieces" by a portion of the femininity of Oakland.

The young man is usually known as Leroy Abraham Klater. He lives with his parents at 3253 Ward street, Oakland. He reached the age of 21 yesterday, and to properly celebrate that event invited 21 of his young men friends to a stag dinner. But they decided to make the day a memorable one for him, and there was a sensation in Oakland yesterday when handbills were spread throughout the district announcing the fact that gold coins would be given away at 3253 Ward street between the hours of 8 and 9 p. m. And as a special attraction for the gentler sex, it was announced that "Abie," who was described as "a pretty man," would present all comers with a kiss.

Speculation was rife for a time, and those not in the secret thought probably an emulator of the illustrious Capt. Richmond Pearson Hobson had loomed up in Pittsburgh. But the curiosity seeking youth, and, it might be added, a few of the women not averse to a kiss from a young man of 21, were not slow in investigating. An army of children and females descended on the Klater home last evening.

The young man had heard rumors of what was going on and was prepared for the kids. Each one was presented with a new cent. But he is of a modest disposition, and when he found that he was expected to be a "public osculator" he made for retirement. But this was not in keeping with the ideas of his friends, and he was forcibly taken to the door where the reception given him was painful. He was pounced upon by the females, and the kissing he received will certainly give him first right to the title of "the most kissed man in Pittsburgh."

Leroy A. Klater.

The circular had also announced that "Abie" would receive proposals, and there were a few who rushed to the scene expecting to save the usual fee asked by a matrimonial agency. But that part of the agreement he positively refused to fulfill, and they left disappointed. After the excitement had subsided somewhat and the crowd had been sent away satisfied, the scheduled dinner came off, but a few belated arrivals interrupted the proceedings several times.

"If my friends intended to make the day a memorable one for me, they certainly succeeded," said Mr. Klater last night. "I have had an experience which will be fresh in my memory as long as I live."

Will Accept Dr. White's Gift.

The board of trustees of the First Methodist Episcopal church, McKeesport, has decided to accept the gift of Dr. T. L. White of McKeesport of a handsome brick residence building for a parsonage. The house is located on the site for the new theater to be erected by Dr. White. The transfer of the building to a new site will cost the church about $2,500, but the investment will net about $5,000.

RUSSIAN PEOPLE GET LESS THAN EXPECTED

Premier Witte Will Not Retire and Powers of New National Assembly Are Limited.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, March 7.—Vague as are yesterday's manifesto and ukases referring to the national assembly, they develop clearly the fact that Russia has not granted a written constitution. The cabinet remained independent of the majority in parliament.

The government believes it will control the new parliament and proposes to fight further concessions to the radical parties. Premier Witte has definitely changed his plans and will not retire on the opening of the national assembly. He had frequently declared that his task would be confined to tiding over the government till the representatives of the people were convoked, but having accomplished this task, the revolutionary storm having somewhat abated and conditions being altered, he has decided to continue at the head of the government. His decision is expected to aid in the negotiation of the new foreign loan, of which the treasury stands in urgent need.

Parliament will have no power over the ex-propriation of private lands, the compensation for which is a question which vitally affects the interests of the rich landed proprietors.

The list of electors of the city of St. Petersburg is completed and shows that there are 148,194 voters.

JEWS APPEAL TO WITTE.

They Fear a Renewal of Massacres at Easter and Receive Assurances from Russian Premier.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 7.—A deputation of Jews headed by M. Sliezberg today laid a report of outrages against the Jews before Premier Witte. They expressed fears of a renewal of massacres at Easter and insisted that only an immediate proclamation of the government's firm intention to protect life and property of Jews and to severely punish their assailants would stop the evil.

Count Witte declared that he fully realized the unfortunate position of Jews outside the law, adding that he was confident the national assembly would resolve the Jewish question justly. He advised participation in the coming elections in order that where Jews are in the majority they may send representatives to the assembly.

Pass 2-Cent-a-Mile Rate.

RICHMOND, VA., March 7.—The Churchman bill, fixing railway passenger rates at 2 cents a mile for 500 and 1,000-mile tickets, passed the house today. It has previously passed the senate, and now goes to the governor.

DOTEN-DUNTON DESKS

Some Plain Facts Concerning Both These Desks and the Company

A WORD OF ADVICE TO THOSE WANTING OFFICE FURNITURE THIS SPRING

Doten-Dunton desks are leaders in construction, design and finish. This is true, because every desk manufacturer of any importance in this country is imitating or copying this line of desks. Why? Because these desks are original, practical and artistic—a step ahead—and their great popularity among critical buyers has compelled all other desk manufacturers to bring out similar designs and they have, in so doing, paid to this line a great compliment and established the position of these goods by their imitation.

Since the Doten-Dunton Desk Company have produced a line that all other desk makers have been forced to imitate or copy, you may be interested in knowing a few facts about this company.

Mr. Doten and Mr. Dunton were both formerly connected with the Derby Desk Company, Mr. Doten as assistant manager and Mr. Dunton as superintendent of the factory. For reasons of their own, they severed their connection with the Derby Desk Company and went into business for themselves, under the name Doten-Dunton Desk Company.

They are both young men. They started in a modest way, in a small factory, with limited capital, and began to "saw wood." By their friends (?) who did not wish them to succeed, it was said they would not last six months. That was about four years ago, but they are still "sawing wood." They have made a number of improvements and additions to their factory and have today much more business than they can handle.

THE FIRST LINE OF GOODS THEY BROUGHT OUT MARKED A PERIOD IN THE HISTORY OF DESK MAKING

On the arrival of the Doten-Dunton line, other so-called high-grade desks became bak numbers, out of date and bargain counter goods, peddled all over this country at prices and discounts never before heard of among office furniture dealers. Why was this necessary? Because the public refused to take these goods, except as bargain goods, and, because, the critical buyers of high-grade goods want Doten-Dunton construction, design and finish.

Doten-Dunton desks are not counterfeited in quality and sold on the past reputation of the company, but every desk is built on honor and sold on its superior merits. The past reputation of the Doten-Dunton Desk Company is largely before them and they are building a name and reputation for honest goods in each desk that they make.

The perfectly plain ends, large panels, square edges and dull finish are Doten-Dunton characteristics, and original conceptions of what is wanted in modern up-to-date commercial furniture.

We sell these desks, because, after handling them on our floors for a year and a half, side by side with a high grade line of another make, we found them to be absolutely the best from every standpoint.

We desire to state for the benefit of those wanting office furniture this spring that the country at large is in a very prosperous condition and the larger cities are all calling loudly for goods. For this reason, the best office furniture factories, particularly the ones we represent, are all largely oversold and far behind in their shipments. We therefore strongly advise those wanting office furniture to get their specifications in and orders on file for April and May deliveries.

SCOTT'S PLAN TO REGULATE RATES

SCOTT ARGUES FOR COURT REVIEW

West Virginia Senator Declares Railroads Are Better Able to Fix Rates Than Government.

NO SERIOUS CONDITION NOW

UNITED STATES SENATOR NATHAN B. SCOTT.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 7.

Senator Scott of West Virginia spoke in opposition to the Dolliver-Hepburn rate bill today. There is a division in the senate over the question whether a rate made by the interstate commerce commission shall be suspended by the courts pending final adjudication. This was brought to the surface in a discussion participated in by Senators Scott, Clapp, Bailey and Tillman.

Senators Aldrich, Foraker, Crane and other Republicans, who are seeking to amend the bill so as to provide for judicial review of orders of the interstate commerce commission, tonight take the position that the discussion of the subject demonstrated that the friends of the measure are divided, and that the bill should not be accepted in its present form. They said they were encouraged in the position they had taken from the first and declared that when the bill is brought to a vote they will have supporters enough to adopt a court review feature. Discussing what he viewed as the wavering among the supposed friends of the Hepburn bill, Senator Aldrich declared:

"Of this much I am certain. We have our end of the schooner firmly anchored, and if we go down it will be with flying colors."

Nearing Final Action.

Opponents of thie court review feature have had prepared an amendment which has not yet been submitted, and possibly may never be. It provides for a limited review and its supporters declare it represents the extreme limits of any concessions the President would make to the faction seeking to amend the bill. In any event, it is believed, that an agreement or decision to disagree is nearer than it has been at any time since the bill was reported.

After the speeches on the rate bill the statehood bill was discussed, Senators Perkins and Spooner speaking in opposition to it as it now stands.

While the Dolliver-Hepburn rate bill was under consideration Mr. Clapp expressed doubt as to the power so as to legislate as to enforce penalties proposed by the bill, pending a review of any given finding by the courts.

Mr. Tillman and Mr. Bailey took sharp issue with this statement. The former expressed the opinion that the issue is a vital one and declared that if an order of the commission is not to be maintained until a final judicial settlement in a case is reached, it will be necessary to reform the courts.

Mr. Bailey also contended that congress can so legislate as to maintain the commission's rate until the final order of the court is issued, and to prevent interlocutory orders suspending such rates.

Mr. Scott's argument was directed mainly against the principle of the government ownership of railroads, in which he included the control of rates by the government. He admitted that there are evils connected with the railroad system of the country, but said he would not vote for the pending railroad rate bill without a provision for ample court review. In the course of his speech, Mr. Scott said:

> From an intimate relationship with railroads as a shipper for nearly 30 years, I have given this subject my consideration. As a senator of the United States I have tried to study the subject of government control from the broader standpoint of the roads and all shippers. As a consequence I am forced to the conclusion, from every standpoint, that the roads are better able to fix rates in accordance with the laws of trade than a government.
>
> As to the charge of unreasonable rates, there is practically no foundation for it. While fear is expressed that the railroad consolidations will have the effect in the future of greatly advancing rates, that question can be dealt with when it presents itself, if it ever does. Should railroads by merger attempt to limit competition and thereby lessen the opportunities for commerce, I for one, would insist on radical action.
>
> On a hard and fast system of mileage rate, such as Germany has, New York would today handle the bulk of the grain trade. Instead there are now 10 great concentrating grain markets from which radiate roads in all directions. The traffic is watched from day to day, and a rate war is the final arbitrator of differences that cannot otherwise be settled. So in every case the rates are a compromise between rival interests. As a compromise they perhaps please no one, but they are for the general good, and are the result of free, unhampered trade competition.

One of the Worst Evils.

> The handling of one shipper's product at the expense of another is one of the worst evils of railroad management today. It would be eradicated, stamped out, even if the most stringent measures are necessary to accomplish this end. The railroad, as a common carrier, must and ought of right give to each shipper his fair share of facilities. I may digress here for a moment to speak of the great coal interests of the country, and to express my belief that it is a most dangerous course for a railroad to pursue to be found as the owner of, or participating in the profits of any great tract of coal trade.
>
> I want the bill amended so that the coal operator of West Virginia can open up his mine, have that mine connected with a railroad, have his just share of cars, and thus have his product carried to the best market; so the farmer of the west can ship his surplus grain; the planter of the south dispose of his cotton, and the lumberman of the north of his timber, and that these in turn can take their share of the manufactures of the east; and so that it will be plain that the railroads shall not be owners of coal lands, grain lands, or any business enterprises, and that the small producer shall have an equal chance with the large.

He closed with declaration that while he considered the railroad men more capable of regulating rates he was willing to permit the experiment of a rate making commission to be made, because of the popular demand. He added, however:

> I am absolutely and unequivocally opposed to giving them that power without a provision for a broad and general court revision, to which the shipper and carrier can appeal when the rate designated is not fair to either. I hold to such a revision of the court since the history of the interstate commerce commission has shown, to my mind, that the power of the court to review their decisions has simply saved this country from the experience of European countries. That experience has shown that discriminations of a more serious nature than we have exist and prove conclusively that the results coming to use, had the interstate commerce commission the power to enforce its decisions would have been disastrous beyond comparison.

Mr. Clapp spoke in general support of the rate bill as reported from the committee in interstate commerce.

DR. M'CLENAHAN SPEAKS ON MUNICIPAL REFORM

An address given last night in the parish house of Trinity church, Sixth avenue, the Rev. Dr. D. A. McClenahan of Allegheny, told of conditions existing in the red light district of Allegheny. He paid his respects to everybody who had in any way crossed the path of the Allegheny Federation of Churches, which organization was so active in the campaign against Mayor-elect Kirschler. The address was the first of a series that is to be given on Wednesday evenings in the parish house, under the general head of "Civic and Social Righteousness." This course of lectures was arranged by the Rev. Dr. Alfred W. Arundel, rector of Trinity church. The subject of the lecture last night was "Municipal Reform." A small crowd greeted the speaker, who had accumulated a wealth of figures and statistics to support the argument.

According to Dr. McClenahan, there are 253 disorderly houses in Allegheny, having a population of about 1,000 women. The speaker quoted from former Chief of Detectives Roger O'Mara, who said that conditions were worse than he had supposed. Such an authority as this, the minister thought, was absolutely reliable. These places, Dr. McClenahan charged, are protected by the city, and he thinks the only way to solve the problem is to wipe them out completely.

"The Pennsylvania railroad," said the speaker, "secured the Stockton avenue strip of ground for nothing other than what they paid to councilmen who voted for the measure—after a resolution had been defeated which asked a rental of $25,000 annually from the company."

THEATERS NEXT WEEK.

Another Season of Dramatic Novilties Is Promised in the Pittsburgh Theaters.

The advance sale for Viola Allen's engagement at the Nixon theater for next week in Clyde Fitch's comedy, "The Toast of the Town," will open this morning. Miss Allen has enjoyed great success in this play in other cities. She has been provided with a role, it is said, in which she appears to extraordinary advantage.

Seats went on sale this morning for the much-talked-of engagement of Henry E. Dixey at the Belasco theater next week in "The Man on the Box," which has been written from the book of the same name. Mr. Dixey has been acknowledged America's foremost comedian, and he appears in this delightful romantic comedy to better advantage, it is said, than when he made his great hit in "Adonis."

George Ade's popular musical comedy, "Peggy From Paris," will begin a week's engagement at the Alvin on Monday night, and the famous "Henny" (bassoon song) will be heard again. Ade has written the words for 17 new songs, and J. A. Raynes has written the music. All the old song hits have been retained.

A dramatic organization under the management of Klimt and Gazzolo will present a new play, "Big-Hearted Jim," at the Empire next week. "Big-Hearted Jim" is a western comedy melodrama in which humor plays a prominent part, though the chief interest is in the deeply romantic story of Jim Saxon, sheriff of Medicine Lodge, Mont., and a school teacher of remarkable beauty who was the victim of a false marriage in her teens.

Rehearsals are now proceeding on the stage of the Grand for the presentation in that house next week of "The Circus Rider," the play selected for the engagement of Eva Taylor, Hugh J. Ward and Dennie Harris. Other features of the bill are the three Macart sisters, Leon Morris' performing dogs, ponies, bears and monkeys, Jack Norworth, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Murphy, Alice Pierce, an impersonator, and Edwin Mollenhauer, violinist.

W. S. Clark's "Jersey Lilies," announced at the Gayety next week, is rightfully classed among the few really brilliant successes in the field of musical burlesque. No attraction of this character in recent years has achieved such instantaneous popularity or won so great a measure of approval as has been accorded this delightfully clever mixture of mirth and melody.

The patrons of the Academy will have a chance next week to witness the annual engagement of the "Broadway Gayety Girls," an organization that always pleases. This year they are bigger and better than ever, with an entire change of olio specialties and two newly-written burlettas of the most diverting style.

Elmdorf's Charm.

Probably the chief charm which attaches to the "delightful hours of travel" with Dwight Elmendorf at Carnegie Music hall, is the atmosphere which he contrives to create. Dressed in the costume of the countries upon which he is talking, and gifted with wonderful powers of mimicry, he is able to make his audience see all of those picturesque personalities with whom he came in contact during his wanderings through the lands of eternal sunshine. Mr. Elmendorf has studied his countries thoroughly, not with the cold eye of the historian, but with the warm sympathy of the artist. Hence he often dwells upon the pathetic in the lives of the strange peoples with whom he has mingled.

Netz Sisters to Give Concert.

The Netz sisters' quartet, who made friends in Pittsburgh last November when they appeared as evangelist singers during the revival of the Christian church denomination, will give a concert in the Bellevue Christian church tomorrow evening. Two of the sisters are twins. Their singing has been enjoyed by large audiences everywhere. Miss Katherine Netz is said to be a reader of exceptional ability.

Address on "Transportation."

A. L. Schoyer, general superintendent of the Pennsylvania lines west, will address the students of the Carnegie Technical schools at 8:55 a. m. tomorrow on "Transportation."

Burgess Receives Black Hand Letter.

A "Black Hand" letter threatening him with death has been received by Burgess Pirl of Duquesne. The reason given for the enmity against him is that the Italians of the borough have to pay poll tax, while the Hungarians do not. Words cut from a newspaper and pasted on a sheet of brown paper form the letter. The police are investigating.

ANOTHER RISE PREDICTED.

Conditions Are Excellent for Navigation During the Month.

The rivers were slowly falling yesterday, but there is still a good stage for packet navigation, and all of the coal fleet is well on its way south. The weather bureau has predicted rain for today, and the rivermen believe by this evening there will be another rise, and it is freely predicted that the entire month will be a good one for navigation of all kinds. Other coal shipments will probably be made by the latter part of the month.

With the exception of the one barge sunk at Bakers island on Tuesday, the coal fleet is proceeding down the Ohio without mishap. Nothing has been heard from the sunken barge but it is thought the coal will be removed without any trouble. A digger is now on the scene.

There were no movements among the packets yesterday, and the wharf boats were rather quiet except for the receiving of freight.

The Ben Hur will arrive and depart today.

There will be no boat to Cincinnati until Saturday.

The Lorena from Zanesville and the Greenland from Charleston will arrive tomorrow. The Lorena will tie up here until Saturday, but the Greenland will get away Friday afternoon.

An inventory and appraisement of the assets of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet Company has been filed by Attorney George W. Acklin, the receiver. It shows wharfboats appraised at $8,390; miscellaneous equipment, $445; cash, $319 16; accounts appraised as good, $2,292, making a total of $12,095 84.

PRESIDENT HINTS AT FALSE PRETENSE

Says Resolution to Investigate Coal and Oil Rate Discriminations Amounts to Little.

SIGNS IT AND SENDS MESSAGE

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—President Roosevelt gave congress a scolding today that made the members of the senate and house feel rather cheap. After a great fuss and accompanied by sensational speeches, congress last week passed a joint resolution providing for an investigation by the interstate commerce commission of railroad discriminations and monopolies in coal and oil. Today the President reported to congress that he had signed the resolution, although he did it with hesitation because he does not believe the action of congress will amount to anything. He says the interstate commerce commission is already making an investigation of the same subjects and that it has nearly completed its work. If this latter investigation is begun the country will have the spectacle of two such inquiries proceeding at the same time relative to the same subject.

Furthermore, the President calls attention to the facts that the joint Tillman-Gillespie resolution does not empower the commission to subpoena witnesses and compel their attendance, or does it appropriate any money to pay the necessary expenses. The President recommends that these matters be provided for if it is desired to go forward with the investigation. But he reminds congress that if the inquiry is made it will make immune from criminal prosecution all those persons who are compelled to come forward and testify before the commission.

Message Causes Sensation.

When the message was read in the senate today it created a sensation. Senators listened to it with mingled feelings of resentment and amusement. The message in full follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I have signed the joint resolution "Instructing the interstate commerce commission to make examinations into the subject of railroad discriminations and monopolies in coal and oil, and report on the same from time to time." I have signed it with hesitation because in the form in which it was passed it achieves very little, and may achieve nothing; and it is highly undesirable that a resolution of this kind shall become a law in such form as to give the impression of insincerity; that is of pretending to do something which really is not done. But after much hesitation I concluded to sign the resolution because its defects can be remedied by legislation which I hereby ask for; and it must be understood that unless this subsequent legislation is granted the present resolution must be mainly, and it is possible, entirely inoperative.

Before specifying what this legislation is, I wish to call attention to one or two preliminary facts. In the first place, a part of the investigation requested by the house of representatives in the resolution adopted February 15, 1905, relating to the oil industry, and a further part having to do with the anthracite coal industry, has been for some time under investigation by the department of commerce and labor. These investigations, I am informed, are approaching completion, and before congress adjourns, I shall submit to you the preliminary reports of these investigations. Until these reports are completed the interstate commerce commission could not endeavor to carry out so much of the resolution of congress as refers to the ground thus already covered, without running the risk of seeing the two investigations conflict, and therefore render each other more or less nugatory.

In the second place, I call your attention to the fact that if an investigation of the nature proposed in this joint resolution is thoroughly and effectively conducted, it will result in giving immunity from criminal prosecution to all persons who are called, sworn and constrained by compulsory process of law to testify as witnesses; though of course such immunity from prosecution is not given to those from whom statements or information, merely, in contradistinction to sworn testimony, is obtained. This is not at all to say that such investigations should not be undertaken. Publicity can by its effect, often accomplish extraordinary results for good, and the court of public judgment may secure such results where the courts of law are powerless. There are many cases where an investigation securing complete publicity about abuses and giving congress the material on which to proceed in the enactment of laws, is more useful than a criminal prosecution can possibly be. But it should not be provided for by law without a clear understanding that it may be an alternative instead of an additional remedy; that is, that to carry on the investigation may serve as a bar to the successful prosecution of the offenses disclosed. The official body directed by congress to make the investigation must, of course, carry out its direction, and therefore, the direction should not be given without full appreciation of what it means.

Must Have Appropriation.

But the direction contained in the joint resolution which I have signed will remain almost inoperative unless money is provided to carry out the investigations in question, and unless the commission in carrying them out is authorized to administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses. As the resolution is, the commission, which is very busy with its legitimate work, and which has no extra money at its disposal, would be able to make the investigation only in the most partial and unsatisfactory manner; and, moreover, it is questionable whether it could, under this resolution, administer oaths at all or compel the attendance of witnesses. If this power were disputed by the parties investigated the investigation would be held up for a year or two, until the courts passed upon it, in which case, during the period of waiting, the commission could only investigate to the extent and in the manner already provided under its organic law, so that the passage of the resolution would have achieved no good result whatever.

I accordingly recommend to congress the serious consideration of just what they wish the commission to do, and how far they wish it to go, having in view the possible incompatibility of conducting an investigation like this and of also proceeding criminally in a court of law, and furthermore, that a sufficient sum, say $50,000, be at once added to the current appropriation for the commission, so as to enable them to do the work indicated in a thorough and complete manner; while at the same time the power is explicitly conferred upon them to administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses in making the investigation in question, which covers work quite apart from their usual duties. It seems unwise to require an investigation by a commission and then not to furnish either the full legal power or the money, both of which are necessary to render the investigation effective.

GRAND OPERA FETE.

Today Marks Close of Season Sale for Pittsburgh—Will be Here Full Week.

This is the last day of the season sale for the Pittsburgh season of grand opera. The close of the season subscription sale does not mean that no more season tickets will be sold, but that the deluge of subscriptions for one, two, three, four and five performances which has been pouring into the Conried office through the mails ever since February 19, must be taken care of, and seats chosen for those who have been among the legion who ordered their seats that way.

After today's sale the time between this and next Monday, the day the public single seat sale opens at the Conried office in the Nixon building, will be passed in selecting seats for the season and single ticket patrons who have already ordered, and in preparing for the big sale on Monday. The week of March 26 will inaugurate the most notable season of grand opera that has ever been given here. It will be the week of Caruso, Knote, Burgstaller, Dippel, Scotti, Campanari, Plancon, Van Rooy, Goritz, Blass, Hertz, Vigna, Franko, and of Sembrich, Eames, Fremstad, Walker, Rappold, Abott, Jacoby, Alten, Abarbanell, Froelich, and the host of brilliant singers who surround the stars—in a word, it will be a season of surpassing musical festival.

Palmer Wants to Go to Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—(Special.)—W. S. Palmer of Sharon, member of the legislature from Mercer county, is a candidate for the state senate from that district. Mr. Palmer has written to friends in Washington asking for their support. He is general secretary of the Protected Home circle, an insurance organization of unusual strength.

IN PERIL OF HIS LIFE

BY EMILE GABORIAU

"The fearful idea that you could doubt of your paternity had never even occurred to me."

The marquis shook his head. "Still it was so," he replied. "I have suffered terribly. I loved Jacques. Yes, in spite of all, in spite of myself, I loved him. Had he not all the qualities which are a father's pride and joy? Was he not generous and noble-hearted, open to all lofty sentiments, affectionate, and always anxious to please me? I never had to complain of him. And even lately, during that abominable war, did he not show his courage, and valiantly earn the cross they gave him? At all times, and from all sides, I have been congratulated on his account. People have praised his talents and his assiduity. Alas! at the very moment when they told me what a happy father I was, I was the most wretched of men. How many times would I not have drawn him to my heart had not that horrible doubt risen within me—'if he should not be my son.' And then I pushed him back, and looked in his face for a trace of another man's features."

By the time the marquis had finished speaking his wrath had cooled down, perhaps by reason of its excess. He felt a certain tenderness in his heart, and sinking into his chair, and hiding his face in his hands, he murmured—"If he should be my son, however; if he should be innocent! Ah, this doubt is intolerable! And I who would not move from here—I who have done nothing for him—I might have done everything at first. It would have been easy for me to obtain a change of venue to free him from this Galpin-Daveline, formerly his friend, and now his enemy."

M. de Boiscoran was right when he said his wife's pride was unmanageable. And yet, cruelly wounded as she was, she suppressed her pride and, thinking only of her son, remained quite humble. Drawing from her bosom the letter which Jacques had sent to her the day before she left Sauveterre, she handed it to her husband, saying, "Will you read what our son says?"

The marquis' hand trembled as he took the letter. After a short pause, he opened it and read. "Do you forsake me too, father, when everybody forsakes me? And yet I have never needed your love as much as now. The peril is imminent. Everything is against me. Never has such a combination of fatal circumstances been seen before. I may not be able to prove my innocence; but you—you surely cannot think your son guilty of such a monstrous and heinous crime? Oh, no! surely not. My mind is made up. I shall struggle to the bitter end. To my last breath I shall defend, not my life, but my honor. Ah, if you but knew! But there are things which cannot be written, and which only a father can be told. I beseech you, come to me, let me see you, let me hold your hand in mine. Do not refuse this last and greatest comfort to your unhappy son."

The marquis started up. "Oh, yes, very unhappy indeed!" he said. And, bowing to his wife, he added, "I interrupted you. Now, pray tell me all."

Maternal love conquered womanly resentment. Without a shadow of hesitation, and as if nothing had taken place, the marchioness gave her husband a full account of Jacques' statement just as it was made to M. Magloire!

The marquis seemed amazed. "This is unheard of!" he said. And, when his wife had finished, he added—"Then that was the reason why Jacques was so very angry when you spoke of inviting the Countess de Claudieuse, and why he told you that, if he saw her enter at one door, he would walk out of the other. We did not understand his aversion."

In less than a minute the most contradictory resolutions seemed to flit across the marquis' countenance. He evidently hesitated, but at last he said. "Whatever can be done to make up for the past inaction, shall now be done. I will go to Sauveterre. Jacques must be saved. M. de Margeril is all-powerful. Go to him. I permit it. I beg you will do so."

The eyes of the marchioness filled with tears, hot tears, the first she had shed since the beginning of this scene. "Do you not see," she asked, "that what you wished me to do is now impossible? Anything, yes, anything in the world but that. But Jacques and I—we are innocent. God will have pity on us. M. Folgat will save us."

CHAPTER XVIII.

M. Folgat was already at work. He had confidence in his case, a firm conviction of his client's innocence, a desire to solve the mystery, a love contention, and an intense thirst for success; all reasons to stimulate his activity. And, above all this, Denise had inspired him with a mysterious and indefinable sentiment. Indeed, he had succumbed to her charms, like everybody else. It was not love, for love means hope; and he knew perfectly well that Denise belonged to Jacques for ever. It was a sweet, and all-powerful sentiment which had seized hold of him and made him wish to devote himself to her, and to count for something to her life and happiness. It was for her sake that he had sacrificed all his business, and forgotten his clients, in order to stay at Sauveterre. It was for her sake, above all, that he wished to save Jacques.

He had no sooner arrived at the Paris terminus, and left the Marchioness de Boiscoran in old Anthony's care, than he jumped into a cab, and had himself driven to his house, where, having sent a telegram the day before, his servant was ready waiting for him. He made a hasty toilette and then returned to his vehicle, being determined to start at once in search of the man, who, he thought, was most likely to be able to fathom the mystery. This was an individual named Goudar, who was connected with the police department in some capacity or other, and who enjoyed an income large enough to render him very comfortable. He was one of those agents whom the authorities employ for specially delicate tasks—such as require great tact and keen scent, an intrepidity beyond all doubt, and imperturbable self-possession.

M. Folgat had had opportunities of knowing and appreciating Goudar in connection with the famous case of the Mutual Discount Society, when he was instructed to track the cashier who had fled, leaving a deficit of several millions. Goudar had caught him in Canada, after pursuing him for three months all over America; but, on the day of his arrest, the cashier had only some 40,000 francs on him. What had become of the millions? When he was questioned, he said he had spent them. He had gambled in stocks, he had been unfortunate, etc.; and everybody believed him, excepting Goudar. Stimulated by the promise of a magnificent reward, the latter began his campaign once more; and, in less than six weeks, he had secured 1,600,000 francs which the cashier had deposited in London with a woman of doubtful character.

The story was well known, though the general public had always remained ignorant of the genius and fertility of resources and expedients which Goudar displayed in obtaining such a success. M. Folgat, however, was fully aware of the detective's merit; for he had been counsel of the stockholders of the Mutual Discount Society; and he had always thought that, if ever the opportunity offered, he would employ this marvelously skilful man.

Goudar, who was married, and had a child, lived out of the world, on the road to Versailles, not far from the fortifications. He occupied with his family a small house of his own—a veritable philosopher's home, with a little garden in front, and a large one behind, in which latter he raised vegetables and fruit, and bred all kinds of animals. For it is a remarkable fact that police agents who constantly have to rake among the dungheaps of society, love the country, and, no doubt disgusted with man, are passionately fond of flowers and animals.

When M. Folgat stepped out of the vehicle he had hired, in front of this pleasant home, a graceful young woman of 25, with a fresh, healthy face, was playing in the front garden with a pretty little girl some 3 or 4 years old. "M. Goudar, madam?" asked M. Folgat, raising his hat.

The young woman blushed slightly, and answered modestly, but without embarrassment, and in a most pleasing voice, "My husband is in the garden behind; you will easily find him, if you will walk down this path to the back of the house."

The young advocate followed the direction, and soon saw his man at a distance with an old straw hat on his head, slippers on his feet, and a huge blue apron fastened behind him. Goudar was perched half way up a ladder, busily engaged in slipping horse-hair bags over a number of magnificent bunches of chasselas grapes, hanging from a trellis running along the wall. Hearing the gravel grate under the footsteps of the new-comer, he instantly turned his head, and exclaimed, "Why, it's M. Folgat! Good-morning sir!"

The young advocate was not a little surprised to see himself immediately recognized. He should certainly not have known the detective, for it was more than three years since they had seen each other; and how often had they seen each other then? Twice, and not an hour each time. It is true that Goudar was one of those men whom nobody remembers. Of medium height, he was neither stout nor thin, neither dark nor light-haired, neither young nor old. A clerk in a passport office would certainly have written him down thus: Forehead ordinary; nose ordinary; mouth ordinary; eyes, neutral color; special marks, none. It could not be said that he looked stupid; but neither did he look intelligent. Everything in him was ordinary, indifferent and undecided. Not one marked feature. He would necessarily pass unobserved, and be forgotten as soon as he had passed. "You find me busy securing my crops for the winter," he said to M. Folgat. "A pleasant job. However, I am at your service. Let me put the three bunches into their three bags, and I'll come down to you." This was the work of an instant; and, as soon as he reached the ground, he turned to the young advocate and asked: "Well, and what do you think of my garden?"

Then without waiting for a reply he begged M. Folgat to visit his domain, and with all a landowner's enthusiasm, he proceeded to praise the flavor of the duchess pears, the bright colors of his dahlias, the new arrangements in his poultry yard and rabbit house, not forgetting the beauty of his pond, with its ducks of all colors and varieties. In his heart, M. Folgat cursed this enthusiasm; for time was being lost. But when you expect a man to do you a service, you must at least flatter his weak side. Accordingly the young advocate did not spare his praises—he even pulled out his cigar case, and, still with the view of winning the detective's good graces, he offered it to him, saying, "Will you accept one?"

"Thanks! I never smoke," replied Goudar. And seeing the astonishment of the advocate, he added, "At least not at home. I am inclined to think my wife dislikes the smell of tobacco."

Positively, if M. Folgat had not known the man, he would have taken him for some simple inoffensive retired grocer, and, bowing to him politely, would have taken his leave. But he had seen him at work, knew his capacity, and was anxious to profit by it; thus he followed him to his greenhouse, melon house and marvelous asparagus beds.

At last, however, Goudar conducted his guest to the end of the garden, to an arbor furnished with seats, saying: "Now let us sit down, and tell me your business; for I know you did not come solely for the pleasure of seeing my domain."

Goudar was one of those men who have heard in their lives more confessions than 10 priests, 10 lawyers and 10 doctors all together. You could tell him everything. Without a moment's hesitation, therefore, and without a break, M. Folgat related the whole story of Jacques' intrigue with the Countess de Claudieuse. The detective listened, without saying a word, without moving a muscle in his face. When the lawyer had finished, he simply ejaculated: "Well?"

"First of all," replied M. Folgat, "I should like to hear your opinion. Do you believe M. de Boiscoran's statement?"

"Why not? I have seen much stranger cases than that."

"Then you think, that in spite of the evidence against him, we must believe in his innocence?"

"Pardon me, I think nothing at all. Why, you must study a matter before you can give an opinion." He smiled; and, looking at the young advocate, he added, "But why all these preliminaries? What do you want of me?"

"Your assistance to arrive at the truth."

The detective evidently expected something of the kind. After a minute's reflection, he looked fixedly at M. Folgat, and said: "If I understand you correctly, you would like to begin a counter-investigation for the benefit of the defense?"

"Exactly."

"And unknown to the prosecution?"

"Precisely."

"Well, I cannot possibly serve you."

The young advocate was prepared for a certain amount of resistance; and he had thought of the means to overcome it. "That is not your final decision, my dear Goudar!" he said.

"Pardon me. I am not my own master. I have my duty to fulfill and my daily occupations to attend to."

"You can at any time obtain leave of absence for a month."

"So I might; but they would certainly wonder at such a furlough at headquarters. They would probably have me watched; and if they found out that I was doing police work for private individuals, they would scold me grievously, and deprive themselves henceforth of my services."

"Oh!"

"There is no 'oh!' about it. They would do what I tell you, and they would be right; for after all what would become of us, and what would become of the safety and liberty of us all, if any one could come and use the agents of the police for his private purposes? And what would become of me if I should lose my place?"

"M. de Boiscoran's family is very rich, and they would prove their gratitude magnificently to the man who saved him."

"And if I did not save him? And if, instead of gathering proof of his innocence I should only meet with more evidence of his guilt?"

The objection was so well founded, that M. Folgat preferred not to discuss it. "I might," he said, "hand you at once; and as a retainer, a considerable sum, which you could keep, whatever the result might be."

"What sum? A hundred napoleons? Certainly a hundred napoleons are not to be despised; but what would they do for me if I were turned out? I have somebody besides myself to think of. I have a wife and child: and my whole fortune consists of this little cottage, which is not even entirely paid for. My place is not a gold mine; but, with the special rewards which I receive, it brings me, good years and bad years, 7,000 or 8,000 francs, and I can lay by two or three thousand."

The young lawyer stopped him by a friendly gesture, and said, "If I were to offer you 10,000 francs?"

"If I offered you 15,000?"

Goudar made no reply, but his eyes spoke.

"M. de Boiscoran's is a most interesting case," continued M. Folgat, "and such as does not often occur. The man who exposed the errors of the accusation would make a great reputation for himself."

"Would he make friends also at the public prosecution office?"

"I admit he wouldn't."

The detective shook his head. "Well, I confess," he said, "I do not work for glory, nor from the love of my art. I know very well that vanity is the great motive-power with some of my colleagues; but I am more practical. I have never liked my profession: and if I continue to practice it, it is because I have not the money to go into any other. It drives my wife to despair, besides; she is only half alive as long as I am away; and she trembles every morning for fear I may be brought home with a knife between my shoulders."

M. Folgat had listened very attentively, but at the same time he had produced a pocketbook which looked decidedly plethoric. "With 15,000 francs," he said, "a man may do something."

SLEEP DESTROYER.

The Old Fashioned Coffee.

She suffered from nervousness by day and sleeplessness by night.

"Up to three years ago," writes a young woman, "I was in the habit of drinking coffee freely and did not realize that it was injuring my health till I was suddenly made the victim of nervous headaches so violent that I was compelled to give up household activities and stay in bed much of the time. Then insomnia came upon me and the wretchedness of sleepless nights was added to the agony of painful days.

"This lasted till a year ago, when I was persuaded by a friend to give up coffee entirely and use Postum Food Coffee. The result was, in less than a week I began to feel the change for the better, my nerves grew stronger and I began to sleep a little. Day by day the improvement continued and in a short time I was restored to health. My headaches left me, the nervousness passed away entirely and I enjoy good, sound sleep every night.

"This is what I owe to Postum, and I feel it but right to tell you of it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

POPULAR CONCERT.

There is a great interest in the popular concert the Pittsburgh orchestra will give in Allegheny Carnegie hall on Saturday evening. The entire orchestra of 65, under Mr. Paur's direction, will participate, and the program is one of the finest the orchestra has given anywhere this season, being entirely from the works of Wagner. Dan Beddoe, the well-known tenor, will be the soloist and will sing the Prize song from "Die Meistersinger," and Siegmund's Love song from "Die Walkure."

There has been a large demand for tickets for this concert, but there is still a good choice to be had at 50 cents. Admission tickets at 25 cents will be sold on the day of the concert.

Among them are all-wool unfinished worsteds, Venetian cloths, Thibets, cheviots and clay worsteds—the finer suits hand-tailored in every particular, with hand-turned and felled edge collars, hand-made button holes, hand-shaped shoulders, the finest interlinings and every other good point of superior tailoring. The Overcoats, Topcoats and Raincoats in black are correspondingly good. You'll find regulation $30, $28, $25, $22, $20, $18, $15, $12 and $10 Black and Blue Suits and Black Overcoats, divided into three great groups to sell

THE NEW OVERGARMENTS—Swellest among them and the newest are the French form-fitting Coats, with long extended vents, velvet collars to match the cloths in color, peak lapels, flap pockets and the close-fitting effects at the waist which give the skirts the wide flare which distinguishes these garments from the three-quarter lengths of other seasons. The gray shades will be particularly popular this season.

THE NEW SPRING SUITS are in sight, too, for the first time—the supreme chance of the men who win the reputation of being fine dressers by being the first to exploit the new styles.

LEW FLEMING IS APPOINTED

Member of the Handicap Committee of the Interstate Association.

NEW LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED

The Pittsburgh shooting fraternity was honored last Monday by the appointment of Lew B. Fleming as a member of the handicap committee of the Interstate association. He succeeds the late lamented Will K. Park, who died some weeks ago. Park was a prominent man in the shooting world, and his place will be ably filled by Mr. Fleming, who is one of the best shots in the country. The handicap committee of the Interstate association now consists of Elmer E. Shaner, chairman, Pittsburgh, Pa.; B. Waters, New York, N. Y.; C. M. Powers, Decatur, Ill.; W. D. Townsend, Omaha, Neb.; L. B. Fleming, Pittsburgh, Pa.

At a meeting of the gun clubs of Western Pennsylvania the Western Pennsylvania Trap Shooters' league was organized for the season of 1906. The following clubs were represented: Ambridge Gun club, Mt. Albion Gun club, Herron Hill Gun club, North Side Gun club, East End Gun club, Irwin Rod and Gun club, Canonsburg Gun club, Carnegie Gun club, Brownsville Gun club, Ruffsdale Gun club, Millvale Gun club, Sewickley Gun club, McKeesport Gun club. In addition to these clubs many more have made application for membership and it is expected that fully 15 clubs will be represented during the coming season.

By subscriptions advertisements in programs, etc., the league expects to raise in the neighborhood of $500, which will be divided equally among the different clubs, which will hold tournaments and enable them to offer good added money to the program at no expense to themselves. This surplus cash and profit made on targets trapped will not, as is usually the case, be given to the better shots, but instead will be divided pro rata among the contestants who shoot through the program and fail to win their entrance. Of course, those who participate in this division of money must be members of some gun club which belongs to the league. This plan of dividing the money will undoubtedly appeal to the poorer shots and it is confidentially expected that the coming season will be by far the best in the history of trap shooting in Western Pennsylvania.

Gun clubs desiring to join the league are requested to make application to Louis Lautenslager, 623 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh, Pa.

American Association Meeting March 11.

CHICAGO, March 7.—George Tebeau, chairman of the board of directors of the American Baseball association, has called a meeting of the association for Sunday, March 11, at the Grand Pacific hotel in this city.

GEORGE YOUNG,

PFEIFER TO MANAGE BEAVER FALLS ATHLETICS

Harry E. Pfeifer, the crack catcher of the Kiski school team and of the Pittsburgh Collegians last year, has been engaged to captain and manage the Beaver Falls Athletics this season. He will do most of the catching. Pfeifer is the youngster who made such a sensation on the independent circuit last year, with the Collegians by his hitting. He is booking games and good teams should address him at box 255, Rochester, Pa.

There is a letter at this office for Harry McChesney.

Jimmy Harkins, the local thirdbaseman, denies being the person who started a fist fight over politics in the West End the other evening. He admits being in a scrap, but says he was dragged into it by being struck first. Harkins is a very peaceful person on the diamond, and his friends are inclined to believe that he did not start the trouble, as was alleged.

A telegram from the east says that Bert Conn, the first baseman of last year's champion Providence team of the Eastern league, must have been "kidding" York, for he has signed a contract with the New York Americans.

Bob Unglaub, the Boston American utility man who has signed with Williamsport, insists that Crisfield, Md., is the best place in the world to train and he wants the Williamsport club to go there for that purpose.

Johnstown, Altoona and Lancaster are the only clubs in the Tri-State which have not given out the names of all their players. The names of Johnstown's old men and a few of the new ones, however, have been announced.

Mike O'Neill has finally attached his name to a York contract. In Hayden, O'Neill and Clay York will have the heaviest hitting outfield in the Tri-State.

Kicked out of the Tri-State because of alleged treachery and being turned down by the Eastern league, the Wilmington baseball promoters are nurturing a city league. This is the only course left open to them for this season at least.

"Buttons" Briggs, late of Chicago, and recently transferred to Brooklyn, threatens to join the Williamsport Tri-Staters unless Donovan meets the salary offered him by Williamsport.

If the California league jumps organized baseball it will complicate the dealings of the national association with the Tri-State. It is extremely probable that the two "outlaws" will then stand or fall together and that a merry war will be on.

Lew Wiltse will in all probability join the York team again. The story circulated to the effect that York has thrown him down seems to be entirely without foundation.

Earl Russell was able to leave his room yesterday. He was at Duquesne garden to take in the hockey game. He says he is through with baseball.

AMATEUR BASEBALL.

Red Watchorn, who made a good showing last year with the champion Shaner A. C. of the County league, has not signed with any team for this coming season. He can be reached care of this office.

The Imperial Athletic club will be in line to play 9-year-old teams. They line up as follows: Weber, catcher; Roerich, pitcher; Robertson, short; Pritchard, first; O'Mara, second; Deegan, third; Schmitt, right; Habich, left; Frazier, middle; Hagan, substitute. Address J. Deegan, 96 Compromise street, Nunnery Hill, Allegheny.

The Beauty A. C. has secured enclosed grounds and would like to hear from all teams in the 14-year-old class. Address Beauty A. C., West End, city.

HIGH SCHOOL BEATS THE PREPS

The Pittsburgh High school five beat the Allegheny Prep school team on the prep floor last night, 40 to 25. In the first half prep was completely outplayed, the score for that half being 22-7. In the second half Prep struck its gait and the score for that period was a stand-off, each side making 18 points. For Prep Worcester was the star. Van Gorder, Rosser and Gass played a fast game for Pittsburgh. Gass played Worcester even. The line-up:

A. P. S.—25.		P. H. S.—40.

At Princeton the promising freshmen are Dillon of Andover, the clever little quarterback on last year's football eleven; Meyers of Mercersburg; Heyniger of Lawrenceville, Jones and Vaughn of Exeter; Sides of Brooklyn, High and Warwick of Princeton preps. The men who played on last year's team who are still in college and eligible are Capt. Reid, McLean, Cooney, C. Bard, L. Doyle, Byram, D. Doyle and Gray. These men will be called out next week to begin work in the cage.

STATE COLLEGE, March 7.—(Special.)—Capt. McIlveen and Coach "Pop" Golden have reduced the original baseball squad of 80 to about 35 in order to give the most promising material more time to develop. In view of the fact that State's first game is hardly a month off, and several very important positions remain to be filled, the coaches are having their troubles. Jimmie Sebring has been engaged to assist in the coaching, and will be here this week. The weather has been exceptionally mild the past week, and the candidates for the outfield have had an opportunity for outdoor work. The secondbase proposition is still a puzzle, although there are some likely looking candidates. With one or two exceptions none have had much experience at second, but have played other positions. Just at present the ones that are showing up well are Yeckley, Mullen, Newton and Mahaffey.

While the armory is large enough for infield practice, it is hard to get a line on a man's ability from indoor work. On this account the batting ability of the men has been the main point so far. Mullen, who was showing up well, last week had a finger broken, and for awhile, at least, will be out of the running. The first base struggle has about narrowed down to two men, Ross and McGee, both of whom are good men and have had varsity experience. Stand, an Allegheny boy, is showing up strong behind the bat and will likely be "Dutch" Killmer's assistant. "Pop" Thompson, center fielder on last year's team, who was not in school the first semester on account of illness, has returned, and it is assured that center field will be well taken care of. Besides Thompson and Moorhead, both old men, Ingram and Luther look best for the other position. On account of his hitting ability, Capt. McIlveen has played the outfield when not pitching heretofore, but with the hard schedule this year he will more than likely rest between games.

Georgetown university cancelled last week, leaving an open date in the middle of the southern trip, and Manager Joe Himes has secured the Washington A. W. team for the date.

NEW WILMINGTON, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Westminster Athletic association today, Richard Mitchell, '07, of New Wilmington, was elected basketball manager for the season 1906-7. At the same meeting J. W. Everhart, '06, of Sharon, was elected assistant baseball manager, and J. C. Campbell, '08, of McKeesport, was elected assistant football manager for 1906.

The Powell bill, making the game of football illegal in Virginia, came up on a special order in the house of delegates at Richmond, Va., Tuesday. Dr. Powell made an earnest appeal for the bill. He denounced the game as worse than bull fighting and ring encounters. Delegate Early, formerly center rush on the University of Virginia team, replied to Dr. Powell's argument. He denied that the game was brutal and read statistics bearing on the subject. "I stand here, a living monument to the healthful effects of the football game," he proclaimed. As he stood at his desk, expanding his chest and drawing up his athletic figure to its full height, Dr. Powell pointing a long finger at the ex-center rush, queried: "Now, honest, how many men did you kill?" A roar of laughter went up from the house. Delegate Early provoked another outburst when he answered the physician's question with this retort: "I won't ask you, doctor, how many men you've killed." The house refused to advance the bill to its third reading by an overwhelming vote.

WILKINSBURG IS RETURNED WINNER

Defeats East Liberty Academy in a Scrappy Game by Three Goals to None.

The Wilkinsburg High school seven took on steam early, and by maintaining it to the end defeated the East Liberty academy team in a championship interscholastic hockey league game yesterday afternoon at Duquesne garden, 3 to 0. Williams shot all the goals for Wilkinsburg, getting two in the first half.

Both teams had their strongest line up on the ice. Don McKaig, formerly of the Lawrenceville school, who two years ago was picked for an All-Eastern Prep. school eleven, played cover point for East Liberty, and Bobby Robertson point. They are students at East Liberty now. Thounhurst played cover point for Wilkinsburg. Wilkinsburg had been weak on the defense all season, but yesterday it had a good one in Thounhurst, who played a strong game, and injected ginger into the other players. Messner played a good game, too.

The contest was enlivened in the second half by two scraps. Thounhurst and Ray McAllister engaged in a bumping match, but Referee Clarence Overend sent them to the bench. McAllister was hardly on the ice again until he was mixed up in a scrap with Messner. Messner laid his club on McAllister's head and then walloped him over the ear, cutting it open.

On the face-off Williams shot the puck into the East Liberty territory, and rushed it up to the cage, where a scrimmage ensued, Bein passing to Williams who shot goal. Wymard rushed the rubber up, and Williams shot again. Williams negotiated the third in the last half by shooting from a face-off in front of the cage. Ross made two pretty stops on shots from Mueller and McAllister. The line-up:

Low	P	Carter
Thounhurst	C.P	McKaig

Williams	C	McAllister

South Pittsburgh league—Southern vs. Senators, on Southern alleys.

Diocesan league—St. Joseph vs. St. Charles; St. Henry vs. St. Anthony.

One of the most important matches of the season in the Pittsburgh section, took place last night on the Brunswick alleys between the Unitys and the champion Brunswicks. The Unitys won two out of three games and thereby tied with the Ungers for first honors in the Pittsburgh section. Last night's game was interesting to the many spectators and participants, but the scores were not up to the standard for such an important match. The champions won the first game, but fell by the wayside in the next two. Unity got stronger as the game progressed, they getting 833 in the first game and winding up in the last game with the best score of the contest, 876. Austin Smith was the star, with two 200 scores, the high score, 212, and the good average, 196 2-3. For the Brunswicks Hanman was the boss bowler, with high score and good average of 187 1-3. MURDER IS STILL CHARGED BY TENNYS

Dr. Crowley Says He Was Not Called to Examine the Dead Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., March 7.—(Special.)—The mother of Harry Tennebaum, who died after his fight a week ago, insists on charging murder against every person connected with the Neil-Tenny contest. Since the fight it has been found that the certificate purporting to be signed by a physician, testifying to the fighter's condition before he entered the ring, was worthless, written by some unknown person, it is declared, and that the fighter never had passed a physical examination.

Dr. Crowley says he was called to treat the dead boxer three days before the battle. He found "Tenny" weakened by loss of blood, as well as emaciated by an intestinal complaint. He frankly says the boy was in no condition to fight.

In view of these circumstances Mrs. Tennebaum is determined the death of her son shall be avenged. The law is specific and provides a heavy penalty for failure to examine fighters before ring battles.

We Are Distillers

We are the originators of selling whiskey direct from distiller to consumer. Our success has bred many imitators, who call themselves distillers. They are simply dealers who don't distill a drop of whiskey and have no connection with an active distillery. For proof see list of distillers in U. S. Government Reports. You'll find HAYNER in that list, but you won't find any of our imitators.

Our distillery at Troy, Ohio, is one of the most modern and best equipped in the world. We distill an average of 9,580 gallons of PURE HAYNER WHISKEY a day, all of which is sold direct to consumers at the distiller's price. When you buy from us you are sure of getting PURE WHISKEY and you also save the dealers' big profits.

The dates and places of the contest have not yet been decided upon, except that the challenge round will be played at Wimbledon.

INSURANCE MEN ARE STIRRED UP

Return of Andrew Hamilton to the United States Results in Meeting of Officials.

SUITS MAY BE ENTERED TODAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 7.—The unexpected return to this country yesterday of Andrew Hamilton, the legislative agent for several large insurance companies, whose name was prominently mentioned in connection with the recent legislative investigation, resulted today in several conferences between officials of the New York Life Insurance Company and the company's legal representatives. Hiram R Steele, a member of the New York Life house cleaning committee said today that Hamilton's return would mean the speedy bringing of suit for the return of nearly a $1,000,000 spent by Hamilton while he was employed by the New York Life to watch legislation and taxation.

President Alexander E. Orr, Secretary John C. McCall, Vice President Darwin T Kingsley and other executive officers of the New York Life held a special meeting today.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 7.—John G Milburn, attorney for the trustees of the New York Life Insurance Company, to bring suits aginst the McCall estate and Andrew Hamilton for the return of the money alleged to have been fraudulently taken from the company today expressed surprise and delight at the return of Hamilton to New York. He said: "I shall shall return to New York city tonight and there will be no delay in prosecuting the suit."

Mr. Milburn said he would not bring criminal suits against Hamilton, as that is the duty of the district attorney.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 7.—Senator Armstrong, chairman of the insurance investigating committee, today expressed the opinion that the comitee would make no attempt to call Andrew Hamilton before it. He said the calling of Hamilton or any one else to testify, now, would not assist in perfecting the legislation requested by the committee and now pending. The return of Hamilton to his home here was the chief topic of interest and conversation in the legislature and throughout the city today. He had nothing to say for publication.

FRANKFORT, KY., March 7.—The Kentucky house of representatives today by unanimous vote passed a bill providing for an annual accounting and distribution by all life insurance companies doing business in the stae of Kentucky.

THREE SITES ARE NEAR THE $1,000,000 LIMIT

Congressman Burke Will Get Hearing Before Committee on Buildings and Grounds Next Week.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, March 7.—No definite time has yet been set for a second hearing before the house committee on public buildings and grounds relative to a new postoffice for Pittsburgh, but Representative James Francis Burke has an understanding with Chairman Bartholdt that before the public building bill is framed he will be permitted to talk to the committee on the question of a site.

Mr. Burke is receiving suggestions as to possible sites for the building, and today Samuel W. Black wired him of three that are available, two of which are within the million-dollar limit. One is the square bounded by Ross street, Water street, the Panhandle railroad and First avenue, 70,000 square feet, which can be had for about $950,000. Another is the square within Eleventh and Twelfth streets, Liberty and Penn avenues, 60,000 square feet, $1,000,000. The third is bounded by Tunnel and High streets, Webster and Wylie avenues, 70,000 square feet, the price of which would be about $1,200,000.

The public building bill will not be drafted until next week. The committee goes to Boston on Friday, which is the last trip it will take. After that there will be conferences with the house leaders as to the total appropriations. At present it is believed the limit will be about $15,000,000.

THE WESTERN AMATEUR EVENT IS BROADENED

Any Golfer Playing for the Olympian Team Cup Is Eligible to Compete.

CHICAGO, March 7.—The scope of the Western Amateur Golf Championship tournament to be decided this year at the Glen Echo Country club, St. Louis, has been broadened so that any team participating in the Olympian team cup championship is eligible to compete for the amateur championship. This was decided upon today by the directors of the Western Golf association, who met at the Grand Pacific hotel, and decided upon the various dates of the different tournaments to be held under the jurisdiction of the association. Heretofore the Western Amateur Championship tourney has been confined to clubs which were members of the Western Golf association, but as the Olympian team cup championship is open to any team representing any recognized golf club in either the United States or Canada, the change in rules governing the play for the cup makes the Western Amateur tournament practically a national affair.

June 19-23 were the dates selected by the directors for the amateur tournament and June 18 for the Olympian cup championship. The play for the Olympian cup will be over the course of the Glen Echo Country course.

The open championship will be decided June 14-15 at Homewood. No dates were named for the Marshall Field cup championship.

TRY TO BURN BIG SCHOOL.

Incendiaries attempted to burn the $60,000 12-room public school building at School and Vance streets, Corapolis, early yesterday morning by pouring oil over the basement walls and setting fire to it but the fire burned itself out after consuming the basement partitions, which can be replaced for about $100. Chief of Police Joseph Bannon found in the basement a large oil can which had recently contained oil, and there was oil on the cement floor in the basement. When Janitor John Coffee arrived to open the school building at 7 o'clock he found the lower rooms filled with smoke, but discovered the fire had burned itself out before turning in a fire alarm.

The school is a brick structure, covering nearly an acre and is valued at $60,000. It houses the public school pupils as well as high school scholars.

EXPRESS IN FATAL WRECK.

Girl Is Killed and Her Mother and Three Passengers Are Badly Hurt.

SARATOGA, N. Y., March 7.—A rear-end collision with an express on the Delaware & Hudson railroad here today resulted in one death and severe injuries to several passengers on the train which is known as the Lake George special. Miss Esmond, aged 10, of Gansevoort, was instantly killed. Her mother, Mrs. Charles Esmond, aged 40, received injuries that are likely to prove fatal.

Frank Sindecuse of Buffalo, a traveling salesman, suffered the loss of a leg. Frank Teise of Albany was injured internally. Nelson M. Varney of Sandy Hill had his right hand and arm crushed, and received internal injuries. Berton B. Bowney, a traveling salesman of Saratoga, was cut about the head and may lose an eye. George Foster Peabody was in the train but escaped injury.

That the list of killed and injured is so small is attributed to the fact that many persons in the local train had left the train to walk to the depot.

HARRY DAVIS TO AMUSE QUAKERS

Buys Corner at Eighth and Market Streets, Philadelphia, for $380,000.

MOVING PICTURES PROPOSED

The pious inhabitants of the Quaker City are to have a chance to view the wonders of the moving picture world on a magnificent scale. Harry Davis has decided to invade Philadelphia and establish a line of amusements which will be second to none in the country. For this purpose he has purchased from Felix Isman a building 21x160 feet, at the southeast corner of Eighth and Market streets, for $380,000. The building is directly opposite Gimbel Bros.' immense department store ,and on a corner that corresponds in business importance to Fifth avenue and Smithfield street.

The building on the lot will be remodeled at once at a cost of some $75,000 to provide quarters for a big amusement palace similar to "Dreamland" in Pittsburgh. Work on this project will be rushed so that the amusements will be ready about April 1. Mr. Davis said yesterday the entire lower floor will be used for this purpose, and that nothing but moving pictures would be installed.

Besides this location Mr. Davis has leased the properties at 1205-1207 Market street, 1223 Chestnut street, and at Main and Rittenhouse streets, Germantown. It is also planned to obtain locations in West Philadelphia, Frankford, North Front street and Manayunk, and in Broad street near Columbia avenue.

Regarding the report that a syndicate was being formed to provide and operate a large number of amusement ventures Mr. Davis said yesterday:

"It is true that I have made these deals in Philadelphia, and more are to follow. The Isman corner is central and the business done on the four corners of those streets amounts to $40,000,000 a year. No one is interested with me in that deal. The syndicate is problematical and nothing definite can be said about it yet. If it is formed Philadelphia will be only one of several cities in which we will operate the latest and most approved amusement devices."

NON-UNION MINERS WANT MITCHELL HERE

Declare Strike in the Irwin Field and Desire the Labor Leader to Address Them.

As the result of the discharge of eight union men from the mines of the Penn Gas Coal Company at Penn station last week, all the miners in the employ of the company, about 250 in number, have gone on a strike, and have issued an invitation to President John Mitchell of their national organization to address them. He has sent word, however, that he could not possibly come to this district until after the Indianapolis convention, and it was decided to take no action until he arrived.

The strike is expected to extend throughout the Irwin field and organizers of the United Mine Workers of America are now bending their energies to that end. A strike in this field would be used as an argument at the coming convention in Indianapolis to show that the non-union men would respond in case of a general strike.

As forecast in The Gazette yesterday, Francis L. Robbins of the Pittsburgh Coal Company yesterday issued a call to all the operators in this district to meet in conference in the offices of the Pittsburgh Coal Company Friday morning. The conference is expected to be a lively one, with opinion divided on the question of granting any sort of wage advance.

AWAITS WHITE FIANCEE.

PHILADELPHIA, March 7.—(Special.)—A young English woman, who says she is a song and dance actress, and is engaged to marry a colored man, is being detained by Commissioner Rogers of the Philadelphia office of the United States immigration department, until it is determined whether she is eligible to land. She and her colored fiance reached Philadelphia Tuesday on the American liner Merion from Liverpool.

The bride-to-be is Miss Ivy St. Clair and the colored man is Frank West. He is a horse dealer, he says, and until the difference over Miss St. Clair's landing in this country is settled, he is boarding at 1418 Lombard street.

IRON AND STEEL MARKET STEADY

COKE IS IN GOOD DEMAND

Conditions in the iron and steel market during the past week have been good, although there has been a somewhat marked relaxation of the abnormal buying movement that was rampant during the last quarter of the past year. Railroads have not been buying in such volume as had been expected at this time, and steel men generally attribute this to the criticism and proposed menacing legislation that has been directed against the railroads during the past few months. With the railroads representing from 40 to 50 per cent of the purchasing power in the iron and steel market, any step toward retrenchment they might take would seriously affect the iron and steel trade and subsequently the country as a whole. While conditions have not as yet led the railroad interests to such a step as to withhold orders for new equipment and repairs, their present position seems to be one of doubt, and large contracts are not being placed in such number as were built upon expectation.

It is generally reported in steel circles that inquiries have been especially heavy during the past week, and it is believed they will lead to a continuation of a good buying movement. Demand remains just as active as ever on some specialties, such as structural material and bars, while demand for shafting and light rails remains such as to test productive capacity. Plates have not been in great demand.

A meeting of the shafting manufacturers will be held in this city on March 26, and the opinion prevails that prices will be sharply advanced at this meeting.

The Bessemer and pig iron market remains quiet. Buyers do not seem anxious to place contracts for third quarter delivery at this time, and are willing to wait developments with the hope that prices will recede. Furnace men, however, expect present prices to prevail throughout the entire year, and will endeavor to sustain them. Inquiry for coke has been exceptionally good during the past week, due in great measure to the threatening coal strike. With predictions of labor troubles in both the bituminous and anthracite fields, and the coal trade generally in unsettled condition, coke producers are reaping the benefits and furnace coke brought as high as $4 during the past week.

The Hardware Market.

The coming of bright weather seems to stir the hardware business in a manner indicative of an early start for spring business, judging from the way orders are coming in and from the insistent demand from the trade for shipments. For season goods in poultry netting, wire cloth, refrigerators, lawn mowers and goods of like kind the trade are insisting on immediate shipment, where they have not already secured the goods, showing that they feel the business will be on them very shortly. This is also the case with regard to bicycles and bicycle sundries that were sold early, and on which shipments are being demanded promptly. The same conditions are noticed in the paint and glass line, the demand for paints, varnishes and brushes being very heavy. Window glass is moving along in very good fashion, the demand being good. Prices in this particular line seem to be getting firmer almost every day, manufacturers insisting that prices are even yet too low and that they must be higher. This naturally will be followed by increased prices on the part of jobbers. The market in all lines is very firm, manufacturers continuously reporting that they are unable to fill orders with any degree of promptness, urging early specifications and asking that as long a time as possible be given to make shipments. Indications never were better for a very large spring business.

The Bindley Hardware Company furnished the following quotations: Columbia pocket knives, discount 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 50 dozen; Great Western files, discount 70, 10 and 10 per cent; shee iron, base, No. 26, $2 35 the 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount 70 and 10 per cent; sash weights, the ton, $24 00; window glass, first three brackets, 90 and 30 per cent; above, 90 and 20 per cent; Albion sewing machines, discount 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 40 per cent; hay forks, 60 per cent.

High Finance in Youngstown.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 7.—(Special.)—Walking into the saloon of William Lewis at East Youngstown this morning, two men drew revolvers on Mrs. Lewis and demanded all the money in the place. She screamed for help. The outcry brought Justice of the Peace Haseltine to the scene and the men fled. A hot pursuit was followed by the capture of the men, who gave their names as Richard Eagan and Charles Connor.

WEATHER IS CHIEF CAUSE OF WEAKNESS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, March 7.—A decline of almost 2 cents a bushel in the price of wheat for May delivery, occurred here today, as a result of general liquidation and selling for short account. Ideal weather conditions in the southwest for the crop were the chief causes of the weakness. At the close the May option showed a net loss of 1¾@1⅞c. Corn was down ⅜@½c. Oats were ¼@⅜ lower. Provisions were 2½ to 5c lower.

During the first half hour, the market was comparatively steady because of buying by shorts, but offerings soon became much larger than the demand, and prices commenced to decline. The main source of weakness was the continued favorable weather conditions in the southwest, the weather bureau reporting additional rain or snow in many localities throughout the winter wheat belt. Another factor was the feeble response made by the Liverpool market to the advance of yesterday here. There was very little in the day's news that could be construed as favoring higher prices and almost the only support to the market came from shorts. During the last half of the session large quantities of long wheat were thrown upon the market and selling for short account increased in volume. As prices declined many stop loss orders were reached and additional weakness was the result. The market closed weak with prices almost at the lowest point of the day. The May option opened ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c lower, at 78⅝ to 78¾c, touched 78⅞c soon after the opening, and then steadily declined to 77c. Final quotations were at 77⅛c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 208,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 409,000 bushels, against 361,000 bushels one year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 302 cars against 403 cars last week, and 175 cars one year ago.

Considering the sharp break in wheat the corn market held remarkably steady although prices eased off somewhat late in the day. Firm cables and wet weather in the corn belt combined to create the steady feeling that existed for the greater part of the day. An advance of ½ to 1c in the price of cash corn strengthened prices for options. The market closed rather weak with prices at the lowest point of the day. May opened a shade lower to a shade higher to 43⅝c to 43¾c, sold up to 43⅞c and then declined to 43¼c where it closed. Local receipts were 109 cars, with one of contract grade.

The market in oats was for a time steady because of small local receipts but during the last hour prices declined a trifle in sympathy with other grain. The volume of trading was small and almost confined to local traders. May opened unchanged to a shade lower, at 30⅛@30¼c, sold off to 29⅞c and closed at 29⅞@30c. Local receipts were 111 cars.

Provisions were inclined to be weak at the opening because of a 5 to 10c decline in the price of live hogs, but later a steady tone developed on fair demand by local packers. At the close, May pork was off 2½c at $15 70. Lard was down 2½c at $7 82½. Ribs were 5c lower at $8 25.

ABANDON A BABE; GET TWENTY DAYS

BIGAMIST IS SENTENCED

William H. Yates of Wheeling, W. Va., and his young wife, Rebecca Yates, pleaded guilty in criminal court yesterday of abandoning their infant boy on the steps of the Rosalia Foundling asylum in Cliff street. They told the court they were unable to give it proper attention. Judge McClung gave them 20 days to jail each. The young couple came to Pittsburgh from Wheeling on January 27 with the infant, and that evening tried to have the child admitted to the asylum, which was refused. They then left it on the steps and attempted to escape. They were arrested by an officer before they had gone far, and have been in jail ever since.

Will Wolf, a white man, pleaded guilty to charges of bigamy and assault and battery in first marrying Marie Smith, a coal black negress, residing in the "Blackberry Patch," in Allegheny, and then beating her on numerous occasions. Wolf, it is alleged, married the negress while having a white wife living. The wedding took place in December, 1902, but the information was not made for three years, when he gave the negress a severe beating and she instigated the suits against him. An information charging Wolf with perjury in swearing falsely in securing the marriage license was allowed to be nolle prossed. On the other two charges Wolf was sentenced six months to the workhouse.

James Baker was acquitted on a charge of arson. He was accused of attempting to burn the residence of Dora Beitler, in Sydney street, South Side, by setting fire to a bed tick in one of the rooms.

Other cases were: David Lewis, larceny, 60 days. Henry Lewis, larceny, sent to Morganza; John Smith, larceny, 30 days; Margaret Zolbert, larceny, 30 days; Thomas Harris, larceny, 15 months; Peter Miller, larceny, 30 days.

Judge Hawkins in orphans court sets aside a sale of realty ordered by the court in the estate of the late R. G. McGonigle, and orders the administratrix of the estate to refund the purchase money to E. T. Englehard because of a mixup occasioned by an unrecorded deed.

Robert McKnight filed a demurrer to C. J. Petgen's equity suit, an action in which the plaintiff seeks an interest in the International Metal Savings Company. The defendant denies the plaintiff interested certain Pittsburgh capitalists in his processes and patents.

Ella R. Souder, former matron at the Christian Home for Working Girls, has sued that institution for $297 which she claims for services, board and laundry under a contract, she says, she made with Superintendent E. M. Sandys for six months. At the end of six weeks after she assumed the position, she says, she was discharged without cause in violation of the contract.

Rudolph Krieger asks $20,000 damages from John Wallace. Both parties live in Millvale, and the plaintiff says the defendant alienated his wife's affections and she left him.

Mary E. Mitchell and others filed an equity suit against James M. Clark for the specific performance of an agreement to purchase the property at 421 Second avenue. They say that he agreed to buy it for $31,200.

Lewis Ottenberg asks the court to annul its order refusing him a divorce from Bertha W. Ottenberg and for leave to submit newly discovered evidence. He also asks to amend his libel by charging the respondent with infidelity.

Jonas A. Barron of the East End, was granted letters of administration on the estate of John R. Baum of Pittsburgh, estimated to be worth $68,000. Attorney W. S. Thomas is the solicitor.

Executions issued: Chartiers Trust Company vs. Helen E. Cole et al., $3,183; Knoxville Land and Improvement Company vs. George W. Corns et ux., $2,080.

NO TROUBLE MEETING DEMAND FOR PIG IRON

Long Season of Mild Weather Is Favorable to Production and Consumption.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., March 7.—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say: The long continued mild weather has been very favorable for both production and consumption of pig iron. All foundries have been very busy, and current orders for foundry grades indicate that buyers are melting more than they expected. Furnaces are, however, producing more than was anticipated, and no difficulty is experienced in meeting the demand. The market for southern iron is not so strong. The furnaces are showing a disposition to lower quotations at least to the amount of the additional freight rate of 25 cents, which became effective March 1 and, in a few cases, on very desirable business, $13 75 Birmingham for No. 2 has been shaded. The United States Steel Corporation has taken all of the Bessemer which the Bessemer association had to offer for March delivery, about 7,000 tons, and is expected to come into the market again at an early date.

The demand for structural material continued very active. It is estimated that 125,000 tons of material will be required for new buildings along lower Broadway, New York. Among recent contracts awarded, there were 14,000 tons to the American Bridge Company from the Japanese government for bridges, the material to be rolled at the Ambridge plant.

The demand for rails is still strong, in spite of the heavy orders which have been placed. The Ohio works of the Carnegie Steel Company at Youngstown, will be taken off bars and put on rails.

The demand for wire and wire products has been so active that there has been some discussion as to the advisability of advancing prices, but the leading interest is opposed to such action. Western mills are rushed with orders and are having difficulty in giving satisfactory delivery.

DISTRIBUTES $1,000,000.

First Account in Lockhart Estate Gives No Idea of Millionaire's Wealth.

The first account of the estate of the late Charles Lockhart has been filed, but the records are unaccessible. The account, it was learned, gives no idea of the value of the deceased multi-millionaire's estate, but merely shows a balance for distribution sufficient to pay the specific bequests under the decedent's will. There are a number of charitable bequests in the will in addition to specific amounts given his children, as in the case of Eleanor Lockhart Flowers, who was left a trust estate of $300,000.

The amount for distribution by the first account is said to be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

Hurry and Worry

Hurry, like a cyclone, whirls you along at a rate that quickly exhausts your energy, and leaves you a nerveless, wretched, broken-down physical wreck.

Worry accomplishes the same results in another way. It drags you through the dark, gloomy tunnel of forbodings, wrecks your nerves and breaks down the constitution.

Then don't hurry; don't worry. But you will; and your nerveless, exhausted condition brings headaches, neuralgia, heart, stomach, liver and kidney troubles. The thing to do is: Strengthen the nerves with Dr. Miles' Nervine.

"Six months I was bedfast with nervous prostration. I had sinking spells, a cold, clamy feeling, couldn't stand the slightest noise. At times I would almost fly to pieces; stomach very weak. My husband insisted on my taking Dr. Miles' Nervine, and I began to improve before I had finished the first bottle, and to-day I am entirely cured."
MRS. JOSEPH SNYDER,
224 Hudson St., Tiffin, O.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

National President Writes to Councils.

Mrs. Hugo Rosenberg, the national president of the Council of Jewish Women, returned a few days ago from New York and expects soon to issue a circular letter to the 72 auxiliary sections of the councils throughout the United States. The letter will be an appeal to the sections to co-operate in plans for dealing with the immigration problem and it is the result of a conference of council presidents held in New York the middle of February, which was attended by Mrs. Rosenberg and the section presidents representing 20 seaboard cities and towns. Various phases of the immigration question were discussed by experts before the conference and more than one day was spent at Ellis Island to study every detail of the work carried on by the government from the moment the immigrant steps from the ship, passes through the medical inspection and finally reaches the detention rooms or is permitted to go on to the railroad trains which will take him to his destination, the supervision of the government ceasing when he steps on the train. Here is where the work of those outside the government interested in the welfare of the immigrant begins. Last evening Mrs. Rosenberg said "Our work will lie largely with the women and girls, all under 30 being classed as girls. We will strive to teach them English and proper housing and, of course, our attention will be directed chiefly to the Jews. In the cities a thorough investigation by experts of the conditions of the immigrants will be made, Pittsburgh being included among the cities where this work will be taken up. Then local immigration aid committees will be appointed to look after the immigrants on their arrival in the cities in the interior. Robert Watchorn, the resident commissioner of immigration, gave us great assistance in our study of the government work at Ellis Island." The immigration question is one of the most important features of work planned for the next three years by the Council of Jewish Women, which will co-operate with other national societies in distributing and assimilating this great influx of foreign people into this country.

Jewish Women Make $1,400.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Columbia Council of Jewish Women yesterday afternoon it was reported that $1,400 is the amount cleared by the series of Biblical tableaux given in January in the Nixon theater under the auspices and for the benefit of the council. This will be divided among the various civic and philanthropic interests of the council. The council, which founded the Columbian Council school when only a few months' old, organized successfully a Juvenile Court Aid society within the last year, and has in excellent running order a personal service department, is now preparing to branch out into a new line, taking up earnest consideration of the problems of immigration. In this direction it will co-opuerate with other councils throughout the country.

This morning the first rehearsal of the cantata, "The Festival of Esther," which will be sung at the meeting of the council next Thursday afternoon in the Bellefield club, will be held. The music will be under the direction of Mrs. Gustav G. Krone, the singers being Mrs. Charlotte Wagner Ziegler, Miss O'Neill, Mr. Reed and Mr. Charles Taylor. In addition to the music Mrs. W. H. Cohn will read a paper on "Freedom," taking up for discussion "Immigration," and Miss Irma Kingsbacker will talk on current events. Tea will be served by Mrs. A. H. Hast, Mrs. I. W. Frank, Mrs. Isaac Kaufmann and Miss Edna Kerngood, assisted by the members of the social committee.

Sorosis' New Officers.

Pittsburgh Sorosis yesterday held its annual election of officers in the Hotel Schenley. The following were elected: President, Mrs. Franklin W. Bearl; first vice-president, Mrs. James B. Eisaman; second vice-president, Miss Alice Dennist; recording secretary, Mrs. James German; corresponding secretary, Mrs. William H. Carothers; treasurer, Mrs. Albert Hamilton; directors, Mrs. Alfred B. Clark and Mrs. William H. Denniston. After the business meeting Robert Morrow gave a demonstration of methods of piano teaching, illustrating his talk with a program which included a Schumann "Nocturne," "Variations" by Beethoven, a Chopin "Nocturne," the "Elfin Dance" by Kroeger, Leschetizky's arrangement of the sextette from "Lucia de Lammermoor" for the left hand, and a Liszt "Rhapsodie." Mrs. E. C. Lockwood of New York sang "O Fair, O Sweet and Holy," by Otto Cantor, singing "Violets," in response to the request of her hearers.

Associational Missionary Meeting.

An all-day meeting of the women's missionary societies of the Pittsburgh Baptist association will be held today in the fountain room of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church. Miss Mary J. Burdette, secretary of the Women's Home Missionary society, left Chicago last evening and will speak this morning and afternoon. At the morning session, which will open at 10 o'clock, the annual election of officers will be conducted. Lunch will be served at noon in the banquet hall of the church by the Ladies' Aid society and the young women's auxiliary and supper at 6 o'clock, preceding an evening meeting of the young women's societies of the Pittsburgh association. At the afternoon session, commencing at 1:45, Mrs. J. D. Arnold will sing and a special musical program has been arranged by the choir of the Fourth Avenue church for the evening.

The Kindergarten Benefit.

The final arrangements for the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten benefit to be given in the Nixon theater March 14, are now being made. The boxes will be occupied by Mrs. E. M. Bigelow, Mrs. Samuel Pickering, Mrs. M. K. Salsbury, Mrs. James I. Buchanan, H. C. Frick and Howard Heinz. The association has arranged with Charles Horton of the Newsboys' Home, who will have boys in line on Monday, March 12, to exchange tickets. Those desiring this service should send 60 cents for every five tickets, or $1 for 10 tickets, with a stamped envelope, to Mr. Horton. The association wishes to announce that absolutely no seats will be reserved before Monday, March 12, and not more than 10 seats will be sold to any one person. No tickets have been issued for the second balcony, but those seats will be sold at the box office for $1 each.

Rehearsing the Minuet.

Rehearsals are progressing finely for the minuet which is to be danced by Clara Wishart, Jeannette Corbitt, Helen Sullivan, Katherine Crawford, Clara Gillespie, Alice Pearson, Frances Howley and Beulah Martin in the costumes of their great grandmothers at the Colonial tea of the John Hart Chapter, Children of the American Revolution, at Miss Thurston's preparatory school tomorrow afternoon. The colonial dress will be strongly in evidence on the occasion, as all the members of the John Hart chapter are to wear it. Mrs. William W. Wishart, regent of the chapter, will receive the guests, assisted by the associate members, most of whom are the mothers of the young folks, including Mrs. Robert T. Reineman, Mrs. Francis Henry Wade, Mrs. William H. House, Mrs. William Willson, Mrs. Walter Chess, Mrs. Dally, Mrs. Thomas Liggett, Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, and others.

Current Events Day.

Yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Women's club of the Sewickley valley was very enjoyable, the program being one of current events, given by Miss Julia M. Harding of Pittsburgh. Current event days come once each month and are in charge of Miss Harding. There was a short musical program and tea was served under the direction of the social committee, Mrs. Samuel G. Cooper, chairman. Mrs. A. C. Walker acted as hostess for the afternoon, assisted by several of the club women. The meeting next week will be in the care of the department of education, Miss Virginia McCready, chairman.

Old Pupil Will Speak.

The Rev. J. H. Gregg of the Mt. Washington United Presbyterian church, will speak at the regular meeting of the Parents and Teachers' Co-operative association of the Fifth ward, tomorrow afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Gregg was once a pupil in the Fifth ward school, that being the only ward school he ever attended, and for this reason special interest is being taken in the address. The meeting will combine business and social features. Mrs. T. P. Fleeson, the delegate from the Co-operative association to the Congress of Women's clubs in Allegheny a few weeks ago, will make her report.

Bethesda Home Moved.

The managers of the Bethesda home met in their new house, 1315 Locust street, Allegheny, yesterday. The building has been completely done over since the home was established there, moving from the old location in Center avenue, and the facilities for carrying on the work are greatly improved. In the past year an average of 18 inmates was cared for. The new home will entail additional expense, but more work will be possible. Mrs. Mary Holmes was elected matron at yesterday's meeting.

Colonna Club Meets Tomorrow.

The Colonna club has prepared an interesting program for its meeting tomorrow evening in the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy, Fifth avenue. Three people, distinguished in different directions, have been selected for study, Henry W. Longfellow, the poet; Thomas Gainsborough, the artist, and Miss Florence Nightingale, the 'Angel of the Crimea."

Begin Operations in May.

The Pittsburgh and Allegheny Sterilized Milk and Ice association is preparing to begin operating its distributing stations the first of May. The same stations which were conducted last summer will be opened this season and it is hoped that one or more additional may be started at the same time. In April appeal will be made to the public to support this philanthropic work for providing milk and ice free, or at nominal cost, when the applicants are able to pay anything for it, during the summer months and continuing through the winter in cases of sickness, as was done during the past winter.

Meeting of Cot Club.

The West Penn Hospital Cot club met yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Wallace Ford, Wellesley avenue. The club is still filling some of the orders taken at the time of its bazar last fall, and a number of meetings for sewing have been planned. The club has paid for the X-ray machine which was installed a month ago in the West Penn hospital.

Talks of Immigration.

At the monthly women's missionary meeting in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church yesterday, immigration was studied under the direction of Mrs. John Q. Everson, the leader for the day. Different phases of the subject were treated by Mrs. Milton King, Mrs. Frank C. Lane, Mrs. Harvey King and Miss Ackerman.

How to Shade a Light.

If you use a drop light from the chandelier on your reading table and have on it one of those useful but hideous porcelain shades, you will find the following an inexpensive and simple way to reconcile utility and decorative art.

Buy a square of English cretonne in a bold conventionalized design—yellow primroses are good if your room is in yellows. This color is especially good for the eyes, also. Fold the square and cut a hole in the center just big enough to fit over the top of the shade, and draw the cretonne down in four points. The result will be a softening of the light, the concealment of the green shade favored of gas companies and a most agreeable color effect.

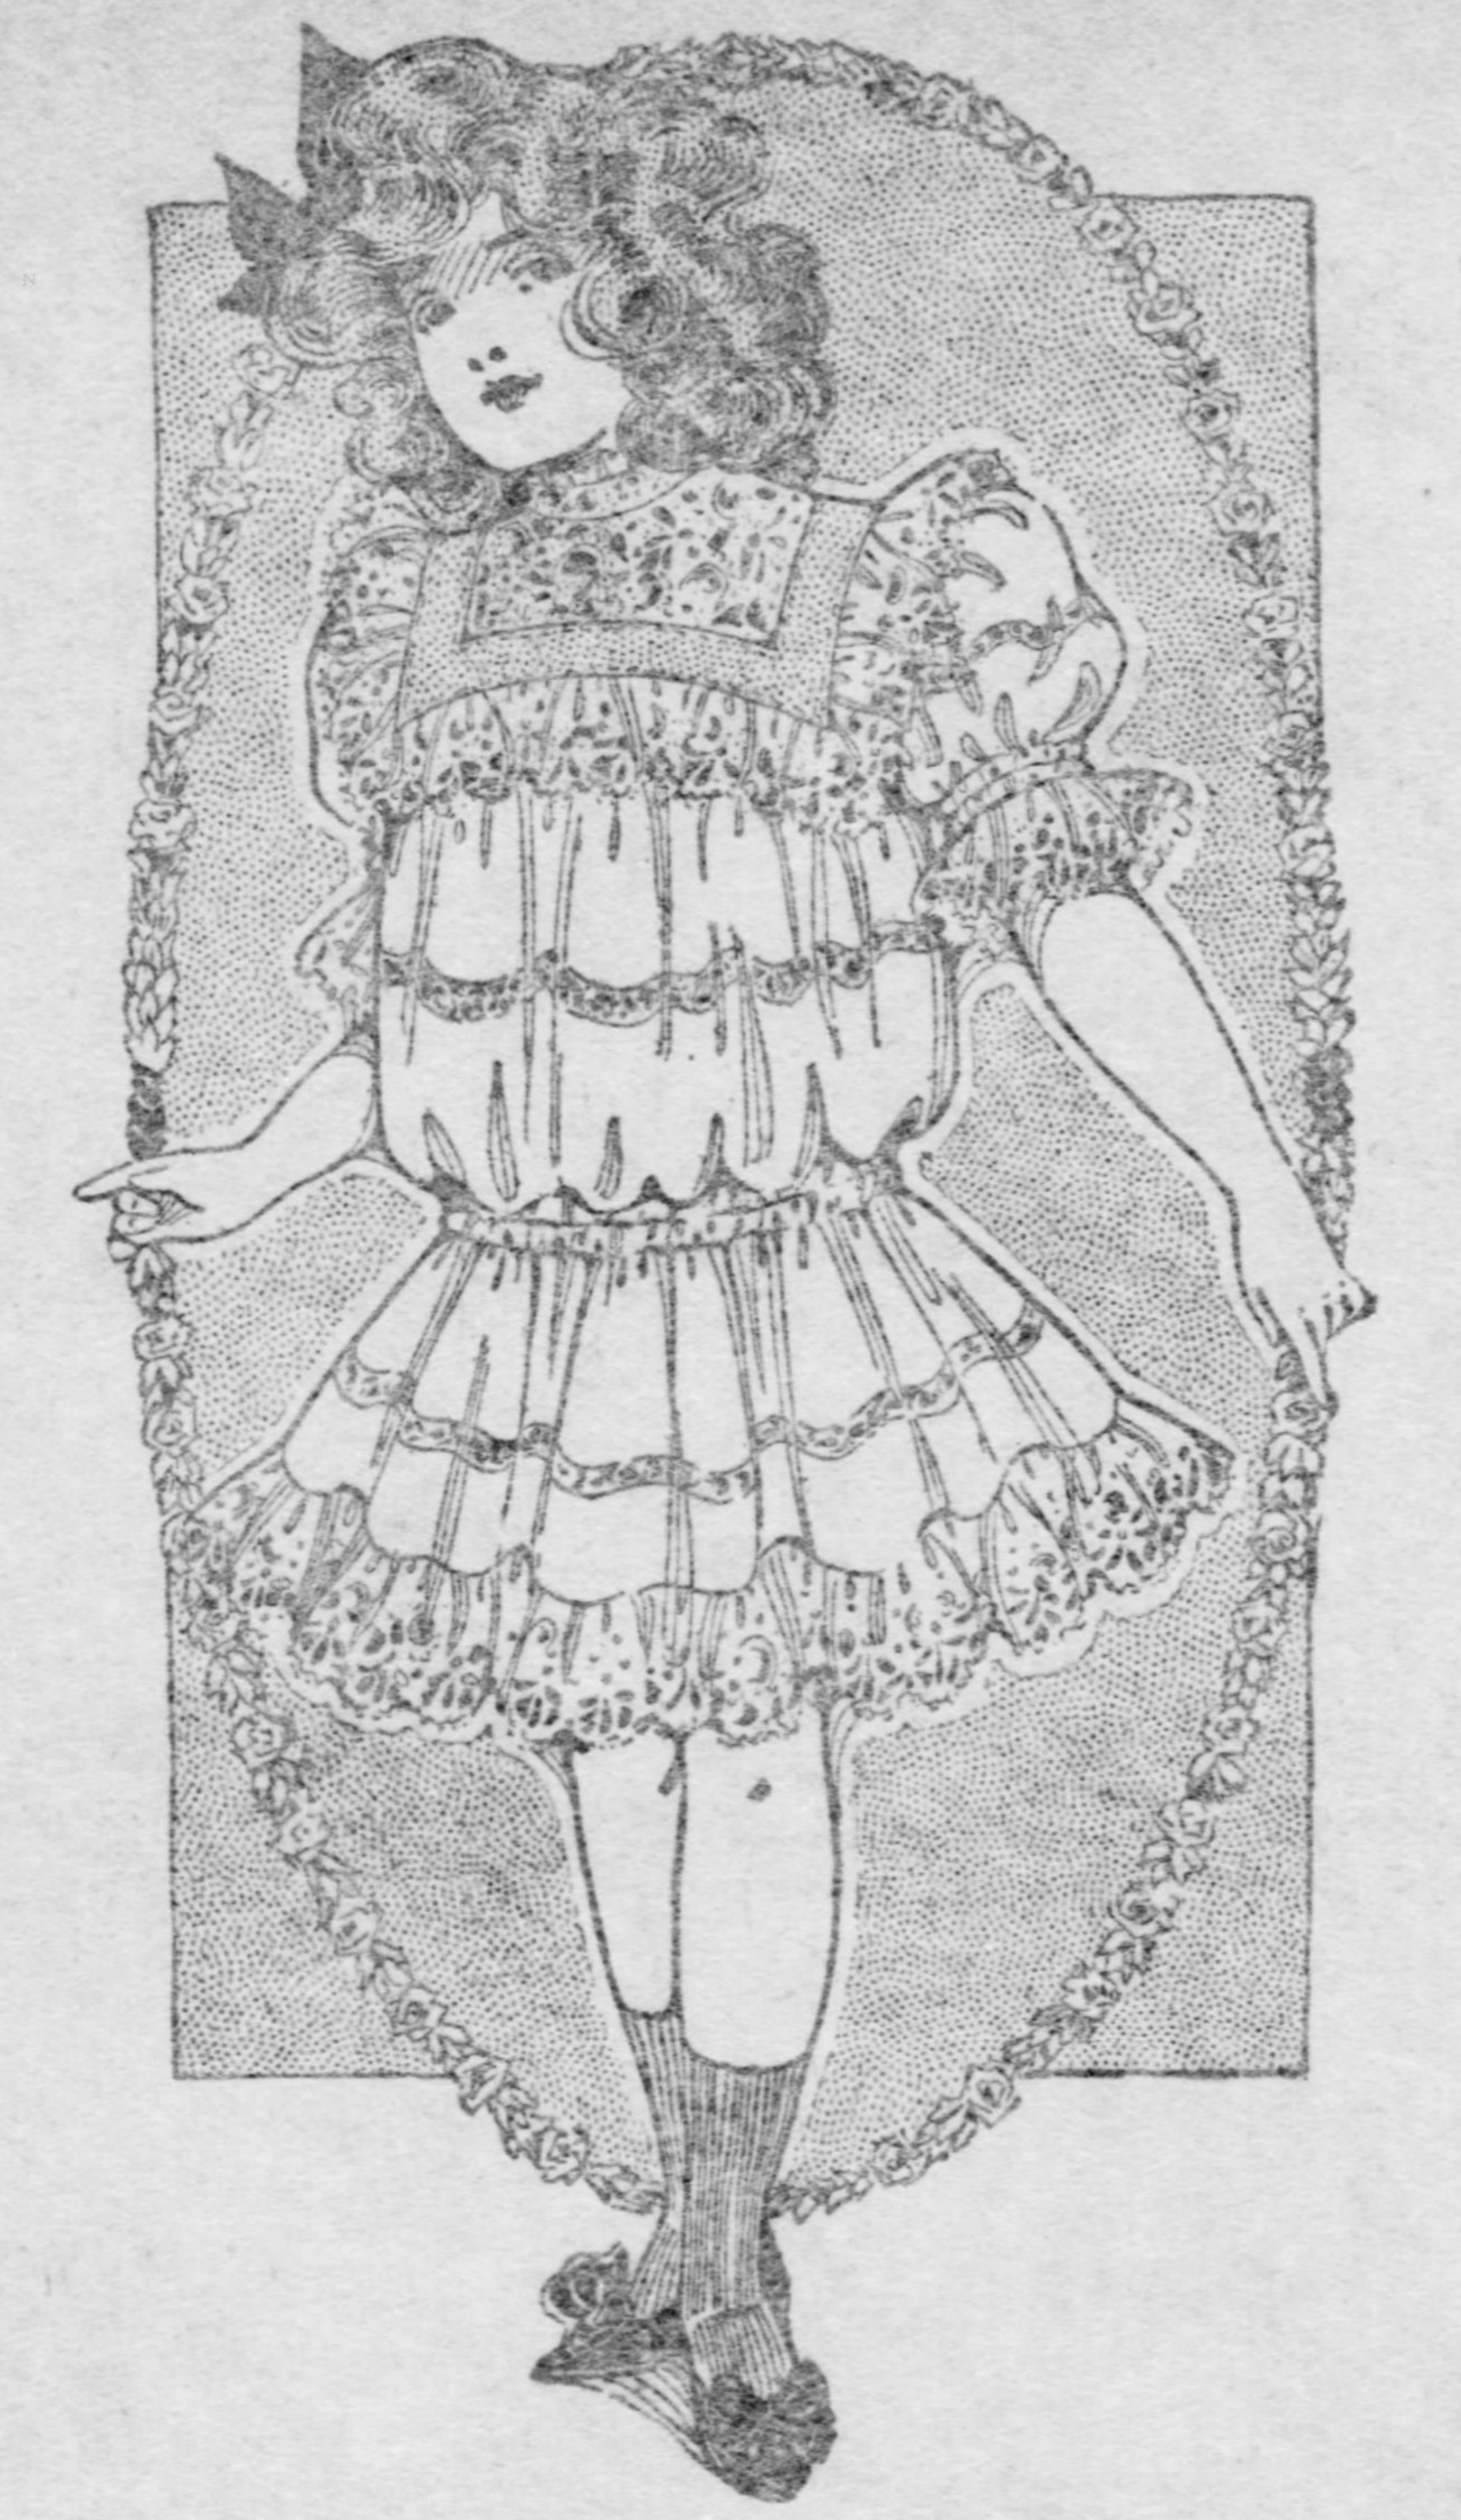
Cretonne does not ravel, so will need no sewing. The size of the square should be 18 inches and the diameter of the hole six inches. It will take about 10 minutes to make and will cost about 37 cents. An even cheaper shade may be made from yellow crepe paper, but this will have to be renewed more frequently.

Bachelor Girls of Wealth.

We hear a great deal of the self-supporting bachelor girl and her more or less successful attempts at establishing her individual lares and penates. The following women of wealth are bachelor girls and support for their own use and comfort from one to three private establishments in various parts of the country.

Miss Mary VanAlen has three private homes which are said to cost her $60,000 annually. Miss Evelyn Van Wart expends $50,000 per year to support a similar whim. On this sum she manages to maintain one house in New York and two in Europe. Miss Margaret Astor Chanler pays $30,000 a year for the support of her bachelor quarters in West Seventy-fourth street, New York. Miss Faith Moore and Miss Olive Trowbridge distribute similarly nearly an equal amount. Helen Gould has a private establishment which represents an outlay of about $50,000 per year.

THE GAZETTE FASHIONS



FROCK FOR A LITTLE GIRL.

Fashions for the feminine persuasion of the rising generation are unusually sumptuous this year. Here we get an idea of the extravagance of children's modes, the design being a frock of toile de soie, trimmed with lace and embroidery. The material is by no means new, for it is the silk linen of seasons past parading under a euphonious French name. This is true of a large number of the silk and cotton fabrics used so successfully in making dainty dresses. The skirt of this model is hardly more than a deep flounce, closely gauged about the waist line under a heading of embroidery beading. A band of val insertion is set in above the hem and the bottom is finished with an embroidered ruffle. Half-hose of striped silk and black patent leather slippers are accessories of the small girl's toilette to require much consideration, and are an item of some expense. The little blouse has a yoke of lace and embroidery bordered with a ruffle of the latter, corresponding with that used upon the skirt.

SOCIETY

Contributions to this department must bear the name and address of the writer to insure attention.

An out-of-town wedding which will be of interest to many residents of Pittsburgh and Allegheny will be that of Miss Muriel Ermatinger of St. Thomas, Ontario, Canada, and Maxwell Kennedy Moorhead of this city. Although the exact date for the wedding has not yet been decided upon, the ceremony will be performed during Easter week, and will take place in the Protestant Episcopal church in St. Thomas. Miss Ermatinger is a daughter of Judge William Ermatinger of that place, and Mr. Moorhead has been United States consul there for a year. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Moorhead of St. James street, this city, who have been in Jamaica for several weeks, will return home next Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. S. W. B. Moorhead, who have also been in Jamaica, are expected home about the same time.

Hunter-Libbey.

At the wedding dinner following the marriage of Miss Maude Hunter and James Templeton Libbey yesterday afternoon covers were laid for 10 at the bridal table. The guests at this board were the bridal couple and Mrs. Sarah Hunter, Harry Hunter, the Rev. Dr. J. D. Irons, who officiated, Mrs. Irons, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Drill and Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Libbey. The wedding took place at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sarah Hunter, in Mellon street, East End. There were no attendants and only relatives and intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom were present. Miss Hunter wore her traveling suit of blue broadcloth, with a blue hat trimmed in quills and gold braid, and her bouquet was an effective combination of English violets and lilies of the valley. The house was prettily although simply decorated. On the bridal table, above which was depended a cloud-like shower of white maline streamers and bows with pink roses attached, was a centerpiece of pink roses and white lilacs. Miss Trout of Leechburg was the only out-of-town guest. At the conclusion of their wedding trip, which they began last evening, Mr. and Mrs. Libbey will be at home in Watts Flats, N. Y.

Matron of Honor to be Hostess.

Mrs. George Hagan of Race street, Homewood, will give a card party and linen shower on Saturday, March 17. The guest of honor will be Miss Lavada Dean, whose marriage to Frederick Albert Bixler is dated for April 11. Among the guests will be Miss Dean's bridesmaids, Miss Florence Bixler, a sister of the bridegroom, Miss Virginia Urban and Miss Sarah Robb. Miss Irma Bixler, a cousin of the bridegroom, was to have been a bridesmaid, but will be unable to act in that capacity owing to a recent death in her family. Mrs. Hagan will be matron of honor. The wedding will take place at 7 o'clock in the evening in the Shady Avenue Baptist church, with the Rev. Dr. W. A. Stanton, pastor of the church, officiating, and the Rev. Mr. Hudnut of Youngstown, assisting. Mr. Bixler and his bride will be at home in Bennett street, Homewood.

Ferguson—Webster.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding of Miss Mabel Ferguson and Beveridge Webster last evening, were Mrs. Margaret McClinton and Miss Annie McClinton of Steubenville; Mr. and Mrs. William Lee Woodcock of Hollidaysburg, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Webster of New York city, and Miss Linard of Wenonah, N. J. The Rev. James C. Webster of New Concord, O., a cousin of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ferguson, in Ben Avon. Six o'clock was the hour set for the ceremony. The bride wore a dainty gown of thin white material trimmed with lace, and both she and the bridegroom were unattended. Only relatives witnessed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Webster will receive their friends after June 1 in the Bellefield dwellings, this city.

Will Visit Hot Springs.

Although Lakewood seems the most favored of late-winter resorts for Pittsburgh and Allegheny people, a number are making arrangements to spend the spring, or at least a part of it, in places less prominent just at this time. Mrs. George W. McKee and her sister, Miss Isabel Chalfant of North avenue, Allegheny, will leave during the coming week for Hot Springs, Va., to remain for some time.

Luncheon for Presidents.

Mrs. Webster R. Balsinger of the Bellefield dwellings will give an informal luncheon this afternoon in honor of Mrs. William Fleming Abel, who will leave shortly to make her home in Cleveland, and for Mrs. W. W. Darley, who has succeeded Mrs. Abel as president of the Whist club, to which both the hostess and her guests of honor belong. Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Darley entertained a bridge club at their home in Penn avenue, East End, having Mrs. Abel as their guest of honor. Eight tables were brought into play and there were pretty decorations of spring flowers.

Miss Barbour's Wedding Day.

Miss Estelle Barbour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Barbour of Detroit, and a sister of Mrs. J. Walter Rhodes of Lincoln avenue, Allegheny, has chosen Tuesday, April 24, as the date for her wedding to George Stillman of New York. The Fort Street Presbyterian church in Detroit will be the scene of the wedding, in which many local people will be interested, as Miss Barbour is well known in Pittsburgh and Allegheny smart sets.

Patronesses Are Announced.

The first appearance of the newly organized Mask and Bell club of the Western University of Pennsylvania, will be made under the patronage of a number of Pittsburgh and Allegheny matrons. The list includes Mrs. Samuel B. McCormick, Mrs. W. H. Ingram, Mrs. Samuel Hamilton, Mrs. G. H. McGeary, Mrs. E. E. VanKirk, Mrs. A. B. Stevenson, Mrs. Ada R. Preusse, Mrs. W. P. Morgan and Mrs. A. W. Schooly. The young men will give an evening of minstrelsy in Carnegie Music hall, Braddock, on Saturday of this week, under the management of A. W. Van Kirk. Dr. and Mrs. McCormick will entertain a party of friends at the performance.

Entertain at Fancy Work.

Mrs. Levi Bird Duff of Taylor avenue, Allegheny, will entertain informally at fancy work tomorrow afternoon. The guests will be only a few friends who have been meeting at each other's homes during the winter.

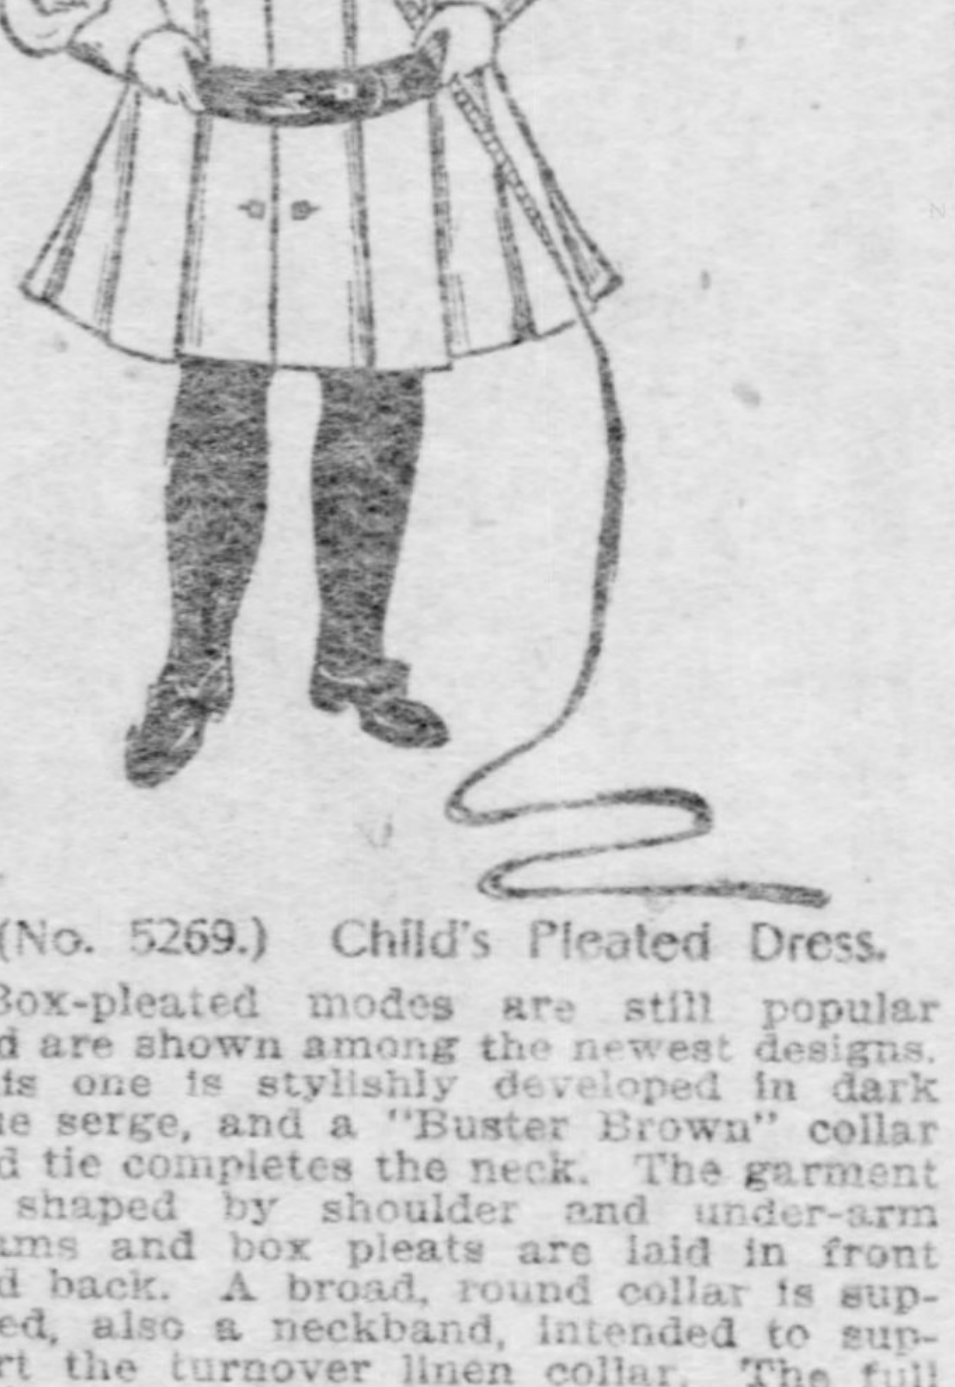
Lakewood Colony is Enlarged.

Mrs. B. F. Jones of Irwin avenue, Allegheny, her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., and Miss Madelaine Frances Laughlin, left in a private Pullman car last evening for Lakewood, N. J. They expect to spend the remainder of the month at the New Jersey resort.

Cleaning the Clock.

Any household that is inconvenienced by the erratic behavior of the family timepiece would do well to adopt the following simple method of cleaning. Take a piece of cotton batting the size of an egg, saturate it in kerosene and place it on the floor of the clock in the corner. Close the door tightly and wait four or five days. At the end of this time the clock will act like new. No more skipping of beats, no more convulsions when striking the hour. If you look inside you will find the cotton batting black with dust. The fumes of the oil have loosened the dust which has fallen and thus you have extended your clock's period of usefulness.

THE GAZETTE PATTERN.



(No. 5269.) Child's Pleated Dress.

Box-pleated modes are still popular and are shown among the newest designs. This one is stylishly developed in dark blue serge, and a "Buster Brown" collar and tie completes the neck. The garment is shaped by shoulder and under-arm seams and box pleats are laid in front and back. A broad, round collar is supplied, also a neckband, intended to support the turnover linen collar. The full bishop sleeves are finished by bands and fancifully shaped flare cuffs. A leather belt or one of the material may be worn. Cashmere, challis, linen, basket cheviot, pique and any of the mercerized wash fabrics are adaptable. The medium size will require 1½ yards of 36-inch material. Child's Pleated Dress No. 5269. Even Better Than Frumenty

Writing on the food problem and advocating a rational health diet, Dr. Josiah Oldfield, author of "The Claims of Common Life" and other well-known works, declares a sufficiency of grain food is necessary, and refers to the old English dish of frumenty as a most excellent article of food. He also speaks of malted grain as a food for increasing years. This eminent author thus strikes the very keynote of health and strength.

There is a modern food which embraces all the qualities of frumenty and has even more, for it is malted grain. We refer to Malta-Vita—all pure grain and nothing else.

Malta-Vita is made by an extended and elaborated process of the old way of making frumenty. The whole wheat grain is thoroughly cleaned, then boiled in water and cooked in steam to gelatinize the starch. After the starch cells have broken down the wheat is mixed with pure barley malt extract, which converts the gelatinized starch into maltose, or malt sugar, highly nutritious and easily digested even by the weakest stomachs. Then each grain of wheat is rolled into little wafer flakes and goes to the great ovens where, under intense heat, it is baked crisp and brown, "done to a turn," and ready for your table.

THE WINNING STROKE

If more than ordinary skill in playing brings the honors of the game to the winning player, so exceptional merit in a remedy ensures the commendation of the well informed, and as a reasonable amount of outdoor life and recreation is conducive to the health and strength, so does a perfect laxative tend to one's improvement in cases of constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc. It is all important, however, in selecting a laxative, to choose one of known quality and excellence, like the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., a laxative which sweetens and cleanses the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects, as it acts naturally and gently on the internal organs, simply assisting nature when nature needs assistance, without griping, irritating or debilitating the internal organs in any way, as it contains nothing of an objectionable or injurious nature. As the plants which are combined with the figs in the manufacture of Syrup of Figs are known to physicians to act most beneficially upon the system, the remedy has met with their general approval as a family laxative, a fact well worth considering in making purchases.

It is because of the fact that SYRUP OF FIGS is a remedy of known quality and excellence, and approved by physicians that has led to its use by so many millions of well informed people, who would not use any remedy of uncertain quality or inferior reputation. Every family should have a bottle of the genuine on hand at all times, to use when a laxative remedy is required. Please to remember that the genuine Syrup of Figs is for sale in bottles of one size only, by all reputable druggists, and that full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co., is plainly printed on the front of every package. Regular price, 50c per bottle.

It is readily digestible because the rich natural fats are partly removed and just enough left to make good rich blood and strong healthful tissues. Cocoa is as stimulating as tea or coffee but unlike these, is also a delightful and invigorating food.

Runkel's Cocoa

costs more to make than any other. It is all powdered cocoa beans. It is never mixed with starch, flour or sugar—all three of which are common adulterants that increase the maker's profit but take away from the quality and aroma of the beverage. EAST END SITE BRINGS $40,000

Armour & Co. Are Reported Buyers of P. R. R. Frontage Near Lambert Street.

PROFIT IN PENN AVENUE DEAL

Armour & Co. are reported to have bought from Charles E. Pope a site on the Pennsylvania railroad at the west end of Lambert street for about $40,000. The site has a frontage of 123 feet on the east side of the railroad and an average width of 118 feet. It is reached from Lambert street and has an alley on one side. Adjoining the lot is the big property occupied by the Howard Hartley brick works. The Pope lot, which is improved with a frame building on one corner next to the railroad, is said to have been bought for a site for a big cold storage packing house, similar to the other establishments of the Armour company in this city. These are at 314 Anderson street, Allegheny, where a new plant was opened after the firm left Church avenue, 106 Frankstown avenue and 2035 Carson street, South Side. At $40,000 the property would figure at the rate of about $2 85 a square foot.

East End Deals Announced.

Through the office of F. G. Conley & Co. the property at 5607 Penn avenue, East End, has been resold for $27,750, or $4,250 more than it brought last week. The new owner is reported to be Dr. David Silver of the East End, who secures the property from John F. Mueller and Albert B. Hill. At the last price it figures at $1,110 a front foot for a lot 25x100 feet facing on the north side of Penn avenue, a short distance east of North Negley avenue. A 10-room brick house, which rents for about $80 a month, is the only improvement. In part payment for the property Dr. Silver tendered a frame house on 23x112 feet in Enterprise street valued at $5,000.

E. A. HESS.

Mr. Hess is a prominent Allegheny realty broker who has made a specialty of handling North Side suburban property. Last year he organized the E. A. Hess Company, which has offices at 405 Federal street.

Another record-breaking offer for East End property was made yesterday, the lot being the M. Forsythe holdings at 5710-5712 Penn avenue, between St. Clair street and Euclid avenue. It is a familiar property, as the old log house on the lot is a landmark in East Liberty. The lot has a frontage of 60 feet and the offer was $100,000, or $1,667 a front foot, and was not even considered. The property adjoins the John Goettmann holdings at the southeast corner of Penn avenue and St. Clair street, which were sold a few weeks ago for $100,000 to John D. Mabold.

John M. Cooper is the buyer of the William S. Roberts property on the north side of Chislett street, near Black street, Nineteenth ward, which was sold a few days ago for $16,065. The lot is 189x150 feet.

One Less Skyscraper.

The report that Henry C. Frick has cancelled his order to the American Bridge Company for the steel to be used in the 26-story skyscraper which he purposed building at Wood and Diamond streets next year was confirmed yesterday. Mr. Frick has not only notified the American Bridge Company not to fill the order, but he has notified the tenants in the present building on the site that they can renew their leases at the same rentals which prevail now. All the present leases expire April 1 and several of the tenants had practically arranged for other quarters. The abandonment of this project may be a benefit to the business community of Pittsburgh, as it was feared by conservative interests that the number of skyscrapers to be built in 1906 and 1907 would much more than fill the demand. This fear is evidenced by the care with which the First National bank is proceeding in the matter of deciding on its building to be erected at Fifth avenue and Wood street. The officials of the bank have called into consultation the most experienced renting agents in the city, and got all the data obtainable on the gross and net revenue to be derived from a four-story building and from a skyscraper and on the prospects of a demand for offices sufficient to fill the latter building.

Building fell off considerably in February as shown by the report of the building inspector, issued yesterday. Only 88 buildings were authorized, the total cost of which was $268,385. Sixty-three alteration and repair jobs were authorized, which will cost $78,896, making a total of only $347,281, or $42,036 less than in February, 1905.

Good Residence Sales.

The East End Savings and Trust Company, by its agent, H. A. Reed, sold for Mary P. Patton to L. W. Vilsack a 12-room, modern, center-hall brick house on 56x100 feet on the east side of Roup street, Twentieth ward, for $14,500. Mr. Vilsack bought the property for a home and will occupy it after making some repairs.

The Land Trust Company, by its agent, W. B. Duncan, sold for the Highland Realty Company to William H. Thompson, superintendent of Clark's mills of the Carnegie Steel Company, 121 Portland street, between Bryant and Hampton streets, Nineteenth ward, a 10-room, reception hall brick house on 33x120 feet, for $9,700 for a home. This is one of several houses the sellers have built in this locality recently.

Webster avenue: The Aronson Realty Company reports the sale to Mrs. Ida Shapira of 1607 Webster avenue, a nine-room brick house on 21x85 feet, for $5,200.

Sales in Belmar Place.

Belmar place: Elmer E. Cruzen sold to W. H. McCreery an improved lot, 25x93 feet, on the south side of Hermitage street, Twenty-first ward, for $5,000.

Belmar place: Elijah H. Hulem sold to William T. Nilburn an improved lot, 25x93 feet, in Monticello street, Thirty-seventh ward, for $4,500.

Lemington avenue: Ira D. Smith sold to Frank J. Thomer 42x120 feet with a brick house in Lemington avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $8,750.

Topeka street: Charles L. Zollinger sold to Henry Baker 96x85 feet at Topeka and Rosedale streets, Seventeenth ward, for $4,000.

Building permits were issued in Pittsburgh yesterday to William M. McCombs for a three-story brick apartment on Carson street, Twenty-sixth ward, to cost $12,000, and George E. Evans for 19 two-story brick dwellings on Junelia street, Thirteenth ward, to cost $24,700.

DULLNESS THE FEATURE OF THE DAY'S MARKET

Buoyancy in Earlier Hours Is Succeeded by Dull and Heavy Conditions Later.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, March 8.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says:

Dullness was really the characteristic feature of yesterday's market, the total transactions contracting to the smallest figure in five months, or since October 15. Prices were irregular, opening strong, with a continuation of strength in some issues which were stimulated on the closing transactions of Tuesday. The strength of these issues communicated to others, which some of the pools and cliques helped along, and imparted an appearance of buoyancy to the market. Activity halted speedily, however, and prices receded, becoming irregular, then intensely dull and heavy. There was some improvement in spots before the close, but the market was a listless affair for the greater portion of the day. Dealings were almost entirely of a professional character, except for some slight selling, which appeared to come from tired-out holders.

News developments were mixed, but they were not of a character to exert much influence on the market one way or the other. Foreign markets were all better on hopeful reports as to the Moroccan conference, and this resulted in some rather extensive purchases for foreign account in this market, an operation which reflected in a further decline in demand sterling. The money market was slightly easier as to call money, but practically unchanged as to time rates. Railway earnings which came to hand were favorable, but the reports of declines in the textile industry, definitely enough confirmed by the action of the country's leading jobbing house in culling some prices, and by some concessions in standard brands of goods by New York agents, attracted some attention and some persons wondered if it marked merely a lull in a specific industry or a change in commercial conditions.

The emasculation of the banking inquiry attracted very little attention, yet when a rigid investigation seemed inevitable a few weeks ago, Wall street was quite concerned. Some of Reading's heaviness was due to President Roosevelt's reference to the investigation now in progress of the anthracite coal industry.

Southern Oil Company's Gusher Starts Many Drills to Working

Operators are not losing any time in starting new work in the vicinity of the Southern Oil Company's gusher on the W. A. Workman farm, located on Point Pleasant creek, Ellsworth district, Tyler county. The Southern Oil Company's big producer on the Workman farm is holding up at 20 barrels an hour, and the rig for a second test on the same farm will be completed in a few days. Cushion & Cushion have started to drill at a test on the Margaret Workman farm. The Fisher Oil Company has the rigs completed for two tests on the W. F. Clark farm. Urquhart & Co. have started to drill at a test on the Glendenning heirs' farm and Benedum & Trees have started to drill at a test on the J. M. Martin farm. These are all important tests and will have much to do with showing the area of the pool. The way the Workman farm test has been holding up and the way it responded to the shot leads to the opinion that it has considerable producing territory back of it. On flushing creek, Green district, Wetzel county, Culp & Trees have made the location for a test on the Rebecca Wright farm. On Middle Island creek, Ellsworth district, the Melrose Oil and Gas Company has the rig completed for a second test on the Joseph A. Gorrell farm.

The T. R. Cowell test on the B. F. Null farm, located on the north fork of Hughes rives, Grant district, Ritchie county, is quite a disappointment. This test is located almost a mile southeast of developments and was expected to show an extension in that direction from the producer on the Rutherford heirs' farm. This was the only location that promised an extension to the development to the northwest. The Null farm test was drilled through the salt sand, found no production and has been pulled out and abandoned. In the Bonds creek district, Ritchie county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 7 on the Morgan-Hemsworth farm through the Keener sand and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper in that formation. In the same district the same company's test on the H. Pyles farm is not good for more than five barrels a day. Hall, Gold & Zahniser are drilling a test on the W. S. McGregor farm.

In the Wolf Summit district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its second test on the Jemima Baker farm through the Gordon and has a show for a fair producer. In the Wallace district the same company has drilled No. 8 on the E. O. Hall farm 23 feet into the Gordon and has a show for a very light pumper. It is still drilling, but willl not likely get a second pay. In the Shirley district, Doddridge county, the South Penn Company has drilled its No. 14 on the Jacob Underwood farm through the Big Injun and will have a small pumper. On Ten-Mile creek, Washington district, Wetzel county, Ross & Dunn have drilled their test on the John Curray farm through the 50-foot sand and have a fair gasser. On Fish creek, Church district, in the same county, McCool & Brast's second test on the Alex Kiger farm is holding up at 50 barrels a day. On the south fork of Hughes river, Grant district, Ritchie county, the Southern Oil Company has given its test on the Adam Lemon farm a shot in the salt sand and it is flowing through the casing at the rate of 30 barrels a day.

On the Little Kanawha river, in the Yellow Creek field in Calhoun county, the Potomac Oil Company has drilled its second test on the B. B. Ferrell farm through the Berea grit and the hole has filled up 1,500 feet with fluid. The well made one nice flow. In the same district the Carter Oil Company drilled its No. 3 on the Allen Hardman tract a little too deep and got a dose of salt water. The well showed for a fair producer in the salt sand. The Eastern Oil Company has started to drill at its test on the Don Ferrell farm. The same company has made the location for a second test on the Battelle B. Ferrell farm. D. R. Cummings is down 1,000 feet at a test on the A. and I. L. Haverty farm. On Silver run, Grant district, Ritchie county, the Silver Run Oil Company has completed the rig and is ready to start at a test on the M. F. Tetrick farm.

The Woodsfield district, on the Ohio side, in Monroe county, is still furnishing some creditable producers. In this district the Central Gas Company and the Fisher Oil Company have completed their No. 11 on the Frank Schumaker farm and have a show for a 20-barrel producer in the Keener. The same companies have drilled their test on the Fred Bertman farm through the Berea grit and have a 10-barrel producer. H. S. Shaffer & Co. have drilled their No. 4 on the Joseph Burkhart farm through the Berea grit and have a very light producer. Brenneman & Young have drilled their test on the Robert McCannon farm through the Big Lime and have a duster. It is now drilling to the lower sands. In the Lewisville district Longfellow & McCandlish's No. 1 on the John Moore farm is holding up at 65 barrels a day and is the only well in the district producing 60 or more barrels a day. In the Rays Run district, Washington county, Mildren & Co. are starting No. 8 on the Levi Thomas farm.

Summer Stock Company for Belasco.

NEW YORK, March 7.—(Special.)—George Fawcett, who is now appearing in "The Squawman" at Wallack's theater, has concluded arrangements whereby he will be at the head of a stock company at the Belasco theater, Pittsburgh, this summer. Mr. Fawcett expects to begin his season in May.

NO MAN STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

The celebrated Dr. Abernethy of London was firmly of the opinion that disorders of the stomach were the most prolific source of human ailments in general. A recent medical writer says "every feeling, emotion and affection reports at the stomach (through the system of nerves) and the stomach is affected accordingly. It is the vital center of the body * * * *." He continues, "so we may be said to live by (and he might well have said through) the stomach." He goes on to show that the stomach is the vital center of the body. He says "the function of digestion in its several stages is to prepare the food in forms which are suitable to be added to the structure," meaning the structure of our bodies. He continues, "every physical action from simple breathing, thinking and circulating of the blood to the most active bodily exertion wears out portions of the structure (of our bodies) and they become dead and so require to be taken away speedily. Much of the food which we take, and especially when unwholesome or in excess, adds to the waste material, and when it has undergone chemical changes it is still more mischievous." Then he goes on to the effect that the nervous system prompts every part of the circulating system. He says "it gives its message every moment to the infinate number of glands and follicles to unload themselves of waste material so that the current of blood may carry it away."

"When these two processes of nutrition and excretion are thus carried on with equal assiduity we are in health, but when this equilibrium does not exist there comes disorder and disease. The common form of such derangement is indigestion or dyspepsia. The function of nutrition is interrupted and all the operations which depend upon it go wrong. Under these conditions it has a way of appearing in other types of disorder. Many of these often mislead physicians. Other parts of the organism are likely to be involved, and we may find consumption, kidney complaint, hepatic (liver) disorders, hysteria and even mental alienation (derangement)." He says "it may be observed that deranged persons have a woe-be-gone expression, offensive breath, irregular action of the bowels, hallucinations and other like conditions of dyspepsia."

The foregoing is no doubt a rational view of the sad havoc worked in the human system by indigestion and dyspepsia, torpid liver and kindred derangements, which are generally associated with or followed by many other diseases of diverse appearance, but all depending upon the weak and disordered stomach. Cure the stomach weakness and you cure all these diseases and derangements.

For weak stomachs and the consequent indigestion or dyspepsia, and the multitude of various diseases which result therefrom, no medicine can be better suited as a curative agent than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The Golden Seal root, Stone root, Mandrake root and Black Cherry-bark are all recommended by such eminent authorities as Dr. Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College; Prof. John King, author of the "AMERICAN DISPENSATORY"; Prof. John M. Scudder, late of Cincinnati; Dr. William Paine, author of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, Dr. Hobart A. Hare, of the University of Pa.; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Medical Dept., University of N. Y.; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., Professor of Materia Medica in the Hahnemann Medical College, Chicago, and many others, as remedies for indigestion and dyspepsia, torpid liver as well as for bronchial, throat and lung affections, as will be seen from reading a little booklet recently compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., who will send the same on request, by postal card or letter, to any address, free. This little booklet tells of what Dr. Pierce's celebrated medicines are made, and gives the properties and uses of each and every ingredient entering into their composition. Write Doctor Pierce, as above and receive it by return post.

Queen's root, or Stillingia, is an ingredient entering into the "Golden Medical Discovery" highly recommended by several of the above mentioned authorties for the cure of chronic or lingering bronchial, throat and lung affections, public speaker's sore throat attended with hoarseness, dry, rasping cough and kindred affections. Not only is Queen's root specific in its curative action in all these affections, but in "Golden Medical Discovery" it is greatly assisted by the combination with it of Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark and Bloodroot, with which it is blended in just the right proportion. Pure, triple refined glycerine also greatly enhances the effectiveness of all these agents in the cure of chronic and lingering coughs, being a valuable demulcent, also antiseptic, and a nutritive of great value, especially useful in all wasting diseases, as in incipient consumption and other scrofulous affections. "Golden Medical Discovery" is a sovereign remedy in all catarrhal affections, whether affecting the nasal passages, the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs and the reason why will be learned by reading the little booklet noted above. Send for it now.

In chronic catarrh of the nasal passages, it is important that while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" as the most effective constitutional treatment for this terribly distressing and most obstinate affection that the nasal passages should be cleansed two or three times a day by the free use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, used according to the directions which accompany the same.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, costiveness, or constipation of the bowels, loss of appetite, coated tongue, sour stomach, windy belchings, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. Persons subject to any of these troubles should never be without a vial of the "Pleasant Pellets" at hand. Put up in glass vials, tightly corked, therefore always fresh and reliable. One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are cathartic. They regulate, invigorate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, paper-bound, sent for 21 one-cent stamps, the cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound ten stamps more, 31 in all. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo. N. Y.

SMALL NET CHANGES IN NEW YORK STOCKS

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

In Wall street yesterday the stock market seemed to be allowed to take care of itself. The total sales were only 675,000 shares, about half the daily average for Monday and Tuesday, and at the close of the day net changes were small. The tendency, however, was upward, and there were as many gains as losses.

Early in the day a rumor was circulated on the New York stock exchange that Charles M. Schwab was dead. Mr. Schwab, with a small party of friends, was returning from a tour of inspection of his mining properties in Nevada and California, and had left Los Angeles on Monday night. The rumor of his death was quickly denied, but all day long there were revivals of the rumor and reports from sundry sources of his precarious condition. These rumors had an effect in Wall street, Pittsburgh and Chicago. In this city Tonopah Extension mining stock dropped a dollar a share from $11 to $10, rallied to within a fraction of the opening price, and again declined to $10 25 near the close. In Chicago May wheat declined to 77c, the low price on the crop, and Chicago reported that the weakness was due to a belief that Mr. Schwab was running a deal in the grain. The latter, however, has been so lifeless for weeks past as to suggest that no one is running a deal in it.

While there were rumors and denials all day regarding Mr. Schwab's condition, there was no authentic news during market hours concerning him. Inasmuch as he and some of the members of his party have very close business and social friends in Pittsburgh, and that no direct word was received up to the close of the market, the impression gained ground that the rumors had been exaggerated.

At the opening in New York prices were strong, in response to the higher London quotations. The rather quick reaction that followed created the impression that the London market had been manipulated for the purpose of facilitating the sale of stock in New York. It was noticeable, however, that the bearish attacks which occurred early in the session failed to bring about any liquidation, and from 11 o'clock to near the close there was a slight advancing tendency. The copper stocks were the strongest, Amalgamated closing 1 and Anaconda 8¾ per cent higher. American Smelting and National Lead closed lower. Consolidated Gas was also heavy and closed at a loss of 2¼ per cent.

The steel stocks were generally steady, but the only prominent movement was in Colorado Fuel and Iron, which rallied to 62 and closed at a net gain of 2¾ per cent. United States Steel common closed ⅛ higher and the preferred unchanged.

There was some irregularity in the railroad list. Union Pacific, which has been the leader of this department of the market, closed the same as on Tuesday, and New York Central was also unchanged. Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific and Northwestern all closed lower. Pennsylvania closed ⅛ lower, and Reading and Baltimore & Ohio each ⅝ lower. Southern Railway displayed considerable strength in the early dealings, but closed a shade lower. The changes in the remainder of the list were unimportant.

The money market was easier. Call loans did not get above 5½ per cent, and declined to and closed at 4 per cent. Foreign political news was more favorable, but there were no developments in domestic circles that had an influence upon the market.

The two prominent features of the local stock market were the selling of Tonopah Extension, already referred to as due to the rumors regarding Mr. Schwab, and the strength of Crucible Steel preferred. There was a decided falling off in the curb dealings in mining shares, but the tone of the general market was firmer at the close. Tonopah Extension on sales of a little more than 4,000 shares declined from 11 to 10, recovered to 10⅞, again sold off to 10, and closed at 10¼ bid. In the curb market Golden Anchor, another Schwab property, opened weak and lower at $1 25, advanced to $1 40, declined to $1 30 and closed at $1 35 bid. Ohio Tonopah on sales of 9,330 shares declined to 45 cents and closed at 46 cents. On small sales United Copper advanced from 63 to 64¾, but closed offered at 64⅜. Lustre Mining was firm, advancing to 30.

Crucible Steel preferred opened higher and on sales of less than 500 shares advanced from 77½ to 79½, closing at the best. The common stocks were active, and after selling at 14¼ to 14¾, closed strong at 14⅝ bid. The rise in the preferred stock was based upon expectations of an increase in the rate of dividend next week. The coal stocks were neglected, not a single transaction in Pittsburgh Coal common or preferred being recorded. The Westinghouse stocks were also dull and unchanged. Manufacturers Light and Heat was firmer, advancing to 31¾.

Unlisted Securities.

There was a decided falling off in the dealings in curb mining stocks, the outside market apparently feeling the chill of the decline in the listed mining stocks. Black Hills declined to 41c and recovered to 43c. Cable Consolidated was moderately active, and after selling at $1 16 to $1 22, closed at $1 25 bid. Golden anchor ranged between $1 25 and $1 40, closing at $1 35 bid. Following were closing quotations and sales reported by G. W. MacMullen & Co.:

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The sharp advance of 2⅝ per cent in Crucible Steel preferred, which closed at 79½, was presumably based upon expectations of a restoration of the full rate of dividend. The directors are scheduled to meet next Tuesday, but none of them will discuss the action to be taken in advance of the meeting. The company resumed dividends on the preferred last December at the rate of 1 per cent quarterly. The net earnings for January were slightly in excess of $300,000, and it is semi-officially stated that the February earnings were as large as those for January, despite the fact that there were three less working days. It is estimated that the earnings for the past quarter were between $850,000 and $900,000. To pay the full 1¾ per cent rate would require $437,000, or about one-half the earnings for the quarter. It is possible that the directors at their meeting next week will take into consideration the uncertainty regarding the coal situation. It is reported that the company has been accumulating fuel for an emergency, and that even if there were a coal strike, its business would not suffer unless the strike were prolonged. However, a coal strike would affect other lines of business, and consideration of all the factors in the situation will doubtless receive attention when it comes to declaring the Crucible dividend. Some of the stockholders are looking for a quarterly report of earnings to accompany the dividend checks, similar to that made by the United States Steel and other industrial companies. When the subject was informally broached at the last annual meeting it is said the officers of Crucible promised to give it their attention.

The action of President Roosevelt in signing the Gillespie resolution calling for an investigation by the interstate commerce commission of the railroads and their relations to the producers of oil and coal, had no effect upon the stock market. It is reported, however, that pending the outcome of state and national legislation affecting the railroads, the latter will less confidently anticipate future needs in the way of improvements and equipment. It is not apparent that any change of policy has yet taken place, and the weekly and monthly reports continue to show record-breaking earnings.

Consolidated Ice (of Pittsburgh) advanced to 8½ for the common and closed at 8¼ bid. The preferred was unchanged at 40½.

The press dispatches regarding Mr. Schwab created the impression that the party was hurrying home ahead of schedule time on account of Mr. Schwab's precarious condition. Last week Mr. J. E. Brown, secretary of the Tonopah Extension Company, received a dispatch stating that the party would arrive in Pittsburgh not later than Monday next, and indicating that the business end of the trip had already been completed. While Mr. Schwab's friends in this city were disturbed by the rumors current yesterday, they derived much satisfaction from the fact that if sick he was in competent medical hands. Two of the members of the party were Dr. M. R. Ward, brother-in-law of Mr. Schwab, and Dr. C. O. Goulding of Shady avenue, an intimate friend.

The Wall street money outlook is still regarded with dissatisfaction. Immediate conditions were not much changed yesterday. The $3,000,000 which is to be New York's share of the $10,000,000 of government funds to be deposited with the national banks is being received in installments and is an influence in the market. Payment of $700,000 by the subtreasury on telegraphic transfer from San Francisco was an offset in part for the $2,000,000 transferred thither on Tuesday. It is practically admitted, however, that further considerable remittances of Japanese funds to the home market within the present month are likely to be made which will probably be sent by the same means. The loss by the New York banks to the sub-treasury since Friday reaches $2,851,000. The interior requirements for funds continue large and the movement of currency for the next few weeks is expected to be decidedly against New York.

Reading proved a special disappointment to the advocates of higher prices. Its sudden weakening after the opening advance was of large influence on the whole market.

Cranks may be found even in classic Boston, as evidenced by the following dispatch: "Edwin Ross has brought suit against trustees of the Brazier Building Trust, Boston, to recover moneys he claims he lost in stock dealings with J. A. Condy of the Brazier building. He seeks recovery under the provision of the chapter of revised laws which allows a person to recover from owners of a building money lost in their building."

New York banks have already received about $800,000 of the $3,000,000 allotted to them of the $10,000,000 increase in United States deposits, which has been authorized by the secretary of the treasury.

Gross earnings of New York Central for February were $6,582,124, an increase of $1,186,790.

American Car and Foundry directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, payable April 2. Net earnings for the quarter ending January 31 were $1,008,119 against $727,739 for the previous quarter.

Arthur F. Luke of Darr, Luke & Moore, has been elected a member of the Philadelphia stock exchange.

The Chicago Junction Railways and Union Stockyards Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the preferred and 2 per cent on the common stocks, payable April 2.

For the purposes of the annual meeting of United States Steel stockholders the transfer books will be closed from 3 o'clock March 16 to 10 a. m. April 17.

Compared with the high level of the year, the average price of 28 railroad stocks shows a decline of 9.61 per cent and of 12 industrials a decline of 13.83 per cent.

Sales of North Butte in the Boston market yesterday were 8,170 shares.

The shipments of anthracite coal during February amounted to 4,712,099 tons, against 3,922,601 tons in February last year. This is an increase of 798,498 tons and the shipments reflect the uncertainty as to a strike in the anthracite fields.

The United Electric Company of Wilmerding, a local organization, which has been working in opposition to the Philadelphia Company, through its subsidiary concern, the Monongahela Heat, Light and Power Company of Braddock, for 20 months, at its annual meeting decided to increase its capital stock to $75,000. The original capital was $50,000. The company decided to double the capacity of the plant. The new officers of the company are Henry Harris, president; W. J. Hally, vice president; B. F. Stedeford, secretary; Phillip E. Geiss, treasurer, and in connection with the above the following compose the board of directors: The Hon. John J. Shenkel, L. C. Rockefeller and George Wasmund.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at an advance of 5 points on steady French cables. There was very little demand at first, and the market sagged off to practically the closing figures of yesterday during the early session under scattered liquidation, which seemed to be promoted by unsettled Brazilian markets and disappointment that the valorization scheme was not having more effect in bringing in fresh demand. Europe was a moderate seller here during the middle session, but the pressure was not aggressive and the market firmed up toward the close on local bull support. The final tone was firm at an advance of 5@10 points. Sales were reported of only 18,500 bags, including March at 6.85c; May, 7.00c; July, 7.20c; September, 7.35c; December, 7.60c; February, 7.50c; spot Rio quiet; mild quiet. Sugar, raw firm; fair refining, 2 15-16c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3 7-16@3 15-32c; molasses sugar, 2 11-16c; refined steady. Molasses steady.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Weakness developed in one quarter of the drygoods market today when leading tickets of bleached goods were dropped from one-half to one-eighth of a cent. Manufacturers' agents said today that prices of bleached fabrics have been relatively too high for a long time, but until the mills caught up with orders in hand the necessity for revision was ignored. The general market has been unsettled by the revision of prices coming in the middle of an unusually quiet week. Print cloths, however, are held firmly, and there is no accumulation of stocks in manufacturers hands.

NEVADA'S GOLD PROFITS

DID YOU EVER FIGURE FOR YOURSELF the tremendous profits made for those who, having the courage of their convictions, took advantage of the opportunity and purchased the shares of these companies when first offered?

The FORTUNES are made by those who get in on the GROUND FLOOR

WE BELIEVE THE OPPORTUNITY presented to you today in the offering of shares of the PITTSBURGH BULLFROG Mining Corporation, Ltd., at

$1,000 INVESTED NOW in this stock may lay the foundation for your future prosperity or even a fortune, just as surely as history is today repeating itself in Southern Nevada, from the famous Comstock days of 30 years ago when colossal fortunes came to "Bonanza Kings" Mackey, Fair, Flood, O'Brien and a multitude of others.

MILLIONS HAVE ALREADY BEEN MADE from comparatively small investments in Southern Nevada gold mining stocks by prominent Pennsylvanians, while many of lesser means are also enjoying the fruits of their judgment and decision in purchasing these stocks as the right time—when first offered.

NEVER WAS THE OPPORTUNITY SO GREAT for the small investor as NOW. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that the properties of The Pittsburgh Bullfrog Mining Corp'n, Ltd., are only one of the Montgomery Shoshone under another name, for they are located on the same ledge, and there is every reason to believe that equal development will prove them of equal value.

THE BEST POSSIBLE EVIDENCE of our Directors' faith in the worth of these shares is the fact that they and their friends subscribed for 500,000 shares (one-half the entire capital stock) before offering a share for public subscription. The price of this stock will be advanced as development work is now being done.

IT IS NOT WORTH WHILE TO BECOME IDENTIFIED WITH SUCH A COMPANY?

SUBSCRIPTIONS BY MAIL should be accompanied by check to the order of this corporation at the rate of 35 cents per share for each 100 shares desired. Minimum subscription accepted, 100 shares.

TRADING VERY LIGHT IN THE PRODUCE LINES

Rainy Weather Has Depressing Effect on General Market. Few Changes in Quotations.

The rainy weather of yesterday had a depressing effect on the general produce and provision markets, few large sales being reported during the day. Wednesday, however, is usually a dull day, as it is too soon for retailers to purchase supplies for use during the latter part of the week. Business is expected to be good today, as a large amount of green stuff is being received, and the retail dealers have not much on hands.

Celery continues active. There were several calls yesterday for California stock by the dozen, but the supply is rather limited, and dealers are not anxious to dispose of it.

Several cars of storage eggs were brought in yesterday, but there does not appear to be much demand for them except for immediate use. Dealers who are quoting this class of goods at all report the market ruling at from 13½ cents to 14 cents a dozen. Fresh eggs maintain the same price as several days ago, 17 to 18 cents, with just a fair demand.

The general grocery market continues unchanged. There has been no change in the quotations for several days. The recent rise in sugar on the New York market did not affect the local market to any extent, and the dealers feel disposed to maintain the same price as a few weeks ago. This is somewhat lower than the present New York quotation.

The market for both dersed and live poultry is about the same. There is not much of a demand, and the receipts are rather heavy.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts bulletined yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 2 cars corn, 5 cars feed, 1 car hay. Baltimore & Ohio, 1 car corn, 5 cars hay. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 cars corn, 1 car oats, 1 car hay, 1 car rye.

The continued small receipts is having a beneficial effect on the market, both for grain and hay. Prices are advancing and a much firmer feeling is noted. The arrivals now are not equal to the demand, and the surplus is being rapidly worked off.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Mary McKinley and the Anaconda mines of Cripple Creek are to be consolidated.

The Resting Springs Mining Company has just sold 25,000 shares treasury stock at 20 cents a share for development purposes, leaving 175,000 shares unissued in the treasury. The property is located in California, near the Nevada state line. At a meeting of directors in Pittsburgh on Tuesday it was reported that the railroad now building which will give the company shipping facilities will be completed by May 1.

Because of high charges of treatment exacted by the mine and smelter combine, the directors of the Findley Consolidated Mining Company, one of the big mines of the Cripple Creek camp, recommend in their annual report that the mine close until arrangements can be made to sell the ores on a fair margin of profit. The large treasury fund will permit the continuance of dividends notwithstanding the shutdown.

Recent reports from Salt Lake were that the copper properties at Bingham, Utah, of the Boston Consolidated Company, of which Mr. Newhouse is president; the Utah Copper Company properties at Bingham, the Newhouse mines in Nevada and perhaps the Guggenheim Exploration Company properties were to be included in a combination.

LEADVILLE, COL.—P. W. Breene and associates, operating the Summit Mining Company at Kokomo, are understood to have disposed of their interest to Milwaukee men, the consideration being $500,000. The new company will put in a mill this summer with a capacity of 1,000 tons daily to treat the low grade ores that are in the various claims belonging to the company. The properties are fairly well developed and in the past have produced large quantities of ore, all of the claims containing large bodies of zinc sulphde ores, which, with a mill on the ground, can, it is believed, be worked to a profit.

Work will shortly be resumed on the Pulaski group in Bridal Veil basin, four miles from Telluride. The claims are patented, owned by Chicago men and have been somewhat developed. The vein is said to be mineralized from one wall to the other and is one of the largest in the district and carries medium values in gold.

BOSTON, March 7.—The market became dull again today and prices remained practically stationary all through the session. Copper Range sold ex-dividend. It looks cheap around 79. An attempt to sell a small block of Osceola found the market bare of buying orders and the stock broke quickly from 95 to 93. We still expect more liquidation before the money situation is straightened and advise selling stocks on all rallies.

We are not trying to sell the entire issue of this stock to the people of Pennsylvania; only a small block sufficient to insure the development of properties, the ore from which should soon quadruple at least the stock quotations of this time.

Its production is gold ore of remarkable richness, not silver. The wise will be easily convinced that this camp is the one above all others to pay the biggest profits in the near future. Buy Worley at 25c

Pittsburghers have made millions in gold mining stocks, but there are more millions yet to be made—

Better ore in the earth than has ever been taken out—

Take the Worley mine of the Greenhorn Mountain Mining Co. for instance. Here is a MINE—not merely a prospect—in one of the richest gold fields of the world, that has shown better values at every stage of development than did any of the big producing mines of today—Le Roi, Tonopah Extension and others included—Worley has the ore—there isn't any doubt about that—and the man who buys Worley stock now, while the Company is engaged in the preliminary work of sinking its shaft, is going to make big profits. Every foot the shaft goes down the stock becomes more valuable—25c a share, par value $1.00, is the price today—A little time hence, when we begin to take the ore out, $10.00 a share will be too low—

From a test run the ore has already shown a value of $15 to $50 a ton—80 per cent of which is free milling—We have the records and samples of the ore for your inspection—

PROPOSES TO BUILD RAILWAY EXCHANGE

Harry Davis Has Building for Traffic Men and Organizations in Contemplation.

RAMSEY STILL FIGHTS GOULD

Harry Davis, manager of the Grand Opera house and Dreamland, has in contemplation a railway exchange building. Recently there was mention in The Gazette of such a building being urged by traffic men and the Traffic and Railway clubs and the Engineers' society. A building convenient to the headquarters of the big shipping interests, with suitable quarters for club interests, is desired.

Mr. Davis said last evening the proposition has not taken definite shape and he could not say a word as yet regarding the location or building. He has long-term leases on property in Smithfield street, between Fifth avenue and Diamond street, and on the property now occupied by R. S. Davis & Company, booksellers. He also controls other suitable sites. Pending the arrangements for a permanent home, the Engineers' society has leased a part of one of the floors of the Fulton building in Sixth street. The Traffic club meets at the Hotel Henry and the Railway club at the Monongahela house.

Discuss Local Conditions.

Transportation and traffic officers of the Pennsylvania system met in the Union station yesterday to discuss conditions in the Pittsburgh district. The officers took up the terminal situation, finding everything in excellent shape. The shortage of cars was the only troubling phase, and an effort will be made to alleviate this difficulty. Among those at the meeting were Superintendent of Freight Transportation Patterson, General Superintendent of Freight Transportation Starr, General Superintendents Creighton, Schoyer and O'Donnel, Superintendents Long, Mitchell, Dabney, Morrow, Whiter and Bonebrake and Division Freight Agents Seymour, Clevenger, Koch and Lippincott.

Ramsey Still Fighting Gould.

George J. Gould's victory for control of the Wabash last year does not seem to have satisfied Joseph Ramsey. He has taken a definite stand again in the fight, either to force Gould to buy his proposed Lorain & Ashland railroad or to prevent Gould from getting into Lorain and building to the Wheeling & Lake Erie at Wellington. Mr. Ramsey announced in New York that the Lorain & Ashland will pass through Wellington, and Pittsburgh railroad officers are of the opinion that he made this announcement for effect, it being known that the Wabash have in contemplation a line from Lorain to Wellington. The Ramsey interests have also the rights of way for the Industrial railroad from Lorain to Cleveland, and it is said that this, too, is to be unloaded, if possible.

There has been much conjecture among railroad men regarding the Ramsey road across Ohio. Some think he is simply proceeding with the proposition to unload it on some other road that may need it for a lake line or to put out of business a competing road. Others think he intends to build and operate the road as an independent factor, a free lance in the trans-Ohio coal business. The Ramsey line crosses several roads, among them being the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern at Lorain and again possibly at Elyria, the Wabash at Wellington, the Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania roads at Mansfield, Mt. Vernon and Newark, and possibly at Zanesville, the Erie at Ashland and the Baltimore & Ohio at Nova or Sullivan. Some think Ramsey is looking toward the sale of the road to the Standard Oil interests, H. H. Rogers and others who are back of the Deepwater-Tidewater road through the Virginias. The Lorain & Ashland would give a lake outlet for these roads.

Will Start Wheeling Station Soon.

"There is no big uproar in the Baltimore & Ohio's work on the new terminals and station in Wheeling," said Traveling Passenger Agent T. C. Bruka of that road, while he was in Pittsburgh yesterday, "but the work is going on just the same. The station has not been started, but this work will probably be begun April 1. Work is now in progress on the approaches to the station and other phases incidental to the new road in the city. Wheeling will have a station to be proud of, and the people realize it."

Shipman Succeeds Ehrenfeld.

F. C. Shipman, formerly assistant supervisor of the Maryland division of the Pennsylvania, has been appointed supervisor of division No. 3 on the River division of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley, with headquarters at South Oil City. He succeeds J. G. Ehrenfeld, resigned. Mr. Shipman is given one of the most important portions of the Pennsylvania system.

Shows Pittsburgh's Growth.

"Indirectly the removal of the Pennsylvania's city passenger and ticket offices to Fourth avenue shows the growth of Pittsburgh. Fifth avenue can no longer be ticket office row, as it has been sometimes dubbed," remarked a Pittsburgh business man yesterday. "The Pennsylvania has made a good selection in the office at Fourth and Smithfield, for there is a great amount of business there, and the location is as convenient for a majority of those who buy tickets at the city office as the Fifth avenue office has been."

Col. Watt, district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania, announced yesterday morning that the removal would be made to the Hartley building on April 1.

The re-organization of the Pennsylvania Company Employes' Christian association at Sedgwick street, Allegheny, and at Conway, has been completed. The Rest House association has formed at Conway as a branch of the Young Men's Christian association, with the following officers: Chairman, E. A. McCrae; vice-chairman, H. W. Robb; recording secretary, J. A. Dever; general secretary, W. L. McFrederick. The association will continue to occupy the rooms of the old organization. The Allegheny association is now known as the Pennsylvania Company railroad branch of the Central Young Men's Christian association of Pittsburgh. The branch starts with 797 members. Among the new officers are: Recording secretary, E. M. Mensch; treasurer, C. A. Jackson; general secretary, W. H. Mann. Mr. McFrederick was general secretary of the old association and Mr. Mann was secretary. The Allegheny association will probably be furnished a new building in connection with the company's improvements in Allegheny.

Railroad Notes.

The Grand Trunk will have a traveling exhibition illustrating Canada as a vacation resort. The exhibition will be in a car specially fitted up with pictures illustrating the scenes about the Canadian lake region. It will start at Mobile, Ala., within the next 10 days and will move northward, Pittsburgh being among the points for the car to stop.

The Pennsylvania has raised the round-trip fare from Pittsburgh to Gettysburg from $11.55 to $14.40, and from Pittsburgh to Luray, Va., from $12.85 to $14.90. This was done because of the travelers taking advantage of the cheap rate for round trips between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

The Pennsylvania will re-establish the agency at Conemaugh Furnace on the Pittsburgh division today, with J. R. Cline, formerly freight clerk at Bessemer, as agent. Six trains eastbound and six westbound have been scheduled to stop at the new station.

Col. Schoonmaker, vice-president of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, returned yesterday from a conference with New York Central lines officers in New York.

W. E. Gregory, chief clerk to Passenger Trainmaster Keiser of the Pennsylvania, is enjoying a week's vacation, a part of which he will spend in New York.

Passenger Traffic Manager Ford of the Pennsylvania lines west was in St. Louis yesterday attending the funeral of his brother, Silas Ford, who was an engineman on the Missouri Pacific.

The regular fortnightly Wabash staff meeting was held yesterday, all of the officers of the lines east of Toledo being in attendance. General Superintendent McMaster has resumed his duties.

Assistant General Passenger Agent Taggart of the Baltimore & Ohio was in Philadelphia.

CITY'S STREET LIGHTS WILL NOT BE SHUT OFF

Director Bigelow and Other Officials Say Company Would Not Dare to Do It.

There is no danger of Pittsburgh's light being shut off. That is what the city officials say, although Controller Larkin has notified the Allegheny County Light Company he will not pay its bills until they are reduced to the price the company agreed to sell light to the city when it obtained its franchise.

"The company would not dare to shut off its lights," said Director Bigelow yesterday. It is generally believed that Mr. Bigelow is well qualified to speak of the intentions of the Allegheny County Light Company.

"The company will not shut off the light," said Assistant Controller Morrow, "because if it did the company would injure its equity in court."

The best reason given by city officials for believing the company will not retaliate by shutting off the city light is the fact the company was worsted in a fight in court with the city of McKeesport on that identical point. When McKeesport demanded a reduction of rates by the company in compliance with its agreement with the city, the company threatened to shut off the light, and the city by an injunction prevented the company from executing its threat.

Controller Larkin said yesterday he was prepared to meet the company in court and expected proceedings to be started soon by the company. President J. D. Callery of the Allegheny County Light Company refused to make any statement.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

Aged Couple Married Half Century Gather at McKeesport With Their Children.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jordan was celebrated at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. McElravey, in Hazel street, McKeesport, yesterday. A large number of guests from nearby towns were present. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan now live in Bunola, Pa., but for a long time lived at McKeesport.

At the ceremony the five children and 17 grandchildren of the aged couple were present. Mr. Jordan is 77 years old and Mrs. Jordan is 71.

Johnson Denied His Wife.

NEW CASTLE, PA., March 7.—(Special.)—Charles J. Johnston, a Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad telegraph operator, today denied his wife. A true bill was returned against him, charging him with felonious assault with intent to murder. Johnston denied he was married, but today his wife of Berwick, Md., with her little daughter, came to visit him. While here Johnston posed as a single man.

:K-A-N-S-A-S:

Will be neither bullied nor bluffed, but beat back the oil trust railroad hirelings in three hours, and has proven to the world that the strong arm of the state guarantees everlasting protection to independent refinery INVESTORS. However, the railroad emissaries have shown their teeth, and the oil men have accepted the challenge and already there is a giant organization for a square deal in Kansas well under headway, and will soon sweep over the entire state until the wheat raisers, the cattlemen, the farmers, the merchants and the independent oil producers and refineries will be banded together in an impregnable conservative organization, working in harmony with concentrated action to force and maintain fair and impartial treatment for every industry and encourage every legitimate enterprise to develop the wealth of the state, regardless of the wishes of any criminal trust. Such is the spirit of Kansas and the good work will not stop in Kansas, but will spread into Missouri, Illinois, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Iowa, where Uncle Sam stockholders are numbered by the thousands, who, with their neighbors, will be a power for justice—for that is all an independent refinery or any other independent organization needs or has ever asked for—and this they have a right to expect anywhere under the American flag. The present just laws for the protection of independent refineries in Kansas are the pride of the state, and any attempted sharp tricks of the aggressor oil trust will not be tolerated, for Kansas never retreats from a righteous position once taken, and you can depend on the state strengthening the present oil laws instead of allowing them to be ignored by any law breakers.

While the effort to trample under their feet with impunity the maximum freight rate law of Kansas, which stands approved by nine-tenths of the people of the state, was putting into effect orders direct from 26 Broadway, and was expected to be a death knell to the independent refineries of Kansas, still it is not the first time that the accessories to a plot to pillage property were stayed by the fear of retribution before they were able to carry out the devilish purposes of their conspiracy. On the other hand, it has started a movement that will make the Uncle Sam Company a common cause with nine-tenths of the interests of Kansas, and means that the wheat raisers, cattlemen, farmers and merchants will be customers for Uncle Sam oil, and will be backers of Uncle Sam rights and NUMBERS THE DAYS WHEN OIL TRUST AGENTS WILL MOVE THEIR DISTRIBUTING WAGONS from Kansas because there will be no one disloyal enough to home industries to buy their trust-made oils. In other words, the Uncle Sam Company will not let up on its fight before the interstate commerce commission, soon to convene at Kansas City, will not retreat a sixteen-hundredth part of an inch or make a single concession under a bluff to the oil trust railroads, but will fight shoulder to shoulder with the other interests of Kansas that are justly entitled to equitable freight rate, and will stand for and work for a conservative maximum freight rate on wheat, corn, coal, cattle and hogs and all other commodities, either produced or hauled over common carriers in Kansas.

These conditions mean that thousands of more Kansans will buy Uncle Sam stock, and that this formidable foe of the oil trust will grow stronger and stronger, until it will not only have nine-tenths of the oil trade of Kansas, but will be a power in the Missouri valley states. ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-TWO more distributing stations will be completed in that many different trade centers in the Missouri valley states during the next six months. Uncle Sam Refinery No. 2—on the banks of the Missouri at Atchison—will be completed in NINETY DAYS' TIME or less. Uncle Sam men are now at work on foundations for Uncle Sam Refinery No. 3, at Tulsa, Indian Territory, and the first carload of material is now being shipped from the east. Capacity of Uncle Sam Refinery No. 1, at Cherryvale, has been almost doubled, and sales of refined oil will hence be greatly increased. Work on the main trunk pipe line to the Missouri river continues, while men are this very day laying pipe for the commencement of pipe line from the big Bartlesville oil wells of Uncle Sam Company to Cherryvale, and stock that you can buy now at the old price of TWENTY CENTS per share may be all sold or taken off the market or advanced to 30 cents or 40 cents per share before you see another announcement. This is a common man's company, fighting for a principle as well as financial gain, and you are solicited to join our band now, over FIFTY-FIVE HUNDRED STRONG (representing every state and territory in the Union and also Canada and Mexico), at a price that you know is right and at the same time do your part to assist this independent enterprise to become the greatest success of the age, which it is apparently destined to be.

Dividends Commence June 20, 1906

THEY STARTED SOMETHING THAT THE LOVERS OF A SQUARE DEAL IN KANSAS WILL FINISH.

Last week when a well known oil trust attorney appeared at the capital of Kansas evidently much worried over the way the independent refineries of Kansas are scooping the trade away from the trust, orders were given to help the trust out and, of course, the attack was made to make the independent refineries pay a big freight rate so the oil trust could suck their life blood away in secret rebates. The orders were given all right, but it did not take over three hours until Kansas was awakened from border to border. At midnight Uncle Sam men commenced work and preparations were speedily arranged to petition the entire state in three days. Telegraphs and telephones were soon in action and the way the line-up for battle was prepared soon brought results. The railroads found out they had stirred up a hornet's nest with the chances good for the hottest fight ever waged in Kansas, and in less time than it took to give out the bluff interviews at Topeka, which were hurled all over the land by the Associated Press and other press services, how the independent refineries were to be killed off right away, the railroads commenced to back up and anyone familiar with the press dispatches of the last three days has noticed what graceful crow eaters some of these people are. Like an April shower, it's all over, but it was a bad looking cloud at first, and something the independent men in the state will commence preparing for from now on with renewed determination. Organizations will be formed in every township in Kansas. The plans of the Uncle Sam Company will be carried out just as they were advertised a year ago. This company wants more voters in Kansas, wants enough men in the state so that it can destroy any move to confiscate its property and do it quick. If you are a wheat raiser, a cattle man, a farmer or merchant, your cause is our cause, and you should get in line for this company and against the giant of criminal trust, even though you only take 100 shares at $20.00. Join our band and speak a good word for the company to your neighbor or friend and buy Uncle Sam oil if there is a distributing station in your county, and if there is not one, it will be but a matter of a few months until there will be. A maximum freight rate law should be passed covering all commodities—if we all pull together it can be done with ease—organization is all that is needed—men who will act quick and results can be accomplished in less than three hours—the time it took by the watch last week to force the railroads to be good again. The Uncle Sam Company right now has over TWO THOUSAND stockholders in Kansas—they are as loyal a crowd as ever followed any flag and if you wish to help increase this army to three thousand in Kansas now is the time for you to act, for the company can only accept a certain number more of shareholders until the stock will all be placed, and it is now selling more rapidly than ever. Hundreds have paid what you are asked to pay in this announcement. If you have $200 to $1,000 to invest, you cannot find a better investment in the Central West, as this stock is certain to go to at least 50 cents per share. There is only one way to meet the DIRTY MILLIONS of the oil trust, and that is with men. With three thousand stockholders in Kansas thoroughly organized and working in conjunction with other independent organizations, an election can be turned in Kansas in a very few hours' notice provided traitors are found within our ranks. Better get in the fight to a finish for a square deal in Kansas for all time to come and at the same time make some revenue besides by keeping some of the immense dividends extorted by the oil trust by keeping the profits at home. The oil trust paid over TWENTY-FIVE MILLION DOLLARS in dividends last year. Uncle Sam Company can certainly do one-twenty-fifth as well in two years.

MAIN TRUNK RIVER PIPE LINE NEARLY ONE-HALF COMPLETED.

As everyone knows the plans of the Uncle Sam Company from the start have been to be independent. Running straight north from refinery No. 1 at Cherryvale is SIXTY-FOUR miles of main trunk pipe line already laid and screwed together and several miles of it ditched. The first two big pipe line pumps and boilers are at Cherryvale, delivered and paid for. The first pumping station of two acres is paid for and the second one leased. FIVE MILES MORE OF THIS main trunk pipe line is unloaded just east of Topeka ready to cross the Kansas river. Right of way is secured to the Kansas river and nine-tenths of the balance is also secured. Over this pipe line Uncle Sam Company can pump oil to the Missouri river from Cherryvale for SIX CENTS (6c) per barrel. This would be a saving of over FIFTY CENTS (50c) per barrel above railroad rates if the railroads should any time be allowed to confiscate oil properties by the state again in Kansas. Thus the Uncle Sam Company offers not only every chance to investors to hold their own on railroad rates in Kansas, but on the other hand are building on absolutely solid grounds. The saving in freight rates alone would pay nearly TEN CENTS (10c) per share yearly on the stock you now can buy for TWENTY CENTS per share. Of course you must realize that there are great profits in the refining of oil. That is the reason the oil trust is willing to resort to almost any kind of dishonorable means to keep down competition. However, Uncle Sam is winning the day and is a destined winner and you would just as well help us win the fight and at the same time make big money on all you invest with the company. One thousand dollars will buy 5,000 shares, with a par value of $5,000, if you send check or draft at once.

ONE GREAT REFINERY IN SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.

Uncle Sam Refinery No. 1 has been in successful operation for several months, and the company has just doubled its capacity, hence will be able to greatly increase the sales of refined oils. Easy matter to build up after the work is once launched in a successful manner.

UNCLE SAM OWNS HIS OWN TANK CARS.

As shown by a picture elsewhere, this company ships nine-tenths of its oil in tank cars which belong to the company. The cost of handling the oil is thereby reduced to the lowest possible figure. You can depend on economical management and dividends when you enroll as a stockholder in this company and secure some of its valuable stock. Better take one thousand shares today at $200.00, for in one year the chances are it will be worth at least $1,000.00, or five times the present selling price.

OWN OUR OWN STORAGE TANKS ON LEASED OR OWNED GROUNDS IN THE FOLLOWING BIG TOWNS AND CITIES OF THE MISSOURI VALLEY.

KANSAS CITY.
ST. JOSEPH.
ATCHISON.
TOPEKA.
CONCORDIA.
SALINA.
WINFIELD.
WICHITA.
PITTSBURG.
HUTCHISON.
ANTHONY.
LEAVENWORTH.
CHERRYVALE.

OWN OUR OWN TANK WAGONS.

There is not a missing link in the Uncle Sam line-up. Our territory is surrounded by hundreds of stockholders and public sentiment is with the company almost to a man. The company owns its own tank wagons. While you are reading this announcement Uncle Sam men will be selling oil to someone. Every day there is a steady inflow of cash for oil sold. More stations will soon be completed and hence greater revenue for the company. In several of the above named trade centers the company has two tank wagons delivering oil every day.

OWN OR CONTROL OUR OWN CRUDE OIL.

Working along lines certain of grand success the company has put up every breastwork possible for protion, and hence Uncle Sam owns or controls his own production. Lateral pipe lines are completed attaching three-fourths of the Cherryvale field with refinery No. 1.

OWN OR CONTROL OIL RIGHTS IN THIRTY (30,000) THOUSAND ACRES.

Some of this property represents the cream of the oil fields in Kansas and Indian Territory. Near Bartlesville Uncle Sam has drilled in two oilers that started off at over ONE THOUSAND barrels the first twenty-four hours. This oil is very high grade—will make large per cent gasoline.

COMPANY HAS THOUSANDS OF BARRELS OF OIL IN STORAGE.

OWN FOUR DRILLING RIGS—DO OUR DRILLING AT COST.

Uncle Sam has room on the different oil tracts to drill several thousand oil wells. Company owns four drilling rigs and does the drilling at cost. Don't you see the company is following a course that is hedging several lines deep for success?

CAN SOON BUILD UP OUR PRODUCTION TO ONE THOUSAND BARRELS PER DAY.

With our four drills we can soon build up our production to ONE THOUSAND BARRELS per day. Now, before you throw down this paper, sit down and figure out how long it will take the oil trust to freeze out this Uncle Sam Company in the home of its friends, with its own pipe line to pump the oil to navigation, its own tank cars, own tank wagons and its distributing territory surrounded by thousands of its stockholders demanding that merchants handling Uncle Sam oil and soliciting their neighbor to burn no other. While on the other hand there are thousands of taxpayers who are so disgusted with the actions of the criminal trust and their railroad allies that they will shun trust oil as though it were poison.

EVEN AT ONLY ONE THOUSAND BARRELS PER DAY WITH OIL AT 4 CENTS PER GALLON WOULD MEAN AN INCROME FOR UNCLE SAM OF OVER SIX HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS PER YEAR.

However, the company is now securing an average of double this for the oil, or, in fact, right at nine cents per gallon, and the company will in a very short time build up to where it will handle at least TWO THOUSAND barrels of oil per day. Now, these are facts no investor can get around. Uncle Sam Company offers you a square deal—a practicable proposition—a money-maker from the word go and a lineup that the dirty millions of the oil trust cannot break down. Wise investors are buying the stock and it is now or never with you if you ever secure any of the stock, as the present excitement and determination of this giant company for a square deal is going to line up hundreds of men quick for Uncle Sam stock.

TELEGRAPHS WILL BE TICKING ORDERS FOR UNCLE SAM STOCK.

Uncle Sam Company is making good and will continue to make good, and has done more than it promised. There are thousands of deals now pending all over the United States—hundreds of them in Canada. Lots of deals are closed by telegraph. There are hundreds of men who will be wiring the home office for reservations on Uncle Sam stock by the time this advertisement is out a half day. However, everyone who mails check or draft promptly on reading this announcement will receive his stock on the basis of the price asked herein, if the stock is not all sold when remittance arrives.

EIGHTY PER CENT OF THE STOCK IS SOLD. BALANCE SOLD AT THE PRESENT PRICE WILL COMPLETE THE GREAT WORK.

Remittances on Uncle Sam stock for the past twelve days have averaged over $1,700.00 per day cash, while including the stock sold on installments, which will be paid for promptly, runs the sales some days to twice that amount. The stock is in demand, it is selling because business men know it will go to at least 50 cents per share, and possibly par, during the next year.

WITH OUR PIPE LINE COMPLETED AND WITH LIGHT BARGES ON THE MISSOURI COMPANY CAN DELIVER OIL AT ST. LOUIS FOR ABOUT 15 CENTS PER BARREL.

The railroads ask anywhere from 60 cents to $5 per barrel to haul oil over the railroad a distance of 400 miles. However, the Uncle Sam Company can deliver oil over the pipe line barges as above mentioned to St. Louis, nearly four hundred miles from the oil fields, but not much over—FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) per barrel. Figure for yourself the saving that pipe line will be and then remember that Uncle Sam has it nearly one-half completed from Cherryvale already.

REFINERY NO. 2 WILL BE COMPLETED IN 90 DAYS OR LESS.

From ten to thirty men are now crowding to completion the big Uncle Sam refinery No. 2 on the banks of the Missouri by Atchison. Material is arriving every day. It is being paid for, too. Don't wait until this big refinery is completed and then expect to buy this stock ever at double the present selling price. Progression is the password of the Uncle Sam Company. Better invest $100 for five hundred shares and let your investment grow with us.

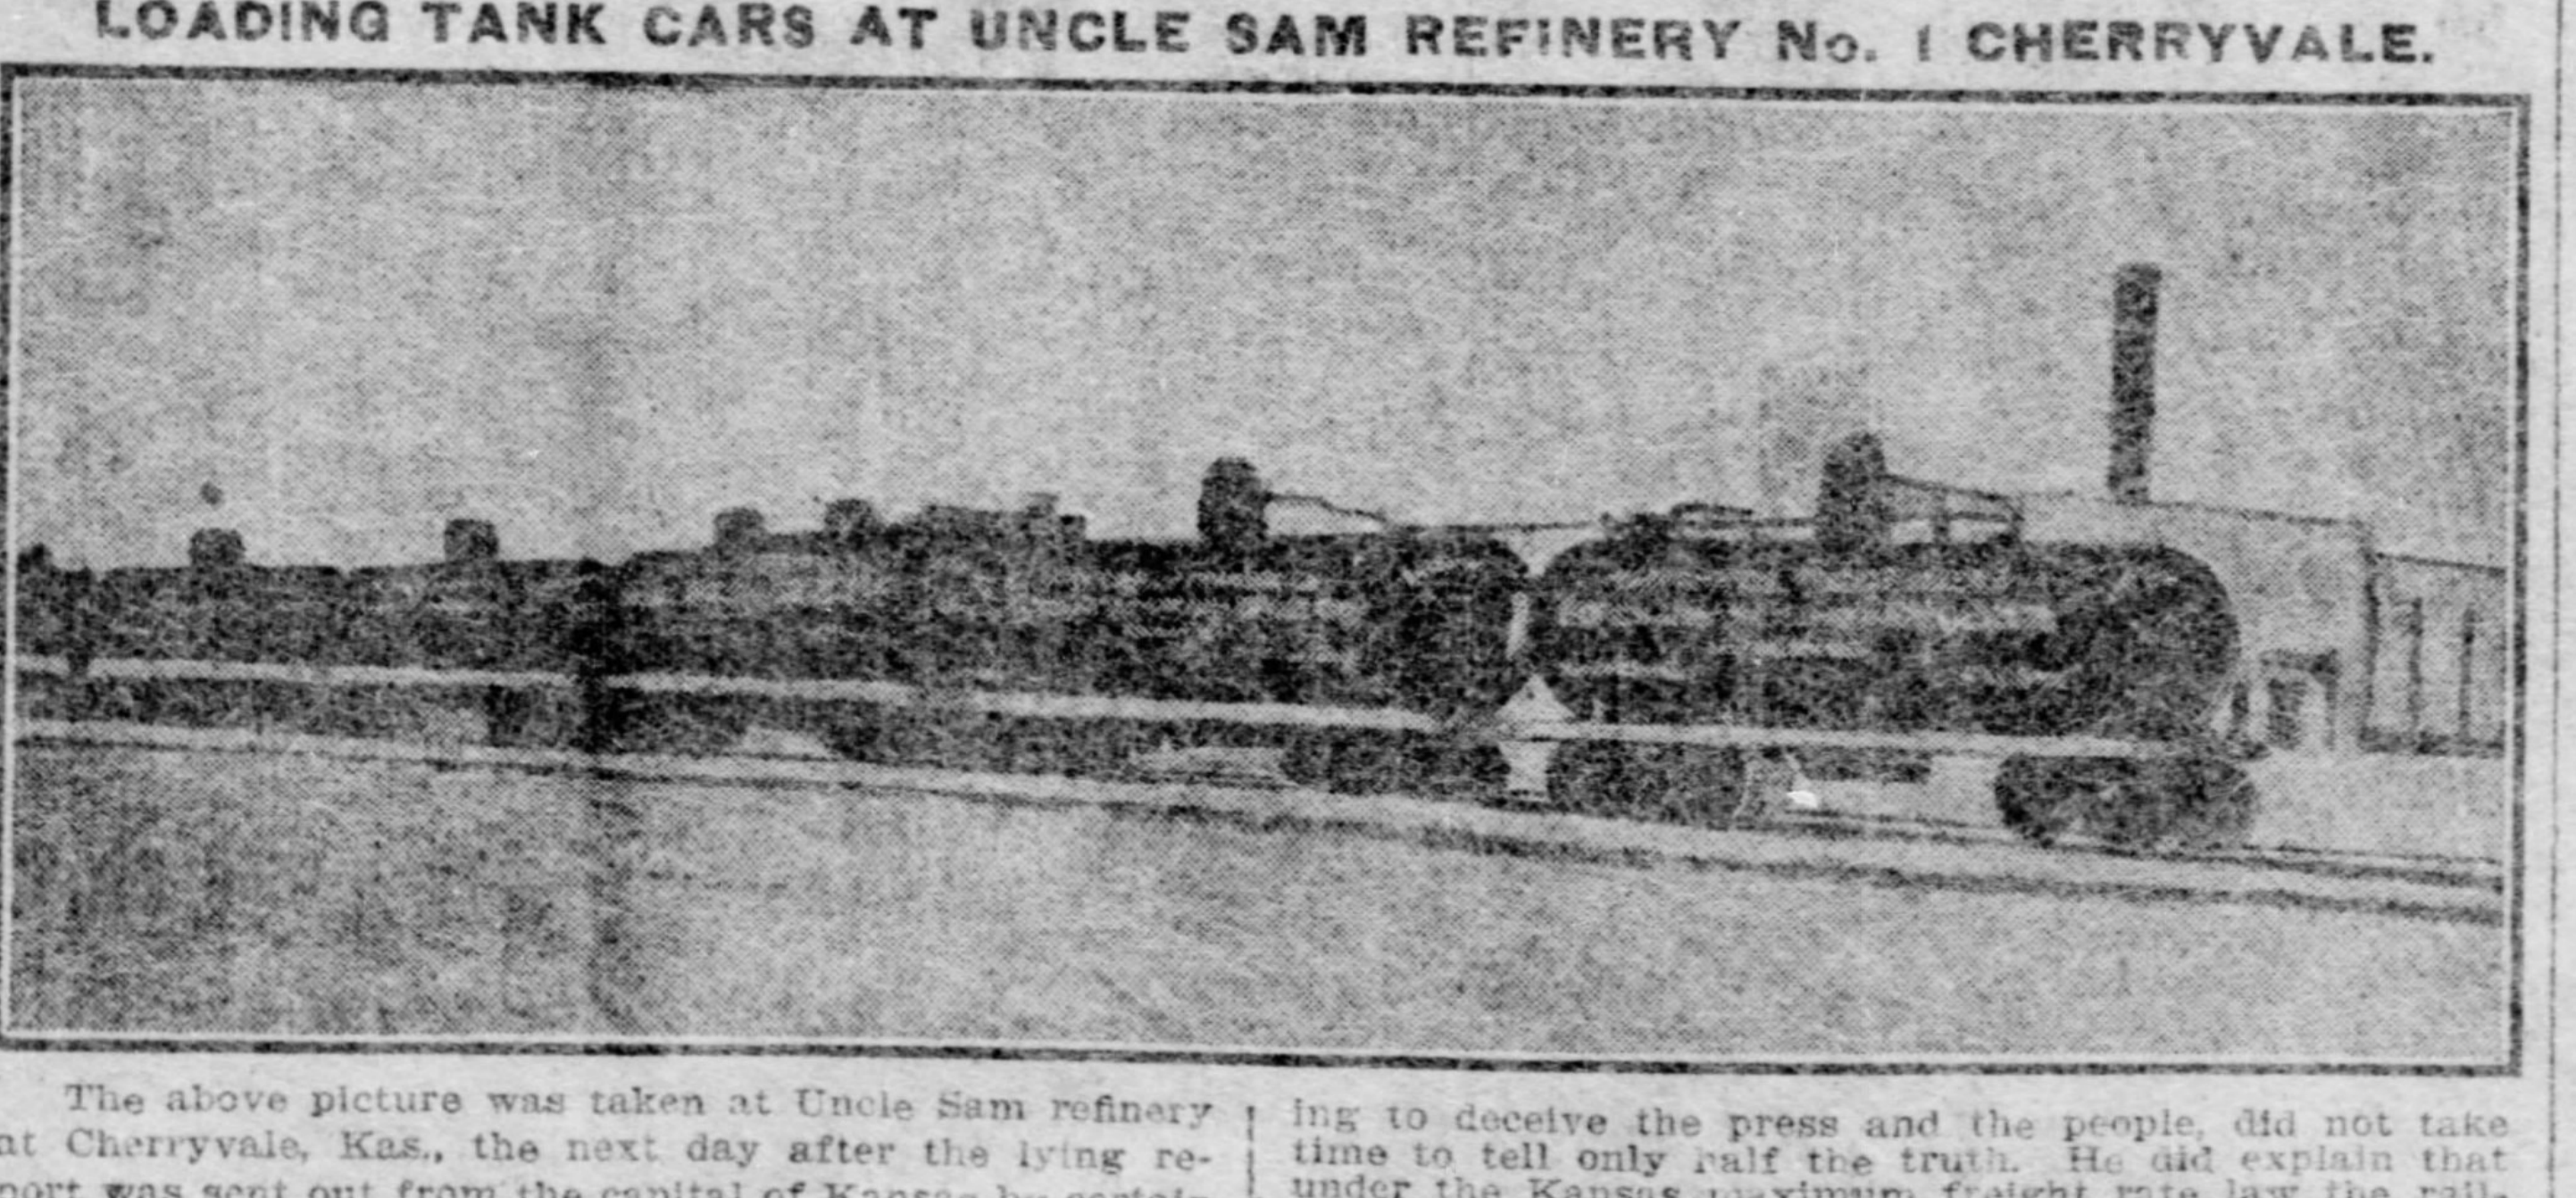
When you buy Uncle Sam stock you secure an interest in the pipe line, the oil wells, the oil rights, the big refinery already completed at Cherryvale, the river refinery No. 2, being rapidly constructed on the banks of the Missouri by Atchison and refinery No. 3—where Uncle Sam men are now at work at Tulsa, I. T., in the very heart of the Indian Territory oil fields. First carload of material has been ordered from the east for the Tulsa refinery, and will be on the grounds in from three weeks to thirty days. If statehood is defeated for Oklahoma by the oil trust and their railroad allies Uncle Sam Company will build a refined oil line down the Arkansas river to Fort Smith and run light barges down to Little Rock and on to the big cities of the lower Mississippi valley.

GIVE THIS COMPANY TIME—IT IS POSSIBLE TO BUILD UP TO A CAPACITY OF EIGHTEEN (18,000) THOUSAND BARRELS DAILY.

Uncle Sam Company has a better start in the first year of its existence than the present oil trust had in the first ten years. It is an easy matter to build up and add to and take on bigger things after the work is all under headway. When you figure on an investment in this stock, remember that it is not only probable, but possible, that this company will build up to where it will refine FIVE THOUSAND BARRELS A DAY on the banks of the Missouri at Refinery No. 2, to THREE THOUSAND BARRELS PER DAY at Cherryvale for Refinery No. 1, now in successful operation, and to TEN THOUSAND BARRELS PER DAY for Refinery No. 3, where work has now commenced at Tulsa, Indian Territory. Now $1,000.00 will buy you at present five thousand shares of this stock, which cannot go any cheaper and must at least go to 50 cents per share. Now, the above results are possible, judging the grand success achieved by the company in the past, and should they be attained it would mean that UNCLE SAM STOCK WOULD GO TO FIVE ($5.00) DOLLARS per share. You can take this statement for what it is worth, but this company has a great future and at any rate you are certain of a safe investment, and you stand an even break for fortune making stock. On the other hand, if you can spare $5,600.00 without crowding you for ready cash, you can now secure THIRTY THOUSAND shares for that amount. Should this stock even go to $2.00 per share, it would mean ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS to you now for an investment of $5,600.00. Now is certainly the time to get the stock and if you buy the same and lock it in your bank box and hold it a couple of years you will not only secure dividends commencing June 20, but we think an increase in the value of your investment that will surprise the most enthusiastic backer of Uncle Sam.

LOADING TANK CARS AT UNCLE SAM REFINERY No. 1 CHERRYVALE.



The above picture was taken at Uncle Sam refinery at Cherryvale, Kas., the next day after the lying report was sent out from the capital of Kansas by certain oil trust hirelings that all the oil shipped in Kansas by independent refineries was shipped in barrels and tin cans and pound packages. One railroad traffic man made a big spiel about the unjust part of the Kansas maximum freight rate law at the same time. Now we will give this wise guy expert one hundred dollars in gold for every pound can his road or any railroad in Kansas ever carried for the Uncle Sam refinery and the Uncle Sam Company ships two times as much oil as all the other independent refineries in Kansas. We produce this picture to show how easy it is for some people to get falsehoods into the press reports of the land, especially when it plugs a competitor of the oil trust. The Uncle Sam Company ships three-fourths of its refined oil in tank cars and but very little in barrel shipments, and none in tin cans or pound packages. It is not practicable to do any barrel shipping to speak of and Uncle Sam will not do any in six months, for by that time we will have stations so distributed in Kansas as to be able to reach the entire state from our distributing stations by wagons after tank carrying the oil to the stations. The above referred to traffic agent, when he was trying to deceive the press and the people, did not take time to tell only half the truth. He did explain that under the Kansas maximum freight rate law the railroads secure about forty ($40.00) a car hauling oil from Cherryvale to Kansas City, Kas., and same rate to other distances, and that this is from 10 to 30 per cent more than rates charged by the roads themselves on several other kinds of material. Railroad men who acknowledge the truth know there is money in hauling oil in tank car lots under the Kansas maximum freight rate law, and this company is perfectly willing the railroads should make money—in fact all any of the refinery companies want is a square deal; as a rule can pay a little more than the usual freight and make good money, but in the event of a fight with the trust, which is sure to come, they will need just as good terms as the trust, which they will never get only through a maximum freight governed by the state. If you have money to invest better get on the right side of the oil struggle in Kansas and help secure justice in these oil fields and at the same time make good money on your investment. Every day the Uncle Sam Company is shipping oil. Just a matter of a few weeks until the big river refinery will be shipping oil just like this refinery number one at Cherryvale for Uncle Sam. You can buy stock today for 20 cents per share, but common horse sense will tell you that you will not buy it under a half dollar per share by the time Uncle Sam refinery No. 2 is completed.

POWER OF THE OIL TRUST HAS REACHED ITS ZENITH AND LEAVES AN OPENING FOR UNCLE SAM.

Say what you please, the signs of the times give additional evidence every day that the robber oil trust is going to pieces. It has built on false methods of business; it is enlisted under a black flag, and sooner or later must meet its Waterloo, for right will win in the end—it always has and always will. The Uncle Sam Company is backing the principles of a square deal, and as the pioneer in the field can soon supply the markets.

DIVIDENDS WILL COMMENCE JUNE 20.

There is no bluff about the payment of dividends on this stock commencing with June 20, 1906. They will be paid and furthermore, they will continue, no matter what some wise guys may say to the contrary. The Uncle Sam company has builded on a solid foundation from the start. The money paid in on stock has been placed where it has increased in value several fold and will continue to increase. If you have money to invest you simply while away a good opportunity to place it with a safe enterprise if you allow this opportunity to go by. The company is not in the gold brick class, neither is it a gold mine deal, but on the contrary, is already a STRONG MANUFACTURING ENTERPRISE. It has the backing and support of conservative and influential men in both state and nation. The more stock you secure the larger will be your dividend check. If you are already a stockholder now is the time to increase, for if you don't you may never have the opportunity again. This announcement will be placed in the leading newspapers of the land. It will be read by millions of investors. The company is in telegraph communication with nearly one thousand investers and will reach over ELEVEN THOUSAND more by special letter report. The stock will be sold and if you wish to be the owner of some of it now is your time for action.

FROM THE ARKANSAS RIVER TO THE MISSOURI RIVER WILL BE THE LINE-UP.

There is not a locality in the Missouri valley where Uncle Sam Company cannot take the oil trade of the trust away from them with the large number of stockholders Uncle sam has. Don't you think this good will for the company is worth an untold value and is an asset back of this stock hard to estimate a value on? We don't have to beg people to buy Uncle Sam, but they just come anyway and then want to know if they can help us out and willingly intercede with a neighbor.

UNCLE SAM SIMPLY GOING TO HAVE THE OIL TRADE OF KANSAS.

Everybody knows the stand Kansas has taken for a square deal for the oil fields. Go where you please in the United States, and the average man has words of praise for the way Kansas let the oil trust know that law and order and justice still held forth in the Sunflower state. Now nine-tenths of the people of the state were willing that the state should even build a state refinery, and voted bonds to do it with. However, he average Kansan is going to be satisfied now if the Uncle Sam Company supplies the state. Now if you are a Kansan and wish to be able to make a proud report of your state, get your shoulder to the wheel and do a little talking for Uncle Sam and take some of the stock, if you only put in $20.00, $50.00 or $100.00, but help out and you will be surprised in how short a time Uncle Sam will patrol the entire state. It is not the purpose of this company, nor its management, to try and run anybody out of business, nor to assume that it can buck the dirty millions of the oil trust, but we do know that we can and will secure the oil business of Kansas with but very little more help from Kansans, and that by attending to our business the oil trust will soon have none to attend to in Kansas. Now, if you wish to help this company to accomplish this grand success, get in line and do it now, so we can rush the entire CHAIN OF THREE GREAT REFINERIES TO COMPLETION.

BETWEEN THE MISSOURI OUSTER SUITS AND THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION, OPPOSITION TO UNCLE SAM WILL HAVE THEIR HANDS FULL.

There is a wrong impression sometimes goes abroad. Some people get it into their heads that the oil trust and the railroads always have things their own way. While we are willing to admit that the part of the Uncle Sam Company is not any bed of roses, still every great success must expect to meet with some difficulties and be prepared for them. Sometimes the oil trust and the railroads assume a false front to divert the public eye. About the time that the interstate commerce commission summoned the whole bunch to come and explain the oil rate at Kansas City and about the time that Attorney General H. S. Hadley won before the supreme court of Missouri is when all this Kansas maximum freight rate bubble started. The real fellow that's in trouble in Kansas and Missouri today is the oil trust and the railroads, and they have a good hard job on hand. Don't get fooled by hot-air reports, but remember Uncle Sam Company has thousands ready to fight for it and who are guarding over Uncle Sam's success with a protecting eye and that this company is strong enough to stand many a storm and still keep off the breakers. It will grow stronger every day regardless of any reports to the contrary, and if you want to grow with it now is the time for you to get into the band wagon before the stock is doubled up in price.

DON'T BE FOOLED BY SKIN GAME BROKERS.

There has been for months past a systematized game of blackmail against the Uncle Sam Company. These blackmailers send out advertisements and sneak them into responsible newspapers by fraud, offering Uncle Sam stock at a cut rate, when the facts are that the party signing the advertisement has no Uncle Sam stock and cannot procure a single share under the market price. Besides this there are certain brokers who, knowing that Uncle Sam stock is prominent before the public, place quotations in their lists, when they do not have the stock and could not fill an order, but desire to secure inquiries of prospective purchasers, when they immediately make some false excuses and try to load you up on some wildcat stock that they are anxious to get rid of. Sometimes these advertisements are signed from Cherryvale, when in reality not a single share of Uncle Sam stock that is paid for or is legitimate can be purchased at under the market price. Don't let these blackmailers beat you out of your money, or delay until others have what you want. Mail your check or draft direct to the company and you will receive your stock promptly by return mail and have no trouble.

IN CONCLUSION.

We cannot in this space tell you of the many strong points of this great enterprise; however, in as few words as possible we have tried to explain the investment this company offers. It is doing a great work, making a big fight, but never for one minute has the management lost hope or faith that final grand success was certain. Kansans are the head of the Uncle Sam—men who believe the American flag is greater than any thieving oil combine. We are old settlers of the state—we are making the fight in good faith—the stock is offered by advertising this way because the company desires a large number of stockholders, hence greater influence. Instead of paying some bond scalper twenty to thirty per cent to bond and mortgage our properties, the company is selling the stock to the common people. There are no swelled-up guys or frenzied financiers connected with the management—we are just common people, no better, but just as good as any. If you join our band you can depend on a square deal and that the management will guard your interests. The company has friends everywhere. Many a man is working for its success who does not even own a share of the stock. Public sentiment is with us. The charter name of the company is "The Uncle Sam Oil Company." Authorized capitalization is TEN MILLION shares, par value $1.00 each. The stock is non-assessable. There is no personal liability, and each share of the stock draws the same amount of dividends as any other share. The officers of the company are James Ingersoll, President, J. H. Ritchie, Vice President, and H. H. Tucker, Jr., Secretary and Treasurer. The before named men constitute the board of directors. The management now is the same as at the beginning. The old guard is still in the traces. There are over sixty men and women working for the company in the different departments. There has been over FOUR HUNDRED AND FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS cash paid in to the company's treasury for stock and oil. There are thousands of dollars of oil on hands. There are about FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS SUBSCRIBED on stock already allotted from the treasury that will be paid in on monthly payments. Both Bradstreet and Dun give the company rating, and for further references write to T. R. Clendening, president of the Committee of Forty, address Atchison, Kansas, or to Wm. A. Stryker, editor of the Democrat, Tulsa, Oklahoma, or to any business house in Cherryvale, Kansas, or the Montgomery County National bank, Cherryvale, Kansas.
